

The First Heir Chapter 2984 - 2990

Chapter 2984

“Dragon King, are you sure you want to contact the Five Elements?”

The subordinate scowled and said with worry and tension, “Dragon King, we can’t pull our weight around them. Once we contact them and cause an irreversible situation, I’m afraid...”

Windsor snorted coldly, looked at the subordinate, and said coldly, “Are you telling me what to do?”

Thud!

The subordinate knelt and said with a bow, “I wouldn’t dare, but I’m worried that doing this will cause unnecessary trouble.”

Windsor sneered and said, “Trouble? Do you think there’s no trouble in Mystic City now? Once Philip brings the ancient sage’s secret treasure away, that’ll be big trouble! Immediately contact the Five Elements and tell them that I’d like to invite them to come out!”

Rumble!

Suddenly, on this bright and sunny day, dark clouds surged up in an instant as thunder boomed. On that day, heavy rain that had not been seen in the past six years fell!

There were almost no pedestrians on the street. Everyone stayed at home, looking at the pouring rain as if there was a hole in the sky.

Mystic City looked dark and eerie as it was shrouded in heavy rain.

Splash!

Rapid footsteps splashed in the puddles. Several people with big black umbrellas appeared at the entrance of Windsor’s manor.

There were five strange-looking people under five umbrellas with a mix of men and women of different shapes and sizes.

A middle-aged man in the middle wore a black suit and tie. He had an angular face and a flame tattoo at the corner of his eye. There was a faint searing look in his eyes. Two men stood on his left. One carried a big saber and had a sturdy figure. His hair hung loose, and he wore a tight-fitting green outfit. He seemingly came from the West. There was a tattoo of a saber on his arm, and his whole body exuded brute force.

A short man with dreadlocks stood on his right. He wore casual clothes with his hands behind his back. He had a hooked nose, a pair of slender hands, and a pattern of mountains on his right cheek.

On the right of the middle-aged man in the middle were a man and a woman. The woman had a sky-blue half-mask on her face and enticing almond-shaped eyes. She was wearing a light blue dress, and the rain seemed like it could not fall on her. There was a pattern of waves on the back of her hand.

An old man stood on the woman's left, looking like a wood statue that blended in with the environment. He had dark gray hair and a beard. His eyes were slightly narrowed, and there was a wood-like pattern below his eyes.

Chapter 2985

These five people appeared at the entrance of Windsor's manor and walked in without a sound.

Windsor had been waiting for them. At their arrival, he immediately stepped forward and said respectfully, "Five envoys, I really had no choice but to look for you at such short notice..."

The man in the middle glanced at Windsor and said, "Is the information you sent us true?"

Windsor nodded and said, "Absolutely! The ancient sage's secret treasure has been obtained by the young patriarch of the Clarke family. He'll leave with the secret treasure in a few days. I really had no choice but to ask for your help."

"Hmm... Hehehe..."

The skinny man shook his dreadlocks, took two steps forward, pointed at Windsor with his little finger, and said in a sharp voice, "Windsor Well, I'm warning you. Don't play any tricks in front of the five of us. You should know that members of the Five Elements will not interfere in the affairs of the secular world and disciples. If not for the secret treasure this time, we wouldn't have come. If your information is wrong, don't blame the Five Elements for coming after you!"

Windsor bowed and said to the man who was only as tall as his waist, "Lord Tudor, I wouldn't joke with you about the ancient sage's secret treasure. A viewing party of the treasure was just held last night, but the treasure seemed to acknowledge the young patriarch of the Clarke family only. No one else could approach it at all. Anyone who got near would lose their strength."

The old man on the far left had his eyes closed in rest. Hearing this, he opened his eyes slightly and said, "It should be some kind of seal enchantment."

Then, the man in the middle with the flame pattern at the corner of his eye said, "Very well then. Let's go and meet this Young Patriarch Clarke. Windsor Well, if the Five Elements obtain the secret treasure, all credit will go to you. If you need anything in the future, just come to me."

As he said that, the man took out a token shaped like a flame from his pocket and tossed it to Windsor. He said, "This is a Fire Token of the Fire Element. With this, members of the Fire Element will do one thing for you."

With that said, the man turned around and left. The five quickly left Windsor's manor.

Windsor stood in the hall looking at the pouring rain. His eyes became darker as he said, "Send people to keep watch. If anything happens, send someone to enter the venue immediately! If Philip wins, kill the people of the Five Elements! If the Five Elements win, send some elites to ambush them and get the secret treasure after they leave Mystic City!"

His subordinate immediately said, "My lord, this is a perfect example of coveting gains ahead and being unaware of the danger behind."

Windsor laughed and said, "The people of the Five Elements have been secluded for too long and don't know much about the world. Many things are beyond their control now. They've always thought that it was their duty to guard the Mirror Seal of the stargate and have never bothered about the outside world. This time, I'll be the person to lay the plan out."

Back to Philip's side.

At this moment, five figures approached Claus' manor in the rain.

Thunder rolled in the sky!

The guards at the gate saw the five uninvited guests who suddenly appeared and stopped them with guns. "Who are you? Leave quickly!"

However, before they got close to these five people, the falling rain turned into water spikes and pierced through the guards' bodies.

Thump!

In an instant, they fell into a pool of blood. Then, the five people walked past their corpses.

Thud, thud, thud!

In an instant, more than a dozen guards armed with guns rushed out of the door and shouted angrily at them, "Stop! Anyone who breaks into the Dragon King's manor will be killed on the spot!"

However, the five people did not stop.

Rat-tat-tat!

In an instant, a dozen guards fired. Rapid bullets were fired at the five people. However, a shield formed by rainwater appeared in front of them. All the bullets fired at the barrier and were engulfed by rainwater. Immediately after, those bullets turned directions and fired at the dozen guards at the door.

Chapter 2986

In a flash, all the guards fell into a pool of blood.

The woman in a blue mask said coldly, "Ignorant fools."

Then, the five walked into the manor in the rain, splashing water with every step. As they walked inside, Claus and several men were already waiting at the hall entrance.

Claus stood with his hands behind his back and looked at the five people who broke in. With a hint of coldness on the corner of his mouth, he said coldly, "The five of you came uninvited and killed my guards. Do you have any respect for me at all?"

The five people stopped and stood in the rain with their big black umbrellas.

The man in the middle with the flame pattern on his face sneered and said, "Dragon King Motley, how do you do?"

When Claus saw this man, he frowned with a trace of chill and worry. He said, "So it's you, Ignis!"

Then, Claus looked at the other four and said in turn, "Terra, Aqua, Aurum, and Lignum. So, it's the members of the Five Elements. I wonder what the five envoys are doing in my residence."

Ignis, with the flame pattern on his face, sneered and said, "Dragon King Motley, we're only here for the ancient sage's secret treasure. If you hand it over to us, we'll leave immediately."

Claus sneered and said, "I haven't seen the people of the Five Elements in the secular world for a long time. For the sake of the ancient sage's secret treasure, you actually dare to leave the Mirror Seal. This is considered leaving your post without permission. What will you do if your masters know about it?"

“Hahaha...” The burly man with a saber on his shoulders, Aurum, laughed and waved his saber, breaking the rain curtain.

He said coldly, “Dragon King Motley, it’s not your place to interfere in the affairs of the Five Elements! Don’t think you can speak to us like this just because you’re a little dragon king in Mystic City! Hand over the secret treasures of the ancient sage or I’ll massacre your whole manor!”

Swish!

With that said, the giant saber in his hand burst with a cold glint.

Claus scowled. He looked at the five people and made a rough estimate in his mind.

“The secret treasure of the ancient sage isn’t with me. You came here in vain,” Claus said coldly.

“Hehe, we know exactly where the treasure is. I hope you can invite him out. As long as you hand over the secret treasure, we’ll leave.”

The old man with his eyes closed said lightly at this moment without any emotion.

Claus’ face darkened and he said, “Lignum, the people of the wood element shouldn’t interfere in worldly affairs. Why are you involved in this?”

Lignum said indifferently, “The secret treasure of the ancient sage is a treasure that belongs to the world. Besides, it was rumored that obtaining the secret treasure of the ancient sage can help someone at the peak of the seventh zone to reach a half-step to the other shore. I’ve been stuck at this level for many years and really want to take a look at this treasure.”

After saying that, an aura exploded from Lignum, which enveloped the whole manor and made everyone apprehensive.

Claus scowled and said, “So, you’re already at the peak of the seventh zone. It’s no wonder that you dare to do this.”

Chapter 2987

Ignis lost his patience, and the flame pattern on his face slowly turned red. He said, “Dragon King Motley, we don’t have much time. Please take out the secret treasure of the ancient sage or we’ll begin our killing spree here!”

“How dare you?!” Claus snorted coldly and shouted, “If people of the Five Elements dare to cause harm to the world, we’ll not sit back and do nothing! Have you forgotten what happened back then?”

Ignis shouted angrily, "Hmph, that's all in the past! Today, the people of the Five Elements are no longer what we used to be. Claus Motley, I advise you to hand over the ancient sage's secret treasure and not cause trouble!"

After saying that, the flame pattern on Ignis' face became hotter, and his arms were slowly covered by flames. The scorching flames evaporated the rain around him.

Claus frowned and he said in surprise, "Have you reached the peak of the seventh zone?"

Ignis said coldly, "Just a bit more than that."

With that said, a flame figure was left on the spot while he threw a punch at Claus.

Claus raised his hand and slapped out a palm with tremendous energy and the power of rules.

Boom!

The fists collided, and terrifying energy fluctuations exploded.

Ignis stood on the spot, and a flaming giant behind him roared angrily.

Claus staggered back from the punch, and the men behind him jumped out quickly. They blocked in front of Claus and shouted, "Dragon King?"

Then, they quickly attacked Ignis!

Ignis sneered and raised his bands which were contorted like eagle claws. He grabbed the necks of two men as flames exploded from his arms.

"Argh!"

Puff!

The two turned into ashes before they could resist. Then, Ignis looked at Claus coldly and said, "Dragon King Motley, I'll give you one last chance."

Claus glowered as an aura burst from his body. He bellowed, "Let's see what the Five Elements can do!"

With that said, he threw a punch at Ignis.

Bang!

A fight broke out in a flash. Ignis' punches and kicks contained fire, and every attack caused people to tremble in fear.

Boom!

Ignis kicked Claus' stomach and sent him flying before he crashed heavily to the floor. A flaming spear appeared in his hand, and he stabbed Claus' shoulder.

He said coldly, "Claus, tell me where they are!"

Claus was injured all over, even his mouth was bleeding. He endured the burning pain in his shoulders and said, "Hehe, they left long ago."

Hearing this, Ignis' expression changed. He pulled out the flame spear from Claus' shoulder and stabbed him between his eyebrows. He said, "I'll send you on your way, then!"

However, suddenly, a thunderous roar was heard.

"If you dare to kill Dragon King Motley, I'll eradicate the Five Elements!"

Buzz!

It was followed by a huge sword formation in the sky!

It was followed by a huge sword formation in the sky. With tremendous sword energy, dozens of green swords appeared in the formation right above Ignis and the others!

Chapter 2988

Vast sword energy shrouded the entire area.

Ignis and the other four looked up at the sky.

"Is this Greenpeak Sword Formation?"

A hint of fear flashed in Lignum's eyes, but he quickly said, "This isn't Cody Crane's Greenpeak Sword Formation. It's less powerful compared to the real one!"

However, as soon as he finished speaking, the huge green sword formation began to rotate. One after another, the green swords fell from the sky within the dark green formation, shooting at Ignis and the others with golden flames.

"Retreat!" Ignis roared angrily, raised his hand, and blocked the attack with a fire phoenix barrier.

This huge fire phoenix barrier spread its wings that surged with fiery waves and roared. It soared to the sky at the huge Greenpeak Sword Formation!

Clang, clink!

One after another, green longswords pierced through the wings and body of the fire phoenix. However, the two competing forces offset the terrifying energy.

The sky was filled with disintegrating flames and green swords!

Ignis frowned and looked at the door.

A handsome and tall figure walked in with his hands behind his back. Every step seemed as if extremely sharp sword intent came from the soles of his feet.

Philip glanced at Claus who had fallen on one side. He looked at Ignis and the others coldly.

He said with a frown, "People from the Five Elements? It's my first time seeing you guys..."

Claus stood up, walked up to Philip, and whispered, "Young Patriarch Clarke, why did you come back?"

Philip replied, "I got a message that someone wants to kill me here. I thought that you may not be a match for them, so I came back. After all, you've taken care of me these few days. It's not appropriate for me to leave just like that."

Hearing that, Claus shook his head and said, "Young Patriarch Clarke, you're too reckless. People of the Five Elements are not to be messed with. It's a nuisance to be targeted by them. You shouldn't have come back..."

Philip smiled and looked at Claus' injuries. He took out the pill given by Layla and handed it to Claus.

He said, "This pill from Heavenly Court can heal your injuries."

Then, he asked, "I don't know much about people of the Five Elements. Tell me more details later."

Claus swallowed the pill and nodded.

After that, Philip looked coldly at the five. He took out the white jade box and said, "This is the secret treasure of the ancient sage. Come and take it if you can."

“Kid, how insolent of you!” Aurum shouted angrily, stomped on the floor, and slashed at Philip with his saber!

Philip stood on the spot, raised his hand, and waved it like a sword.

Buzz!

Green sword energy jumped out from behind Philip, spun in the air, and stabbed the burly man with the huge saber!

Chapter 2989

Clang!

Green sword energy slashed on the huge saber. Sparks flew and knocked the burly man back several steps.

Aurum roared angrily and shouted, “Hmph, this kid seems to have some skills! Old Beggar Crane actually taught you his Greenpeak Sword Formation! Interesting!”

“Watch out for my saber!” The burly man roared and slashed at Philip again.

The saber roared and pounced on Philip like a black tiger descending the mountain.

Philip’s face darkened as he drew something in the air with a finger. Green sword energy jumped into the air from behind him and stabbed Aurum. All the green sword energy stabbed the huge shadow of the saber.

Clink, Clang!

Metallic colliding sounds were endless. The green sword energy behind Philip stabbed at Aurum endlessly.

Aurum could not withstand the strong force and was constantly forced to retreat while slashing the saber in his hand.

Buzz!

Philip put his hands together in front of his chest and yanked them apart. A huge green sword shadow formed behind him and slashed at Aurum with terrifying sword energy.

Boom!

Aurum was sent flying out dozens of meters by this sword energy and slammed into a wall!

“I’m up next!” Suddenly, Lignum, who had his eyes closed in rest, stepped forward.

Things like branches grew out from beneath his soles, overturned the floor, turned into wooden spikes, and stabbed Philip.

Philip frowned and raised his hand. A green sword shadow appeared in his palm. He then jumped up and slashed at the wooden spikes with his green sword.

Lignum frowned and spread his arms. Plant energy exploded from his body as several branches twisted around to form a wooden dragon, which roared and pounced at Philip. This huge wood dragon hovered over the yard, opened its jaws, and launched wooden spikes at Philip like a rainstorm.

Seeing this, Philip stretched out his arms and slowly opened his palms. In an instant, a green sword formation appeared behind Philip's head. The formation constantly rotated. Green sword shadows with shocking sword energy dazzled in the formation.

Philip then raised his arms above his head and slashed down with both hands as he shouted angrily, "Slash!"

The huge green sword shadow slashed at the wooden dragon with monstrous sword intent. All the wooden spikes that stabbed at the green sword shadow were crushed!

Buzz!

The green sword shadow slashed on the wooden dragon's head and cut through to the tip of its tail. The whole wooden dragon was cut in half by the green sword in mid-air!

Boom!

Green sword energy and wood splinters exploded in the air!

Lignum spat out a mouthful of blood and staggered back before he could stabilize himself. He frowned as he stared at Philip and said, "Y-You actually have such strength!"

Philip's face was calm, and the imprint of the white snake and golden sword between his eyebrows grew brighter.

Ignis stood forward at this moment, and the flames on his body blazed!

He looked at Philip intently and said solemnly, "Young Patriarch Clarke, you have good skills. With your ability at this age, you have what it takes even among the Five Elements."

Philip looked at Ignis coldly and said, "I'm not familiar with the Five Elements, and I'm not interested to know who you are."

Ignis laughed and took a step forward. The flame pattern on his face immediately became extremely bright. Then, the flame pattern slowly extended from his face to his neck and all over his body.

Boom!

In an instant, flames exploded all over Ignis' body as his flame aura raged!

Chapter 2990

Rumble!

His body lowered as he stomped the ground with his flaming feet. In an instant, he blasted away like a rocket propeller. He rushed at Philip, spinning in midair with fire sparks. He punched out at Philip!

This speeding punch with rotating sparks exploded like a cannon and slammed at Philip with destructive force. At that moment, the whole yard was engulfed in this raging killing intent.

Philip frowned.

What a fast attack! What a powerful force!

With no time to dodge, he could only cross his arms over his chest reactively and form a chimera shield. However, Ignis' fiery punch shattered the shield in front of Philip. Immediately after, the huge impact exploded in front of the shield.

Boom!

A second impact exploded!

Like the impact from a huge cannon, Philip was blasted out of the yard. He smashed into walls and buildings outside the manor, even leaving a scorched trail hundreds of meters long on the ground.

It was just one hit!

The whole area shook as dust and smoke billowed. Fortunately, the rain was still pouring, and the flames in the blazing trail that was hundreds of meters long were extinguished.

Hundreds of meters away, a figure stood up shakily amid the smoke and rubble. Philip's body was charred, his skin was cracked, and his shirt was burned by the flames, revealing his strong physique.

The look of his body was heart-stopping. A pale golden color was jumping where his heart was. The golden pattern on his heart extended to his whole body and healed his injuries in an instant. After that, the golden pattern faded and Philip's injuries also disappeared.

He flexed his arms, his eyes gloomy and full of fighting intent. He stared intently in the direction of Claus' manor where a flaming man stood in the rainstorm.

Bang!

Ignis moved!

He lowered his body and quickly rushed toward Philip. At that moment, two fiery whips like snakes behind him grabbed two huge stone pillars nearby and slammed them at Philip.

Philip glanced over intently and took a deep breath. This was his first fight since yesterday. He wanted to test his strength since he had absorbed the fire energy stone and obtained the teachings of Cody Crane.

In a flash, Philip rushed out!

At that moment, the silver snake and golden sword mark between his eyebrows faded, replaced by a fire chimera mark. In an instant, Philip's whole body was covered by the flames of the fire chimera.
