

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 398

Viola's eyes instantly turned cold.

Thinking of what happened in McGraw's place yesterday, she smiled sarcastically.

"Even if you don't believe in this test result,

my brothers who have loved me for more than 20 years believed it. It's hilarious.

"As for Bentley," the sarcasm on Viola's face deepened as she said, "yesterday, he was the first to believe it when he saw the paternity

test with Miguel's fingerprint on it."

She didn't believe anyone in the entire

McGraw family.

Last time, Rebecca was secretly released.

Before she left, she shouted at Viola at the top of her lungs, "He has been pretending to be kind for so long. I really look forward to the day when you see his true face!

"It must feel bad to be betrayed by your beloved one! Viola, I will wait for the day when you know the truth and collapse!"

Viola had always thought that Rebecca was talking ill of Ormand.

Then Viola thought about it carefully and realized that Rebecca should be talking about one of her brothers.

The more she thought about that, the more she felt disappointed.

Ormand fell into deep thought again.

Although he had only heard about what happened yesterday at McGraw's place from Viola, he didn't think Viola's brothers were that stupid given what he knew about them.

He didn't believe that they would ignore the doubts.

Especially Bentley.

Bentley was usually silent and wouldn't easily show his emotion. He was the most scheming one among Viola's three brothers.

Bentley didn't speak much, but his love for Viola was no less than that of Bobby and Russell.

If he didn't really love Viola, Bentley wouldn't have put in so much effort to test Ormand. He had Ormand experience the pain of labor to feel the pain Viola would have to endure for Ormand in the future.

And the three toasts. Bentley and Russell had personally prepared them.

Their love for Viola shouldn't be so easily erased by a paternity test result.

Ormand said, "Viola, this happened so abruptly. Maybe they just haven't carefully thought about it. They'll figure it out. I believe that they trust you."

Ormand thought the same as Lainey did.

Viola didn't want to talk about her brothers anymore, so she changed the topic. "Dad fell down the stairs. Although Max explained it clearly yesterday, I still feel weird.

"Even if my father was really furious after learning about the test result, he wouldn't be so irrational and fall down so easily. Besides, he happened to fall when Lily and Joseph weren't by his side."

"It'll be hard to investigate that. After all, it's in McGraw's place, they would be alert if we summon the servants of the McGraw family in the name of the National Bureau of Investigation."

"Alright, I'll ask Todd to do that."

"You're right. We can investigate this later."

Viola thought of Max's delicate face. She said, "Let's look into Max first. Find out where she has been recently and who she has been seeing."

Viola gripped the paternity test result in her hand and continued in a low voice, "Look into Miguel, too. I don't believe him. I wanna know his recent whereabouts, his family's situation, and his bills."

"Don't worry, Todd will nail that."

Ormand lifted Viola's face and kissed her soft lips. "But now I want your comfort."

He gently rubbed the tip of her nose, his dark eyes staring at her expectantly, trying to shift away her worries over these trivial matters.

Viola raised an eyebrow and pretended not to understand. As expected, she followed his thoughts. "Why should I comfort you? What are you unhappy about?"

Ormand leaned into her arms and rubbed against her wantonly. He said in a soft, spoiled manner, "Viola, I'm so poor now. I have to count on you in the future. You are all I have now. I want you to love me hard..."

If Viola abandoned him, then he would literally end up lonely and impoverished.

But he knew that Viola would never do that.

Viola held up Ormand's face with both hands and kissed him affectionately, and then she pressed him under her body.

“Alright, I’ll love you really hard!”

She covered them with a quilt and blocked the loving sound they made.

After the sex.

Ormand went to take a shower.

Viola followed him into the bathroom. She washed her hands and pinched Ormand’s strong and bouncy butt.

After they played for a while, Viola went back to the bed and took out her hand cream to give her reddish fingertips some care.

Then her phone rang. It was a Twitter notification.

She glanced at it and saw the word

“McGraw”.

The McGraw family wanted to publicly acknowledge Max as the youngest daughter of the family, claiming that she disappeared many years ago and was only found recently.

Five days later, they would hold a grand comeback banquet for their dear family.

member Max McGraw.

On the same day, Max would officially be given the inheritance rights of the McGraw family.

The netizens who didn't know what was going on were all congratulating Max, the famous actress, who suddenly became the little daughter of the McGraw family, and would even be entitled to be the heir of the family.

The McGraw family was giving Max the one and only love.

Viola looked at the news report and felt a dull pain in her heart. She once again felt cold all over.

She knew who made all these decisions.

Bobby deliberately concealed the fact that

Max was an illegitimate daughter, and he actually wanted to hand the entire McGraw family over to such a scheming woman.

Viola found it hilarious.

Ormand walked out of the bathroom in a bath towel. He was wiping his wet hair when he saw his sweetheart, Viola, sitting on the bed, dejected.

His expression immediately became serious.

He walked over to take her phone and quickly browsed through the news she was reading.

“Viola, this might be...”

At this point, he didn’t know how to explain

Bobby’s actions.

Viola smiled indifferently, “Since they all think that I’m not the daughter of Mr.

McGraw, why should I care about who I was before?”

The corners of Viola's mouth curled up, but her eyes were cold.

"As for the banquet, I'm the richest woman in the United States. How can I miss the McGraw family's feast?"

Viola wouldn't be Viola if she didn't go there to stir up chaos.

Ormand held her warm palm to show his support.

In the afternoon.

Ormand drove Viola to the hospital for a routine pregnancy check.

Perhaps because she was depressed recently, there were a few relatively high indicators.

The doctor warned her to avoid extreme emotions.

While Viola was doing all sorts of checks,

Ormand was sitting outside.

When Todd learned that Ormand was in the hospital, he immediately ran over.

“Ormand, Grandpa wants you in the hall.”

Todd looked at him with a worried expression.

It

“I’ll go back after Viola’s done here,” Ormand said expressionlessly.

“I heard that Grandpa was angry. Sammy is also there. I think he is there to denounce

you. Grandpa wants you back right away,”

Todd reminded Ormand in a low voice. Then he stood obediently to the side and waited.
