Chapter 97

"I thought they wouldn't invite you." Saul curled his lips and said unhappily, "Was it that bastard, Jalen, who invited you?"

"No, it was Mr. Halton." After all, she was Jalen's ex-wife. Moreover, she had a good relationship with Nitzan before, so it was normal for him to invite her.

When Saul heard this, he was somewhat unhappy. "I didn't expect you to have a good relationship with Mr. Halton."

"Yes, not bad." Elaina nodded.

It became silent. Saul glanced at her and said, "Then I will pick you up on time tomorrow. Is that okay?"

"Okay." Elaina agreed. She did not want to go back on what she had promised."

After that, Saul got up. Just as he walked to the door, he heard Elaina suddenly ask, "Actually, I have always been curious. What is the grudge between you and Jalen?"

She had never heard of a grudge between the Halton family and the Judson family before. But Saul looked as if the grudge between the two families was quite big, so she was curious.

Saul's hands trembled slightly. It seemed that he had thought of something bad. His face was extremely ugly, and he did not speak for a long time.
