

The First Heir – Chapter 1815

Winston snorted and said, “Apologize to my man and pay 20 billion dollars in medical compensation. If you do that, we’ll move on from this matter. Otherwise, don’t dream of walking out of Dunley Group today!”

After saying that, Winston’s face was full of sneers.

Hearing this, the assistant behind Winston was immediately moved to tears and exclaimed, “Mr. Dunley…”

It turned out that Mr. Dunley valued him that much. Winston looked back at the assistant and said, “Don’t worry, I’ll handle this matter for you.”

Then, he looked at Philip and asked, “Isn’t this a reasonable request?”

Philip chuckled and said, “Winston, you really know how to do business. You’re demanding 20 billion dollars for one slap. Do you really think that I’m a pushover and you have the upper hand against me?”

This old man came up with a good plan.

Winston laughed and said, “From the moment you stepped into Dunley Group, your outcome was already decided. Young man, you’re too arrogant and can’t see the mess you’ve gotten yourself into. In Hampton and in Charbury, the Dunley family is king! No matter what earth shattering powers you have, everything is in vain here! Only the orders of the Dunley family can be carried out here! Don’t blame me for not reminding you. Right now, using money to buy your way out is your only choice. Of course, if you choose to kneel down and offer 20 billion dollars, I might spare the Clarke family of Riversouth. However, your Clarke family will have to submit to my Dunley family in the future. Is that clear?”

Winston’s face was full of taunting smiles. He had this in the bag.

‘Sooner or later, this kid would have to kneel down and beg for mercy.’

However, Philip shrugged when he heard the words. He turned to look at Maia and asked, “What do you think?”

Only then did Winston and the others turn their attention to Maia Harp once more. This woman was unbelievably beautiful. She carried the charm of a mature woman.

Everyone had already noticed her when they came over just now, but because of Philip, they did not manage to take a closer look.

Only now did they notice that this woman was actually goddess Maia Harp of Hampton!

“Holy sh*t! Isn’t she Maia Harp? Why is she standing behind that kid?”

“I can’t figure it out either. Isn’t it rumored that Maia belongs to an affluent family? The power and background behind her is not something that ordinary people can mess with.”

“What? Is it possible that the force behind her is this kid?”

For a while, many employees of Dunley Group who were watching from afar were discussing this topic in low voices. It was mainly because Maia’s fame in Hampton was too great.

At this moment, the strong career woman bowed to Philip respectfully and said, “Young Master, I think they’re dreaming.”

“Haha!”

Philip laughed, looked at Winston, and said, “Mr. Dunley, did you hear that? My assistant says you’re dreaming.”

Winston raised his brows as his eyes fell on Maia. He said with a small smile, “Miss Harp, what are you doing? Is it possible that you know this kid?”

Maia smiled and straightened up, revealing the perfect curves of her body. Her every action and smile could make all the men present go crazy.

“Mr. Dunley, I’m sorry. Mr. Philip Clarke is my young master. I’m his assistant during his trip here to Hampton,” Maia said seriously.

Hiss!

Everyone gasped aloud when they heard that.

What?!

Maia actually called that kid her young master? Goodness gracious!

What kind of background did that kid have?

Winston was also taken aback, and his face looked unpleasant. That was because he knew some things about Maia’s identity. She belonged to an affluent family!

It was that family that placed her in Hampton for training, and she was also put in charge of the family’s businesses in the entire Charbury area.

Even the patriarch dared not mess with this family. Now, Maia had just referred to Philip as her young master. Could it be that Philip Clarke was the young master of that family?
