

First Glance, Forever Love by Maria Xavier Chapter 31

Chapter 31 Lost Your Memories Again?

“What is going on?” Erin looked at Rosemary and said, “Mom, my arm seems to have recovered...”

“Really?” Rosemary touched Erin’s hand, and sure enough, Erin did not feel any pain.

Rosemary let out a sigh of relief. At the same time, she became angry. She glared at Laila and questioned her, “What have you done?”

Laila said coldly, “I want to ask you the same question. Is it fun to cry wolf? Do you have to make everyone know about the skeleton in the closet?”

Erin was exasperated, “I didn’t cry wolf! My arm was broken just now! Laila, stop acting! Mom, look at her!”

Rosemary pulled a long face, but she realized that they had fallen into Laila’s trap again.

This seemingly innocent girl was calculating.

Rosemary and Erin were finally criticized by the police officer. They did not have any proof that Erin’s arm had been broken. In addition, this was the blind spot of the surveillance camera. Thus, they had no choice but to bow and apologize to the police officer.

This was the fourth time they had fallen into Laila’s trap.

They definitely could not underestimate Laila.

As soon as the police officer left, Erin shouted at Laila, “Bitch, what did you do? Don’t you have the guts to admit it?”

“I didn’t do anything. What should I admit?” Laila shrugged,

“Shameless.”

“I learned it from you.”

“What the heck?”

Erin was not as silver-tongued as Laila. She was immediately exasperated. If Rosemary had not stopped her, she would have almost thrown Laila into a fight with Laila.

Just then, their car arrived, and Rosemary got in with Erin.

This time, Rosemary left without Laila. She didn't invite Laila at all.

Laila had her personal affairs to deal with. She had wanted to find an excuse to get out of the car halfway. Now that Rosemary left without her, it was exactly what she wanted, so she couldn't help but smile.

It was difficult to hail a cab at the airport, so Laila patiently waited by the road.

Before long, a black business car stopped in front of her.

Laila vigilantly took two steps back, only to see the window of the back seat lower, revealing Vincent's face.

Just as Laila was hesitating whether to greet Vincent or not, Vincent spoke first, "Lost your memories again?"

Laila was embarrassed. "No, I..."

"If no, get in." Vincent's tone was unquestionable.

Laila hesitated and refused, "I think I should take a taxi myself."

"What? Do you think that I have any filthy thoughts about you?" Vincent squinted at her. He was looking at her, but he acted as if he didn't care about her. It was clear that Laila was not too important to him.

Laila was speechless. She was not narcissistic enough to think that he was interested in her.

However, since Vincent had said so, Laila didn't want to waste any more time arguing with him and got in from the other side.

"Just send me to the bank nearby. Thank you," Laila said after closing the door.

Vincent did not speak. He focused on the newspaper in his hand, as if nobody was beside him.

The assistant sitting in the passenger seat was wondering why Vincent, who never read the newspaper in the car, suddenly started reading the newspaper. Noticing that Vincent was deliberately ignoring Laila, the assistant had some guesses.

Sometimes, the less Vincent pretended to care about Laila, the more he felt the opposite.

The assistant guessed that Laila's identity was extraordinary. He took the initiative to answer Laila Vincent and said, "Then I'll send you to the bank in the next block. It's easy to hail a taxi near there."

"Thank you." Laila thanked him sincerely.

"No big deal." The assistant could not help smiling

Everyone would smile unconsciously when a beauty was thanking him.

However, the assistant saw through the rearview mirror that Vincent was staring at him coldly. He felt that he would be killed by Vincent's gaze!

The assistant was so scared that his back was covered in sweat. He no longer dared to say a word to Laila after that.

Half an hour later, they arrived at the bank. Laila was about to thank him when Vincent had already instructed the driver to drive.

The car dashed away, leaving Laila baffled.

Why was Vincent angry?

Laila ignored him, took the card Drake gave her, and entered the bank

A few minutes later, Laila came out of the bank.

First Glance, Forever Love by Maria Xavier Chapter 32

Chapter 32 External Help

What Laila couldn't believe was that Drake's main account only had over 400 million dollars.

Did the Harmon family only have so little cash or did Drake have another main account?

Laila made a call overseas. As soon as the call got through she asked, "Could you please check all of Drake's assets, including those overseas?"

"Yes."

Her subordinates were very efficient. Laila had just arrived at the entrance of the Harmons' manor when her subordinates sent her an email.

Laila checked and read it carefully. The shock in her eyes could not be any greater.

All of Drake's assets, including his fixed assets, amounted to less than 100 million dollars.

In the past, the Stephenson family's assets amounted to 2 billion dollars, but after they were passed to Drake, they had been squandered to less than 100 million dollars.

How did Drake do it?

Or was it because most of the assets were in the possession of Rosemary?

Laila texted another message to his subordinates to check Rosemary's account.

After this, Laila pressed the doorbell of the manor's iron gate.

What Laila did not know was that just as she pressed the doorbell, someone ran over to report this to Erin.

"She's back" Erin's eyes lit up with joy as she looked at the girl beside her.

The girl was called Kasey Norman with delicate facial features and long wavy blonde hair, making her look like a Barbie doll

Kasey was Erin's cousin, and she was also the most renowned socialite at Washington's socialite ball.

The Norman family was now famous in Washington. As her father was on good terms with the O'Brien family, another renowned family of the four well-known families in Washington, Kasey was engaged with a boy of the O'Brien family when she was young

Because of this, Kasey was treated like a princess in the socialite circle.

When Erin came back from the airport, she immediately turned to Kasey for help.

"Let's go. I'll teach her a lesson." Kasey stood up slowly.

“Kasey, how are you going to teach her a lesson?”

“I just happen to bring Cutie Pie with me today. Let Cutie Pie show Laila who is the boss.”

Cutie Pie was Kasey’s dog, a giant Pitbull

Hearing that, Erin immediately panicked as if it was some kind of dreadful monster.

“Bring Cutie Pie from the lawn,” Kasey ordered the bodyguards behind him.

Soon, a drooling giant Pitbull was brought by a fully-armed maid.

Erin pulled Kasey’s sleeve in horror and said, “Kasey, is it appropriate to use Cutie Pie? If something is wrong, my dad will be in a fury with me. He cares about Laila now.”

Kasey pouted in disdain and said, “When did you become so timid? If you are really afraid, then tell your dad that I did it. Moreover, I only planned to teach her a lesson rather than hurt her. Are you not afraid of this?”

At Kasey’s words, Erin was no longer worried.

Since Kasey had said so, Erin would let Cutie Pie teach Laila a lesson.

When they were about to reach the gate, a maid happened to pass by.

2

Seeing Cutie Pie, the maid cried out in fear.

Instantly, Cutie Pie dashed and bit the maid’s ankle. Blood seeped from the maid’s trousers.

The maid screamed in pain.

“Stop. If you dare to hit Cutie Pie, I will make you suffer,” Kasey ordered in a rude and unreasonable manner.

The maid had no choice but to endure the pain and looked at the crowd for help.

The maids at the side looked at each other. No one dared to help her.

The last time Kasey came here with Cutie Pie, the dog had bitten off a maid's hand.

As the maid cried out in pain, she subconsciously reached out her hand to hit the dog.

First Glance, Forever Love by Maria Xavier Chapter 33

Kasey laughed with sarcasm.

Kasey thought Laila was an idiot for choosing the most dangerous option.

Kasey smiled coldly and ordered the bodyguard to open the gate.

Since Laila had chosen to feed the dog, Kasey wouldn't feel guilty if Laila was bitten to death.

Kasey let go of Cutie Pie's rope and caressed it. "Go. Go eat."

As soon as Cutie Pie was released, it immediately turned from docile to ferocious. With a growl, it walked slowly towards Laila.

It was a sign that the Pitbull was about to attack

This was very dangerous.

The maids nearby covered their eyes with their hands, afraid of the potential bloody scene.

Laila stood calmly in place as if unaware of the danger.

Just as Cutie Pie was 10 feet away from Laila, it suddenly accelerated and pounced straight at Laila

The maids exclaimed in fright.

The maids agonized it. The dog obediently jumped more than 6 feet high, targeting Laila's face.

If Laila was bitten, not only her face would be scarred permanently, but her nose would also be bitten off.

Laila did not even blink and stood rooted to the spot.

She was waiting

Laila was waiting for an occasion.

When Cutie Pie was about to bite Laila's face, Laila turned sideways to avoid Cutie Pie's attack. Before the dog could react, she turned around and grabbed the sesli on Cutie Pic's neck swiftly.

First Glance, Forever Love by Maria Xavier Chapter 34

Cutie Pie had planned to jump to the ground, but it was lifted in the air by Laila before slipping away.

Cutie Pie weighed at least 70 pounds, and Laila lifted it up with one hand effortlessly. It was easy to see how strong Laila was.

Kasey, who thought that Laila's face would be ruined by her dog, was disappointed and shocked.

How could this village girl be so strong?

she must be so strong because of the farm work she did. Socialites who didn't even do housework would not be like this.

Kasey was a little worried about hier dog carried by Laila.

"Wild girl. Let go of my Cutic Pie," she ordered in a loud voice.

Laila would not let it go so easily. She held it and shook it with mockery.

Moreover, she used the other hand to make a gesture that Erin and Kascy could not understand. From time to time, she would pat specific parts of its body.

Laila was training the dog.

Kasey could not understand Laila's actions. She thought that Laila was bullying her. Kasey strode over and ordered. "Little bitch, are you deal? I told you to let it go."

However, when Kasey finished speaking, the fierce dog that kept struggling slowly calmed down and even wagged its tail at Laila.

Everyone, including Kascy, rubbed their eyes in disbelief.

Was there something wrong with their eyes?

This evil dog that only listened to Kasey actually wagged its tail at Laila?

It seemed even more obedient to Laila than to Kasey.

Due to the professional dog trainers' training, Cutie Pie only listened to Kasey and never followed others' orders.

But now, it tried to ingratiate itself to Laila, a village girl.

Did dogs prefer a good-looking owner?

Kasey was enraged by the betrayal and shouted angrily, "Little bitch. What did you do to Cutie Pie? Let it go."

Laila looked at Kasey and smiled gently. "I didn't do anything. I'm feeding it."

"Cut the crap. Let it go."

"Okay, you asked me to do this." Laila's eyes flashed with cruelty and ridicule,

After she finished speaking, Laila loosened her grasp on Cutie Pie's neck and bent down to pick up the raw meat next to her seat.

When Kasey saw that Cutie Pie had been released, she ordered, "Bite her, Cutie Pie."

First Glance, Forever Love by Maria Xavier Chapter 35

Chapter 35 Tear People

The maids looked at Kasey in shock.

Kasey was crossing the line.

She was trying to commit a crime.

Poor Ms. Stephenson is going to be torn into pieces by that dog soon.

Although everyone thought that Laila was going to be bitten to death, Cutie Pie did not bite Laila. Instead, it turned around and glared at Kasey.

Kasey was shocked. "Cutie Pie, what are you doing?"

Laila squatted down and led the raw meat in her hand to Cutie Pie. Then, after the dog ate the raw meat, Laila caressed it and said, "Go."

Cutie Pie let out a "woof" and ran towards Kasey.

It didn't seem like returning to its owner's arms. It was trying to bite Kasey.

Kasey was so frightened that she turned pale. She turned and ran.

“Woof. Woon.”

Cutie Pie dashed as if it wanted to tear Kasey to pieces.

The maids were so shocked that they even forgot how to react when they heard Kasey's cry for help.

It was at this moment that Rosemary arrived in time.

Just now, a maid was afraid that Erin and Kasey would go too far, so she went to inform Rosemary.

However, when she returned with Rosemary, she was astonished to find that Kasey, the owner of the dog, was chased by the dog

Rosemary did not expect that Cutie Pie, the most obedient dog of Kasey, was chasing Kasey in an attempt to bite her.

At this moment, Kasey was too exhausted to run any farther.

Cutie Pie pounced and bit the corner of Kasey's skirt.

As the corner of Kasey's skirt was bitten, she staggered and fell to the ground. Kasey couldn't feel more embarrassed when she lay sprawled on the ground.

But Kasey didn't have time to think about that. The only thought in her mind was that she was going to be bitten to death by her dog. Kasey kept crying and shouting for help.

Rosemary recovered from her shock and looked around. She picked up a stone and threw it at Cutie Pie.

With a bang, the stone hit the dog on the head.

The dog was about to bite Kasey's face, but it fell to the ground because of the stone.

But soon, Cutie Pie got up.

This time, Cutie Pie stopped chasing Kasey and rushed toward Rosemary.

Rosemary was so scared that she hid behind a maid. “Help. Help.”

The maid was afraid, too. Seeing this scene, she left Rosemary alone and dodged.

“Ah!” Rosemary was so scared that she forgot to escape and closed her eyes as if she was waiting for death.

However, instantly, there was a loud bang. Rosemary only felt a heavy weight on her body and warm liquid dripping on her face.

Rosemary opened her eyes and saw a bloody hole in the head of the Pitbull that died on her.

Someone shot the dog.

She subconsciously looked into the distance.

An eye-catching man stood there idly as if he was watching a good show.

This man was Fermin O'Brien who was engaged to Kasey.

Kasey was the first to come back to her senses and shouted in surprise, “Mr. O'Brien.”

Fermin held a silver gun in his hand and crossed his arms in front of his chest, looking calm and relaxed.

He did not expect to see such an interesting scene when he was forced to take Kasey for dinner.

Nor did Fermin expect to encounter an interesting girl like Laila.

Fermin's gaze moved from Laila to Kasey. He raised his eyebrows and said, “If my mother knows that your hobby is asking your dog to bite others, she will definitely like you more.”

Kasey turned pale and explained. “No, Mr. O'Brien. I just look it out for fun. I didn't know what that woman did to Cutie Pie to make it turn around and bite me.”