

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 337

On the way back to the Duke's Mansion.

Byron sat in the car, excited and still recalling the meeting with Viola.

"Dad, I seem to know what love at first sight feels like. When I saw Ms. McGraw just now, I was actually moved. I think I fell in love with her. I want to chase her."

Miguel stroked his beard and said in a mature manner, "I heard from your mother some time ago that Carlos brought a girl back. He will get married soon. It should be Ms. McGraw."

"So, can she be considered my brother's fiancée?" Byron asked.

"Shut up! Carlos is just a bastard. He is not your brother, and I will never admit him."

Hearing this, Miguel clenched his fists, and his anger spread in the car.

Byron was afraid of annoying his father. He hunched his shoulder and thought for a while before saying, "Well, I think Ms. McGraw doesn't like Carlos. Just now she looked at me as if she was asking for help. She seemed to be forced."

“This has nothing to do with you. You are not allowed to mention it again.”

“But...”

“This is what Ms. McGraw stuffed into my hand when we shook hands just now.” Byron’s eyes were filled with frustration, and he took out a note from his pocket.

Miguel turned his head and glanced at the note in his hand. He directly took it into his hand and opened it to check.

“Dad, what did she say?”

Byron came over, and Miguel immediately tore the slip of paper into shreds. Miguel put on a poker face and said, “She wants to cooperate with me so that we can both benefit from the cooperation.”

“Really? In that case, why don’t you leave it to me, Dad? I’d like to have a try.”

Miguel berated seriously, “Nonsense!”

Byron instantly lowered his head and carefully glanced at his father. "Are you going to refuse Ms. McGraw's cooperation request?"

Miguel did not answer.

His turbid eyes shone brightly.

The moment Cristina saw Viola, she was extremely fond of her. She held Viola's hands and asked a lot about the United States. Cristina was very excited.

Viola answered each question politely.

Cristina was already forty-five years old, but her skin was well-maintained. There was almost no trace of age on her face. If Viola hadn't already known that Cristina had two sons, she would have thought that Cristina was barely thirty.

During their chat, Viola felt that Cristina was very curious about everything in the United States. She might still love Jerry's father, and she also loved Jerry so much.

Viola looked down in a daze. Cristina gently patted her hand, and Viola immediately came back to her senses.

"Jerry really has good taste this time. I like you a lot at first glance."

Viola put on a reserved smile.

“Mom,” Jerry was very happy. “Viola has especially come to Portugal this time to have a grand wedding with me here. At that time, I need you to help me with the wedding.”

“Okay, I will definitely help. Jerry’s wedding must be the best.”

Get Flores Viola quietly listened to them discuss the various matters of the wedding. Seeing Cristina so excited, Viola felt a little sorry.

Even if there really was a wedding day, she would still stir up chaos at the wedding.

“Your Highness, my brother, Bentley McGraw, is in medical research. He has heard that Portugal has a medicine called ‘Super Serum’, which can cure any biochemical virus. Since I am here, I want to help my brother to ask you about it.”

“Yes, but this medicine...”

“Mom...”

“It’s getting late. Viola now lives in a small apartment in the suburbs. It would be inconvenient for her to go back when it gets too late. I’ll bring her to visit you again next time.”

Cristina looked at him and could only nod with a smile. “That’s true. Five days later, there will be a royal banquet. At that time, you should bring Ms. McGraw to have fun.”

“Okay, Mom. Then we are going to leave now.”

Although Viola was unwilling, she had no choice but to stand up and say goodbye to Cristina.

Jerry hurriedly grabbed her arm and left. Although Viola was disgusted, she didn't say anything in front of Cristina.

As soon as she came out of the palace, she immediately flung his hand away.

“Jerry, why don't you let her finish speaking? What did you hide from me about the medicine?”

“Just ask me what you want to know, but don't mention this in front of my mother. I know what you want.”

Hearing her words, Jerry became serious. “Viola, don't think too much about it. That medicine is stored in the royal warehouse. Other than marrying me, you have no other way to get it.”

“Jerry, if you dare lie to me, I will definitely kill you!” Viola glared at Jerry with a cold expression.

“How could that be? We are going to get married. I will be honest with you.”

Jerry smiled gently and took the initiative to hold Viola's hand. "Recently, I will discuss our wedding date with my mother. In a few days at the dinner party, my mother will announce our marriage. Now we are officially a couple. Am I allowed to hold your hands?"

"In my eyes, you're nothing before the last moment."

After Viola angrily said this, she withdrew her gaze and took the lead to walk in front.

Todd immediately followed.

Not long after, Jerry sent Viola and Todd back to their residence in the suburbs.

Viola didn't want to hear Jerry say those disgusting words. She quickly sent Jerry away and waited nervously for Miguel to come.

However, she waited until it was late at night. It began to snow quietly outside, and no cars showed up on the suburban road.

Todd slipped into her room and helped her turn off the micro-listening device on the light.

"It looks like Miguel doesn't agree to cooperate," Viola said as she sat on the bed, feeling lonely.

Todd sighed and encouraged her. "Don't be frustrated. After all, it's the first time you've met. It's normal for Miguel to be wary of you. He looked quite cautious."

"Yes." Viola nodded excitedly. "Five days later at the royal banquet, I will definitely win his trust."

Todd stared fixedly at her pretty little face and obeyed her every decision from the bottom of her heart.

"What do you want to eat tonight, Ms. Zumthor? I'll tell the maids in the yard later and ask her to contact Jerry and come over for dinner."

Hearing his words, Viola felt frustrated.

Although the lunch was really exquisite, she had no appetite. In front of Cristina, she could only pretend to enjoy the food and forced herself to eat them.

Thinking about it, Viola felt nauseous. She touched her chest with her hand and recovered from the disgusting feeling.

"I don't want to eat anything, and I'm not hungry. I always feel that the food here doesn't suit my taste. You can let the maid arrange it."

She rubbed her brows exhaustedly, "I'm very sleepy. I'll sleep for a while. When dinner is delivered, you can call me."

“Alright, you should sleep a bit more. Today, you walked the entire day in the palace. It’s really tiring.”

Todd helped her turn on the listening device, closed the door, and went out.

These two days, Viola had always felt sleepy.

Perhaps it was because she had come to Portugal with a lot of mental pressure.
