Chapter 52

Elaina did not care about it. After Jason left, Elaina asked Kent, who was lying on the bed, "How are you feeling now? Are you feeling unwell?"

"Pretty... Pretty good," Kent said with a weak smile, his cheeks slightly red.

When facing his father, Kent could be indifferent. However, when facing Elaina, he was still a little embarrassed.

"If you have any questions, just tell me. I am your attending physician," Elaina said.

Kent nodded. Then, he thought of something, and his face turned pale. "I... I don't have the money to pay for the bill."

He had heard that the doctor in front of him was very famous. It seemed that the surgery fees were very expensive. He was still a child and could not afford the surgery fees.

The reason why Jason said that before he left was because he knew that Kent had no money. Not to mention medical fees, Kent did not even have tuition fees and living expenses. Jason was sure that Kent would go and beg him.

"It doesn't matter. The hospital has a special relief fund. You don't have to worry about medical expenses. Just take good care of yourself." Elaina could not help but feel
