

Falling 146

Chapter 146

Jalen had known it, but what could he do?

He had no evidence.

As for surveillance cameras...

He looked around and felt that there were no cameras there.

Just as Jalen fell into despair again, he saw a two-story building. It was very close to the alley. Most importantly, there was a surveillance camera outside the building, and it was directed right at the alley.

Jalen didn't have time to think about it. He immediately strode toward the building.

Elaina was taken out of the police station by Sergio at night. He said to her, "Although there is evidence that you were knocked out at that time, you haven't proved you didn't kill Marcus. So, you can't leave New York recently. The police will summon you at any time."

"OK." Elaina nodded.

Sergio smiled and thought, such a gentle girl could not be a murderer.

"You can go now." Sergio looked at the car not far away and let Elaina there.
