

Falling 72

Chapter 72

Elaina had been on the phone with Theodore for a good hour. It seemed that their conversations had set the tone for the Dunston family's future.

After Theodore told Elaina that he would come back tomorrow morning, Elaina hung up the phone in satisfaction.

"The Dunston family..." Elaina muttered to herself and continued, "How should I deal with Marie after I deal with her family?"

She thought a bit and said, "Forget it. I'll just leave her to the police. It's actually not bad if she gets to spend the rest of her life in prison."

At that moment, the doorbell rang. Elaina went to open the door in her pajamas. Noticing that it was Jalen, Elaina became gloomy right away.

Then she tried to close the door, only to find that Jalen had held the door already. Then before she knew it, Jalen had walked into the house.

you're trespassing on private land." She gritted her teeth, wanting to throw him not care. Instead, he took a

fists clenching, she resisted the impulse to

I really know nothing about the kidnapping." Jalen looked at eyes.

leaning against the sofa. "I believe you. After all, it doesn't make sense that a reason.

I were

Jalen? He simply doesn't have a motive for upon hearing that.

doesn't mean we're friends. Quite the light

sure that Jalen would protect Marie, so, technically, she and Jalen were that distressed him a bit. "What can I do to can

Elaina laughed. "So, Mr. Halton, are you rare that Jalen would beg others

a long as I get to take tit-for-tat revenge," coldness.