

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 376

Ormand slowed down and picked up the last glass of wine. He said to Russell, "Mr. McGraw, you took care of me, but I beat you up for nothing. I would like to make a sincere apology to you with this glass of wine!"

Russell nodded with a calm expression. It was written on his face that he didn't care to argue with Ormand.

Ormand directly finished the last glass of wine.

It was unexpectedly sweet.

The wine didn't make him feel uncomfortable at all. It was a kind of fruit wine with a savory taste, entering his throat smoothly.

Slightly surprised, he glanced at Russell and seemed to understand their intentions.

After the pain, the bitterness, and the hesitation, after conquering the biggest difficulty, the journey in the future would be sweet and beautiful.

Besides, it was also a warning.

If he dared to mistreat Viola in the future, the three brothers would make him miserable again.

Ormand had to promise to care for and love their little sister so that they will let him have a comfortable life.

Ormand quickly understood the meaning of the wine. He looked at the three brothers with a hint of gratitude in his eyes. "You have been protecting Viola for many years and have given much thought to her relationship with me. I, Ormand, will never let you down."

Ormand continued to say, "Viola will be my only treasure for a lifetime!"

His gaze was sincere and exceptionally firm when he made the promise.

Bobby nodded in satisfaction and snorted proudly. "Remember the promise you gave me. If you break your promise in the future and betray Viola again, I will kill you!"

What Bobby said basically meant he had acknowledged Ormand.

So Ormand finally made Viola's big brother Bobby satisfied.

Viola breathed a sigh of relief and looked at her second brother

Bentley.

Bentley didn't want to say anything. Apparently, he was not very pleased with Ormand.

"Bentley? Why don't you say something?"

Viola reminded him and tipped him a wink.

Bobby has already agreed, shouldn't you give us a break?

Bentley turned a blind eye to her winks, his brows cold and calm.

He stood up, adjusted his clothes, and said in a light tone, "Since you've finished the wine, I'll have to trouble you to move."

Ormand did not hesitate to follow him upstairs. Bobby and Russell also followed them.

Viola is speechless. Bentley is unreasonable! Now Ormand has to fight his way out.

Does it have to be this way?

She quickly got up to follow them, but Lainey stopped her. "Dear, don't panic. Sit here with me for a while. Let them settle the matter between men!"

Viola couldn't help feeling anxious. "Will they hit him? That won't do! They are so strong and fierce. What if they hurt Ormand? No, no! I have to go take a look!"

Lainey continued. "Come on. Even if they really beat him up, it won't be too bad. They know that you have two kids with Ormand, how would they be so hardhearted to cripple him? Just sit down quietly. Nothing will happen!"

Lainey was earnest and gentle.

Though what she said made sense, Viola was still worried.

It would distress her if her brothers really hit Ormand.

Ormand was so obedient recently that even she could not bear to beat him up. How could her brothers beat him?

She was so worried that her palms were covered in sweat. She kept stomping her feet and waited uneasily.

Ormand was taken to Bentley's bedroom in the villa, where he lived when he was a little boy.

Now the room had been completely redecorated. It was filled with professional medical equipment. All kinds of surgical knives coldly lay on the tray on the table.

On the wall, there were a human anatomy atlas and diagrams of all organs.

Anyone entering the room would feel a chill immediately.

Even Ormand, who had seen all kinds of great things, swallowed hard as his Adam's apple moved.

Was Bentley going to dissect him?

Maybe he would dissect him without anesthesia and put his organs back so that he could feel the terror of dying.

As he was pondering, Bentley finally spoke.

“You made Viola unexpectedly pregnant. It was your responsibility to do something to prevent pregnancy, but Viola was the one who suffered from pregnancy. It was your fault. You were not careful enough. As a punishment, I will make you experience the pain of childbirth tonight.”

As Bentley finished his words, Russell walked up and helped lift the white cloth on the seat.

Next to the seat was a labor pain simulator that Bentley had asked someone to deliver it from the hospital.

“It’s okay for you to refuse now or quit in the process. I respect your choice.”

There was a hint of sarcasm in Bentley’s cold eyes.

“I’m willing to try. I won’t quit,” Ormand said as he looked into Bentley’s eyes.

“Think carefully. This is only a small part. There is another surprise waiting for you.”

“No problem, I’ll accept all your tests,” Ormand said with determination in his eyes.

“Alright, I hope you can still be so strong-willed later. Please take a seat.” Bentley looked at him with a half-smile.

Ormand walked over and sat down. Bentley swiftly equipped him with the labor pain simulator.

“If the labor pain is the 10th-grade, then 1st-grade pain is like being punctured by a needle or bitten by a mosquito, and 4th-grade pain is like an iron cone piercing the thigh, which should be nothing for a man like you who served in the army. So, let’s start with the 5th grade.

Bentley finished his words and immediately pressed start on the machine, leaving no time for Ormand to react at all.

The pain came unexpectedly. Ormand instantly furrowed his brows, gripping the armrest tightly as he endured the pain silently.

Bentley saw that he was gradually getting used to the pain, so he continued to increase the pain level.

When it reached the 7th-grade pain, the continuous pain gradually spread to all the limbs and bones. Not a single part of his body was not in agony.

The veins on Ormand's arms bulged, and his fingertips trembled slightly. His face was pale and covered with sweat.

He gritted his teeth without making a sound.

Just then, Bentley told Russell something, and Russell pushed the table in front of Ormand.

Bobby put a pen and a notebook on the table, and there was a pack of A4 paper printed with something.

As Ormand endured the pain, he raised his eyes and looked at Bentley suspiciously.

Bentley explained, "This is 'Code of a Real Gentleman', which is very popular on the Internet. I heard that Mr. Hobson's handwriting is beautiful. Could you please copy it?"

Ormand looked at the content of the paper.

"My wife is my everything. Anything about her is the most important.

“I will wash the clothes and clean the house for my wife. Never make her slender hands stained with dust.

“Take care of her emotions. Never yell at her or insult her.”

There were fifty lines in total, approximately 500 words.

Bentley saw him in a daze and kindly reminded him, “If you can’t do it, you can still give up.”

Ormand immediately reached for the pen. He accepted it.

With the pen in his hand, his cold white fingers trembled uncontrollably.

Bentley explained the rules to him, “A woman in labor has to suffer from pain for at least two or three hours. I will give you one and a half hours to copy the Code of Ethics for Men. If you have any objections, you can protest.”

Ormand adjusted his breathing, but it took him a long time before he could open his mouth. “I only have to experience the pain for one and a half hours, but Viola will have to suffer twice as much pain as I do in the future.”

“I have no objections. I will copy it.”
