

Falling 40

Chapter 40

Then, Elaina walked towards the patient.

On the stretcher, the young man who was still energetic in the afternoon lay motionless in the blink of an eye. His pale face looked heartbreaking.

“Send him to the operating room immediately,” Without wasting too much time, Elaina ordered.

However, at this moment, the woman seemed to come back to her senses and stood in front of Elaina again. “You are not allowed to touch my son. You have already hurt him so badly. Do you want to kill him?”

As the woman spoke, she could not help but glance at the stretcher from the corner of her eyes. She was a little angry and wondered, how could this annoying boy still be alive?

If not for the fact that the private hospital was afraid of being held accountable, she would not have been willing to send the patient over here. When he died, she would directly pull the corpse over. At that time, she would see what this Elaina could say.

“Are you stupid? Your son is about to die, but you still refuse us to save him. Are you trying to kill him?” Joyce couldn’t endure it. She really wanted to hit that woman.

“Get out of the way!” Elaina held back her anger and was in a hurry to save the patient, not thinking about the dispute.

“No, you cannot touch my son,” the woman said the same thing. She would not let Elaina save the boy. fists. Just as she was about to attack, a tall figure suddenly passed through the crowd and stood in saw it was

what is

first. Let me handle this,” Jalen say much. She walked straight to to catch Elaina up but was stopped by

Chapter 40

1/3

Get Bonus

She took a few steps back and said

will kill my

she is the one who wants

and not yourself?"

talking about? That is my son. How can I instantly jumped up as if her secret to talk to her. He asked the hospital to arrange for a few people to watch her and walked to the

to the door of the operating room. Jalen was not surprised to see that his

you should show

sneer.

remembered that Jalen said that he didn't care

seems that this intend to reply to him. Jalen silently looked at the lights in the operating room. A trace of worry