

Ex-husband Goes Money Comes by Yvone Zabielski Chapter 97

The man in the checkered shirt and classes at the front asked Orlando, "Sir, we were all on vacation, but because we were lost, we failed to go out for a few days. We lost our luggage and almost starved to death. Do you know how to get out of here?"

Orlando kept silent. He just looked at the man. It was impossible to tell what Orlando was thinking about.

The man looked at Orlando's subordinates behind him again and continued to talk with them.

"Sir, it seems that you are also preparing to leave the mountain. Why not go together? We can also accompany each other."

The man was passionate. Instead, Orlando put on a poker face.

He sized up the seven or eight men behind the man in the checker-shirt.

Having stayed in the ariny, Orlando was instinctively very wary of strangers who had suddenly appeared.

They said they were traveling and lost their luggage, but their clothes seemed to be dirty for a short period. They didn't seem to have not dressed up for a few days. It seemed that they had deliberately made their clothes dirty.

Although they were swaying and supporting each other, they didn't seem to have been hungry for a few days with bright eyes.

Orlando frowned and his face was very dark.

Something was wrong with them.

The subordinate who was standing right beside Orlando quickly noticed his expression and also became alert.

Orlando put on a faint smile. "No, thanks. We are not going the same way."

Orlando turned around to leave.

"Where are you going? It's good to make friends during a trip."

The man in the checkered shirt was passionate and tried to pat Orlando's shoulder.

Before he could touch it, his hand was grabbed tightly by Orlando.

It was a bit unusual at that moment.

Orlando held him in one hand and reached into his pocket with the other.

Orlando was stopped by the man who realized what Orlando wanted, but the new knife set in his pocket was seen.

Orlando sneered calmly, "You have brought such a new knife along. I'm afraid you were not on vacation. Who sent you here?"

Realizing that his secret was uncovered, the man stopped acting. His face darkened.

“Since you’re already here, we have to kill you!”

He then took out the knife and stabbed it at Orlando.

Orlando quickly avoided it and they started the fight at once.

Their subordinates also took out their weapons,

The two groups of people started fighting on the spot, and it was very chaotic.

White went back. After calming down Alisha with great difficulty, she went to the company and called Jaylin over.

Jaylin was walking to the president’s office when a coffee cup suddenly fell apart by her feet.

Jaylin had already heard that the Caffrey Group failed the bidding, so she smiled and walked behind Whitney, considerably massaging her body.

“You can be angry, but remember to take good care of yourself.”

Whitney had a headache. She closed her eyes and enjoyed Jaylin’s massage while calming down.

Jaylin continued, “I’ve investigated Alin Real Estate Co. Ltd. It was a small company that was on the edge of bankruptcy. I don’t know what happened a few days ago, but it suddenly came back to life. This time, it won the bidding on the outskirts of the western city. It should have a certain background.”

Whitney opened her eyes and held Jaylin’s hands with deep love.

“Then I’ll leave this matter to you, Jaylin. If you find out who the real boss is, you can provide a better salary to recruit him or her into the Caffrey Group, as long as the person is willing to hand over the land in the outskirts of the western city to us.”

Jaylin frowned and replied, “But Whitney, how would she be willing to work for the Caffrey Group if she was already a boss?”

Whitney was silent.

“If we are rejected, we would drive that person out of Washington along with her company.”

“Okay, Whitney, but...” Jaylin paused and had a complicated expression.

“What?”

“My post in the Caffrey Group is still at a low level. Many people don’t believe me. If it was the case, I’m afraid I would not be able to offer much help.”

“You can be in charge of any department you want,” Whitney waved her hands and said generously.

“Thank you, Whitney,” Jaylin said happily.

After leaving the president’s office, Jaylin went directly to the corresponding department for arranging work

This time, she asked to be the lead of the HR Department and Finance Department,

Every time, Jaylin was able to control herself well. If she didn't ask for much, it wouldn't alert Whitney.

However, it was convenient for Jaylin to send her men in when she was in charge of the HR Department. The Finance Department was the lifeline of the entire company.

With these two departments in hand, it was only a matter of time before the Caffrey Group became hers.

When Jaylin was in charge of the Caffrey Group one day, she would become a great power.

"The first person she had to deal with was Viola, the slut who had caused her to make a fool of herself at the Callis family's opening ceremony!

Jaylin's eyes were filled with excitement.

However, she did not forget her task. She had to finish the tasks that Whitney gave her.

Therefore, she decided to secretly arrange for her men to work in Alin Real Estate Co. Ltd. Whether it was for information or tricks later, it would work.

Viola was sitting in an office in Angle Group to deal with her work.

She suddenly received a call from Lucille.

"What is it?"

“Ross, there is news from the Caffrey Group.” Lucille said seriously.

“Say it.”

“Whitney gave the five departments, including the HR Department and the Finance Department, to Jaylin.”

Viola shook her head with a smile.

Whitney even dared to hand over the Finance Department to others. How brave she was!

It seemed like it wouldn't be long before the former Caffrey Group would be destroyed by Whitney. It would be Jaylin's soon.

Whitney didn't know how to run a business, yet she still dared to take risk of the company that was so precious to Nash. If Nash found it out, he would probably recover from the dead and beat Whitney to death.

Unfortunately, although Viola was very happy to see the Caffrey Group being destroyed before Nash died, she promised to help him protect the Caffrey Group.

Therefore, she wanted the Caffrey Group! It would be hers.

After thinking it over, she spoke to Lucille on the phone.

“Send someone to keep a close eye on Jaylin. Tell me immediately if there is any movement. In addition, if the Caffrey Group is secretly selling the stock market, regardless of the price, buy them all.”

“Yes.”

Alter Lucille received the order, she quickly went down to make arrangements.

An hour later, Viola received a call from her.

“You were right. Jaylin is about to make her move. Among the candidates who just came to apply for a job in Alin Real Estate Co. Ltd., someone has a very suspicious background.”

Lucille added, “I asked someone to go on the investigation and found that he called an unknown number today. Then he got 200 thousand dollars in his card soon.”

Lucille paused for a moment before continuing, ‘Should we threaten him and beat him up? shall we send him to Jaylin to warn you?’”

Viola muttered to herself for a moment and then put on a faint smile.

“No, hire him.”

Wal? He is most likely a commercial spy sent by Jaylin. Aren't you afraid that he would leak the company's secrets if you hired him? Lucille was confused.
