

The First Heir novel Chapter 1725

Hiss!

Everyone was filled with horror at this scene!

The other three enforcers who stood behind Norris were all dumbfounded!

They were fully aware of Norris' strength!

He was the only one among the four who had entered the third zone to study. Although it was only half a month ago, it was enough to display his strength. Among them, he was definitely a heaven defying existence!

Moreover, given that he was a member of the Griffin Pavilion in the Five Pavilions, he was naturally stronger than the others who entered the third zone. That was because Griffin Pavilion had more structured and professional lectures and training.

However, at this moment, Norris' full blow was so easily blocked by Fennel!

Terrifying!

Simply horrific!

What kind of monster was this guy exactly?

Could it be that he was not someone who had just gotten to the third zone?

Instantly, Connie and the other two thought of a possibility.

The fourth zone!

How could it be?

Anyone who had entered the fourth zone was a genius selected by the Nonagon, a freak!

Such people were treasures of the Nonagon, their heritage and foundation!

There was even this saying that anyone who had entered the fourth zone was someone who could wreak havoc on the world!

Their combat power was enough to destroy a city!

Such a person was a talent that all countries would pledge to protect. To that extent, as long as the other party did not dispatch tens of thousands of troops, their side would never dispatch people from the fourth zone.

From this, it was enough to see what kind of existence the people who had entered the fourth zone were!

Everyone had different expressions on their faces. Just then, a cracking sound was heard in the air! Immediately after, Norris' face flushed red as he watched his wrist get crushed by the other party!

Fennel still looked indifferent as he said, "I already told you that you're not my opponent. In my eyes, you're no different from an ant."

Bang!

As soon as the words left his mouth, Femiél landed a kick!

Norris flew out and crashed heavily into a wall!

Boom!

Instantly, the entire wall shattered!

Norris was completely buried under the broken bricks!

Hiss!

At this very moment, everyone finally realized how horrifying the guy in front of them was!

Such means and strength were beyond the comprehension of a normal person!

Just one kick could send a person flying and cause a wall to crumble!

This was something they could only see in a Hollywood blockbuster movie!

It was even more explosive than any stunt Stallone or Schwarzenegger could pull off!

Immediately after, Fennel's eyes locked on Connie Olsen and the other two. Venom Paine had stood tip at this time but he dared not make a move because he could feel that the internal organs in his stomach were close to destruction.

"You three, what do you think of my proposal just now?"

Fennel said suddenly, showing his white teeth. Putting his hands in his trouser pockets, he looked at the other party indifferently.

Connie was trembling at the moment, staring at Fennel with a horrified expression. This guy defeated Norris with just one move!
