

The First Heir Chapter 2966 - 2970

Chapter 2966

With terrifying energy enough to destroy the world, that giant claw grabbed the old man with a roar!

Boom!

The power of lightning that covered the claw desperately fought against the power of the rules of this world. There should be some kind of special restriction that prevented the giant claw from entering this world.

The old man snorted coldly and waved his hand. A green sword light as big as a mountain slashed the dark giant claw. At the same time, the old man roared, "Since you insist, I'll cut your claw off! I'll show you that this world is not something guys like you can covet!"

Buzz!

The green sword dazzled brilliantly. Thousands of sword lights slashed from the huge green sword toward the huge black claw that covered the sky!

Poof!

The giant claw was cut off, and a terrifying roar resounded all around!

"Damn you! How dare you hurt me? If not for the rules of restriction here, I can easily kill you!"

The old man sneered and said, "Hmph! It's still too early for you to set foot in this world! I advise you to go back to your other shore and stop testing the rules of the Great Path here! Otherwise, your head will roll the next time!"

"Insolence! How dare a humble bug as you speak to me like this?! I want to see what this world can do to me!" With a roar, a crack suddenly appeared in the sky.

Two sharp giant claws grabbed both sides of the crack and ripped it apart. However, the two giant claws were also under tremendous restrictive pressure.

Roar!

Philip looked up and saw a huge red eyeball in the crack peering down at them and this world. That eyeball was extremely terrifying and shocking. It made them want to run away.

One after another, terrifying auras from the other shore leaked out from the crack.

“Found you!”

Suddenly, a cold voice came from the crack. Immediately after, a huge arm covered with scales poked out from the crack and grabbed Philip.

Its target was Philip!

Philip froze in place. He wanted to move, but the pressure from the sky prevented him from doing so. The aura of the emperor from the other shore locked onto Philip.

The old man snorted coldly, soared to the sky, and slashed his huge green sword at the giant claw that was grabbing Philip.

“How dare you target the future of my human race? I’ll get you!”

Rumble!

The green sword light bloomed like 10,000 rays of light and slashed on the huge claw. However, this time, the green sword light did not cut off the giant claw. Too much power of rules was intertwined on the giant claw, which resisted the green sword light!

The giant claw reached out for Philip again and said with a sneer, “As long as I crush you to death, this world can no longer compete with the other shore! Today, I’m going to break the rules of this world, sever this eternal cause and effect, and destroy the hopes of you humble humans!”

Chapter 2967

Philip stared with wide eyes at the huge claw that grabbed toward him. The claw was full of lightning and chaotic energy that was enough to kill any powerhouse at the peak of the seventh zone. Even a half-step to the other shore seemed very insignificant in the face of this giant claw. However, at this moment, the golden mark on Philip’s arm suddenly dazzled with a golden glow.

The little guy suddenly sprang out from Philip’s arm. With a golden body that looked like a lamb with two horns, it roared clearly. Then, with its horn, it butted the huge black claw!

One was the overwhelming black claw enough to kill anyone at the peak of the seventh zone. One was a little guy of the White Marsh royal family as small as an ant. There was no comparison between the two at all!

Just like a boat in the vast ocean, it was a suicide attempt!

However...

Boom!

The horns on the little guy's head actually burst out with dazzling energy that could compete with the sharp claw. The sharp claw was blasted out by the little guy.

"Royal White Marsh! Damn you!" The emperor in the sky roared angrily, "How dare the White Marsh family betray the other shore?! On behalf of the nine royal families, I'm going to kill you, this rebel!"

An angry roar! That imposing claw grabbed again!

The hunched old man shouted angrily at this moment, "How dare you?!"

Boom!

A soaring sword light split into three like three green peaks and slashed at the giant claws with dragon roars. The claw was cut and fell to the ground.

The emperor in the sky shouted angrily, "Damn you! I'm going to kill you!"

After that, the huge red eyeball wanted to break through that crack and was desperately trying to squeeze in.

The eyeball was bloodshot, and the black pupil rolled around like a wild beast. A huge head covered with the power of chaotic energy was about to poke through the crack.

Suddenly, another figure appeared. The aura of an emperor rippled. He wore a golden battle robe with a golden sword on his waist. He stood proudly in the sky and looked down on the world. He looked at the creature trying to break through the cracks and said solemnly, "Emperor of the other shore, you've crossed the line!"

Buzz!

As soon as he said that, the golden dragon sword on his waist soared to the sky, turned into a huge golden dragon, and slammed into the huge head covered with chaotic energy.

The head was blown back into the crack!

The emperor roared indignantly, "Why?! Why is there such a strong being in this abandoned world of yours? Damn it! How hateful!"

Immediately after, the imposing figure waved his hand, and the crack was immediately filled and repaired by the power of rules. That indignant roar became weaker and weaker before finally disappearing.

Everyone was shocked and looked up at the golden figure in the sky.

The old man immediately knelt and said, "I, Cody Crane, pay my respects to the Imperial Preceptor..."

The Imperial Preceptor! That was the Imperial Preceptor!

The Imperial Preceptor turned around and swept his eyes across everyone. He looked at Philip and said, "After everything is over, come to the Imperial Palace..."

With that said, the Imperial Preceptor disappeared again.

At this moment, Philip was still immersed in shock!

Cody Crane got up, looked at Philip, and said, "The space here is about to collapse. Come out with me!"

Everyone quickly followed Cody and left!

When Philip and the others came out, 100,000 soldiers were already gathered near the Mystic Cave.

Claus Motley and the others were already waiting at the door. They finally breathed a sigh of relief when they saw Philip and the others come out safe and sound.

"Mr. Crane," Claus greeted respectfully and was about to approach.

However, suddenly, Mystic Cave shook violently and a crack appeared in the sky.

A roar resounded throughout the world, "I refuse to accept this!"

Boom!

A black sharp sword shot out from the crack with destructive power and slashed at Philip!

"Philip! Watch out!" Layla Nolan rushed over and pushed Philip away.

Chapter 2968

This attack from the crack in the sky was extremely powerful, like a blow full of anger from a strong being.

Boom!

This black sword energy with terrifying power and mighty power of rules slashed at Philip from the crack in the sky/

At the scene, 100,000 guards were dumbfounded!

Claus and the others were also shocked by this huge aura. By the time they could react, the black sword energy was already less than an inch away from Philip. At that time, Philip felt that his whole body was engulfed by a huge pressure. He could not mobilize his power of the rule even if he wanted to. Even a powerhouse at the peak of the seventh zone would be reduced to ashes under this attack!

Claus was shocked and immediately countered with an attack at the black sword energy while shouting angrily, "Emperor of the other shore, you're crossing the line by force and destroying the future of the human race!"

The hunched old man also glared at the sky and immediately slashed out a green sword light that carried terrifying energy rules at the black sword light!

At the same time, he shouted angrily, "How dare you?!"

"Philip!" At the critical juncture, Layla rushed forward and pushed Philip away!

Boom!

This was an attack filled with anger from the emperor on the other shore that blasted Layla. She was sent flying dozens of meters away, and her body was covered in blood.

"Layla!" Philip shouted as his pupils constricted. He ran forward and grabbed Layla in his arms!

Layla was held in Philip's arms. She was covered in blood but forced a smile and said, "Philip, don't forget what you promised me..."

After saying this, Layla's breathing became very weak like a light that could extinguish at any time.

"How is she?"

Claus and Cody ran over, looked at Layla, and said anxiously, "It's not good. Her vital signs are getting weak. She needs immediate rescue!"

If not for the two attacks from Claus and Cody that had deflected most of the power of the black sword, this blow would have killed Layla in an instant.

"Send her to my residence. I have a doctor there," Claus said.

Philip had no time to think about it. First, he took out a pill from Layla's pocket from earlier and fed her one to maintain the weak vitality in Layla's body that could go out at any time. Then, Philip carried Layla and followed Claus to his residence.

“Uncle Samuel, what should we do? The secret treasure of the ancient sage is in Philip’s hands...” Standing on the far side, Hugh said angrily as he watched Philip leave with the seriously injured Layla in his arms.

Samuel frowned and said coldly, “No rush. Now that Layla is seriously injured, it’s the most beneficial to us! We need to call home immediately!”

After that, Samuel and the others found the opportunity to leave Mystic Cave. After the crowd dispersed, the guards remained.

Windsor Well stood on the spot, looked at Mystic Cave grimly, and said, “I missed this opportunity... I wonder when the next time will be...”

Chapter 2969

Back to Philip’s side. He carried Layla, who was covered in blood and breathing weakly, to Claus’ residence. Claus personally arranged for a famous doctor to treat Layla.

Philip and the others waited outside the door anxiously.

Claus walked up to Philip and said, “Young Patriarch Clarke, don’t worry. There’s no injury that Dr. Hoff can’t heal in this world. It just happens that I have some questions for you.”

Philip frowned and looked at Claus. Then, they walked to the garden.

Claus served Philip some tea and said, “Young Patriarch Clarke, do you know what happened in the outside world while you were having the challenge in Mystic Cave?”

Philip took a sip of tea and said, “Please speak your mind, Dragon King Motley.”

Claus still felt apprehensive as he sighed and said, “Mystic Cave is a passage that leads to the other shore. While you were having the challenge, a crack appeared in this passage, and many powerful beings from the other side kept attacking the crack in the passage, trying to force their way into this world...”

“100,000 guards of Mystic City have been deployed all around, and tens of thousands of disciples and special guards from Cochly Mountain joined the ranks. Even the four great supremes were urgently summoned to stand guard and prevent the massive invasion of creatures from the other shore. It can be said that our country nearly experienced a catastrophe that could’ve destroyed our civilization just now...”

Hearing this, Philip was shocked. He said, “Dragon King Motley, are you serious?”

Philip could already imagine the outcome if the passage had collapsed, allowing for the massive invasion of creatures from the other shore.

On the challenge ground, those extraterrestrial beasts from the other shore were extremely ferocious. They were definitely not something that the current human race could resist. Moreover, Philip had no idea what the strength of the emperor was just now.

“However, just as the crack was about to break, the passage was closed and the crack was mended.”

Claus said suddenly and looked at Philip. With doubts in his eyes, he asked, “Did you get the secret treasure of the ancient sage?”

Philip was startled before he smiled and said, “I got it...”

Claus nodded and said, “I guessed it right. It’s your luck to get the treasure. Maybe it’s all destined to be. Now, I want to find out what happened in the challenge ground that could force the powerful beings from the other shore back. Even the cracks were mended.”

After asking this question, Claus looked at Philip and waited for his answer.

Philip frowned and thought of the scene where the little guy on his arm resisted the emperor of the other shore.

Was it because of this little guy?

After that, the Imperial Preceptor showed up. Philip could not be certain and could only tell Claus about what happened.

After hearing the story, Claus was full of astonishment. He looked at the golden mark on Philip’s arm, shook his head, and said, “I didn’t expect that you to have the mark of the royal family from the other shore. This is incredible! This mark is filled with a supreme imperial aura! On the other shore, it’s the strongest royal family that ruled over a territory!”

Hearing Claus’ words, Philip quickly asked, “You seem quite familiar with the other shore?”

Claus smiled and turned around. He took out an ancient book from the inner hall, handed it to Philip, and said, “There’s a record in this book from Emperor Kai’s era, which recorded a bit of the terrain and layout of the other shore. According to rumors, Emperor Kai, the first emperor of all ages, once went to the other shore.”

Hiss!

Philip was filled with shock!

Emperor Kai had been to the other shore?! Unbelievable!

Claus continued, "Young Patriarch Clarke, now that the secret treasure of the ancient sage is in your hands, many people will want to get it. Why don't you stay here for the time being?"

Philip smiled and said, "I'll have to trouble you, then."

At this time, 17 trotted over and said, "Young Patriarch, Dr. Hoff is out."

Chapter 2970

Philip quickly rushed to the room. Layla lay on the bed, her face pale. Her breathing was still very weak. He walked over, looked at Layla's condition, and stroked her hair. Then, he got up, walked out of the room, and bowed to Dr. Hoff.

He said, "Dr. Hoff, how is my friend doing?"

The old man in front of him was talking to Claus. Seeing Philip, he smiled and said, "Young Patriarch Clarke, don't worry. Your friend is out of danger now. There's nothing serious, but..."

"But what?" Philip asked.

Dr. Hoff shook his head and said, "She seems to have a condition that I can't figure out. I've practiced medicine for decades, but I've never seen such a condition before."

"What condition?" Philip asked nervously.

Dr. Hoff said, "I'm sorry, but I can't tell. However, this condition can be both good and bad for your friend. The existence of this condition offsets the dead energy that ravages your friend's body. It's my first time seeing such a strange disease."

Hearing that, Philip frowned and asked, "What's bad about it, then?"

Dr. Hoff stroked his white beard and said with a sigh, "The downside is that your friend will feel cold all over her body every night of the full moon. If there are no special drugs and hot objects to resist the chills from her body, she'll freeze to death."

Hearing that, Philip frowned. This condition was very strange.

"Dr. Hoff, is there any way to treat it?" Philip asked.

Dr. Hoff shook his head and said, "This is the first time I've seen this condition in my life, and I don't have any treatment method. But please rest assured that I'll do my best to find a cure."

Philip bowed slightly to Dr. Hoff and said, "Thank you, Dr. Hoff..."

Soon, Dr. Hoff left. Philip returned to the room again and glanced at Layla lying on the bed.

Her breathing was weak, and her face was pale, but it was difficult to conceal her vibrant demeanor.

After sitting for a while, Philip left the room and sat with Fennel in the garden.

"How's Lord Ludo?" Fennel asked.

Philip answered, "She's okay for the time being. She just needs rest..."

The others nodded and Fennel said, "I just came back from outside. There are rumors that you've obtained the secret treasure of the ancient sage. Many people are already gathered outside the door, claiming that the ancient sage's secret treasure belongs to the world. They want you to take out the secret treasure and show it to everyone."

"Hmph! They must be dreaming! My young patriarch was the one who got hold of the secret treasure. What right do they have to look at it?" 17 huffed and said indignantly.
