

Ex husband Goes Money Comes Chapter 406

The Truth

In the garden, the discussions of the guests grew louder.

Viola's words were very meaningful!

Facing everyone's questioning gaze, Viola glanced at Bobby on the stage.

Then, Viola said seriously, "Bobby, this is the McGraw family's family business. If you don't want the McGraw family's stock price to fall sharply tomorrow or make news headlines tomorrow, you'll have to ask all the irrelevant people to leave this place immediately!"

Under the spotlight, Viola stared coldly at Bobby, sending a bone-piercing chill down Bobby's spine.

The guests and reporters at the scene were all shocked, and the sounds of discussion intensified.

Russell was the first to stand up and help to control the situation. Under Russell's control, the reporters quickly took back their thoughts and left. The guests also left one after another under Bentley's persuasion and instruction.

Pearce, who was holding the inheritance document bag on the stage, looked around with a blank face.

Ormand noticed Pearce's situation and gave Todd and Toby a glance. Then, Todd and Toby quickly went up to the stage and took Pearce away.

Ten minutes later...

The atmosphere in the garden, which was originally bustling with noise and excitement, gradually became cold and silent. Only the McGraw family and Ormand were still here. Even Marcelo, Aydan, and their family members were taken away.

Bobby stared at Viola with his sharp eyes, but he did not say a word. Viola went up the stage slowly.

Viola didn't want to beat around the bush. She opened her bag and took out the five paternity test reports that Bentley had personally made last night.

"Bobby, take a good look. This is the truth of my identity!"

Viola suppressed her anger and threw a few documents at Bobby.

Bobby didn't take them. He didn't move or speak. He just stared at Viola silently.

"Bobby, you took the initiative to propose a DNA test to Dad. Miguel is dad's good friend, and you two are old acquaintances. You used Miguel's mother to threaten him to fake the DNA test, right?"

Bobby lowered his eyes and looked at the paper scattered all over the ground. He pursed his lips and did not speak.

Max took two steps forward and took the initiative to say, "Viola, this has nothing to do with Bobby. I threatened Miguel, and I called dad and asked him to do a DNA test. If Bobby really wants Miguel to fake the DNA test result, there is no need for him to threaten Miguel. Miguel will listen to him even if he does nothing. Bobby just..."

"Shut up!"

Viola glared at Max and said coldly, "I'm asking Bobby. You don't need to answer my question for him!"

Max raised her chin unwillingly, but she did not say anything more.

Viola looked at Bobby, who was standing straight, and took out another document from her bag and threw it over.

"This is the evidence that Russell had recently collected. On the day of dad's accident, Lily was by his side! It was Lily who pushed him down from the back while he was all focused on the paternity test result!"

Viola's heart ached at the mention of this. Her eyes turned red, and her voice trembled. "How much do you know about this matter? Was it you who instigated it?"

Lily, who was below the stage, lowered her head guiltily and silently.

Bobby just stared at Viola all the time and did not answer any of her questions.

Under the dim light, Viola couldn't see the expression on Bobby's face, nor did she know what he was thinking.

Viola continued, "You used dad's illness as an excuse and have repeatedly requested to postpone my signing of the inheritance rights. But at the same time, you were in a hurry to call Max back and give her the inheritance rights. But she is just an illegitimate daughter! What's wrong with you? What exactly do you want?"

"Bobby, you've loved me for so many years. Don't tell me you've always been pretending in front of me!"

Bobby blinked, and he said hoarsely, "Viola..."

Viola took a deep breath and suppressed her emotions that were about to explode.

Then, she said coldly, "I don't care if you know about these things or not. Anyway, you won't get away from it! Moreover, if something happens to my dad, I should be the one who is in charge of the entire McGraw family! It is not up to you to decide whether you want to inherit or not!"

Viola withdrew her sharp gaze and looked back at Bentley and Ormand.

Viola said to them, "Keep an eye on Lily and Max. Don't let them escape. I'll settle accounts with them later!"

Then, she looked at Bobby again and said, "Come with me."

Viola turned around and entered the villa. Bobby didn't say anything and followed Viola silently.

The two of them entered Viola's bedroom in the villa. Bobby closed the door and stood by the door, waiting for Viola to ask questions.

Viola was a little tired from standing, so she sat by the bed and stared at Bobby.

“The reason why I called you here alone is that there are some things I wish to talk to you about privately. I really can’t believe that the person who has loved me for so many years will actually become the one who hurt me the most!”

“Viola...” Bobby wanted to say something, but he suddenly stopped. In the end, he sighed and became silent again.

Viola continued, “When I was fifteen, Max injected me with some psychotropic drugs and pushed me into the water.

Did you know about that?”

Bobby closed his eyes and hid the guilt in his eyes. “I did.”

“How long did you know?”

“I knew it long ago.”

Viola was slightly shocked. She felt like her heart was being fiercely kneaded by someone. It was very uncomfortable. She choked with sobs and asked, “So... Was it also you?”

"It was not me."

Because it was a private conversation, Bobby chose to confess everything.

Bobby said, "I was indeed the first to know. But that matter was completely planned by Max alone. I will never exchange your life for any benefits. When I found out about this, I punished Max heavily and took back all the film resources in her hands, making her suffer for half a year.

"In the end, I let her go because dad felt sorry for her. But dad didn't know the truth about your accident. He didn't know it was Max who did it.

"The people behind Max are me and dad. As long as she wants something, dad and I will do our best to satisfy her."

Viola didn't understand it. She asked, "Why are you protecting her? Even if she did something wrong, you have never thought about educating her or making things right!"

"I... I have really punished her."

"So what?" Viola's voice became louder. "She has hurt me more than just once or twice. She wants to kill me! Can a few casual words from your mouth offset all the harm she did to me?"

Bobby closed his eyes again and didn't say anything.

Viola took a deep breath and tried to calm down a little. Then, she continued, "What about this time? Did you do it? Or did she make the decision on her own?"

"She knew that I wanted the McGraw family, so she acted first and reported afterward, forcing me to stand on the same side as her. I only learned everything when I arrived at the villa on the day of dad's accident."

Viola gripped the sheets tightly, and tears rolled down her cheeks.

"Bobby, that was really a terrible choice you have made! If you really want the inheritance right so badly, you can just tell me directly! How can you be sure that I don't want to give you the inheritance right? You don't even trust your own sister who has lived for more than twenty years with you. But you believe in Max, who is just an illegitimate daughter!"

Bobby said, "You have Ormand by your side. It was his appearance that took away the position of the richest family in the country. In the business field, Ormand was a cunning man. I don't trust him! If you want to marry him, it is equivalent to giving the McGraw family to the Hobson family for free!

"Dad was confused. He would rather take this risk to give you the inheritance right. But I can't let this happen. Only with the right of inheritance in my hands can I be at ease. I have to make the McGraw family the richest family in the country again!"

Tears kept falling down Viola's face. Hearing Bobby's words, Viola chuckled, "So that's what you've been thinking all the time.

“Ormand is a cunning man in your eyes. But when I was almost homeless because of you and Max, he resolutely gave me all the property shares under his name. Even if he knew that he would be punished by the Hobson family, he did that without hesitation. And he has never regretted it.

“Bobby, do you find the fact dramatic and ridiculous?”