

The First Heir Chapter 3051 - 3058

Chapter 3051

"We need to report this matter to the five marquises. The Imperial Preceptor is trying to weaken the power of Cochly Mountain by doing this."

"Commander Greene, say something!" A group of people said anxiously.

Owen said coldly, "Enough! Don't mention this again! Since the Imperial Preceptor has given the order, as subordinates, we need to obey orders!"

With that said, Owen waved his hand and left the meeting room.

On Derek's side, after he left the meeting room, he stood in the snow and smoked a cigarette. He exhaled a puff of smoke, glanced at the surrounding defensive power, and said, "The Cochly Mountain's defense is not bad. In the future, the Supernatural Bureau should follow this setup."

"Yes, Deputy Commander Pascal," a subordinate replied.

"By the way, how are things going?" Derek asked.

"According to the informant's report, the guardian maiden has entered Cochly Mountain with several people. The people of Cochly Mountain are looking everywhere for them, but there seem to be no signs of them yet," the subordinate replied.

Derek took a puff, and his eyes went dark. He said, "Interesting. The guardian maiden is an important symbol of Cochly Mountain, but she's so cautious about returning here. I'm afraid Cochly Mountain is more complicated than we thought."

"What should we do next?" the subordinate asked.

Derek thought for a while, looked at the snow-capped mountains in the distance, and said, "Send a few people to meet them and protect them. I want to find out who's trying to attack them."

"Yes, sir!"

Back to Philip's side. At this moment, they had crossed several snow-capped mountains, and during this time, several small fights broke out. They bumped into some patrol teams, but Philip and the others easily dealt with them.

However, what worried Philip and the others was that all the patrol teams they encountered wanted to take the guardian maiden for themselves.

“Philip, I feel that things are getting fishy. So far, all these people we met don’t seem quite right,” Fennel said coldly.

Philip stood behind a big rock and looked at the man-made main city that could already be seen in a corner in the distance.

He turned to Janike and asked, “Are you sure you have a high status in Cochly Mountain?”

Janike’s smile had already disappeared by now, and her expression was more closed off. She raised her pair of big eyes that had already lost all liveliness and said, “I don’t know.”

That was right. Along the way, everyone who Janike thought was going to take her back wanted to kill her in the end. Her pure heart had suffered a great blow!

Suddenly, there was a strong sound of airflow. Philip and the others looked up and saw three transport planes flying over their heads.

Boom!

Four burly men in armor fell from the sky, each two meters tall. They jumped from a height of 100 meters, landed in front of Philip and the others, and formed four deep pits on the ground!

They were here!

Chapter 3052

After these four tall and burly men landed on the ground, their icy gazes swept over Philip and the others.

Seeing the four guys who suddenly fell from the sky, Philip and the others got ready to fight. That was because the other party’s strength was not low. They were at least disciples from the sixth zone. The man in the lead even had the strength of the seventh zone.

These four burly guys wore black steel armor, and their bulging muscles were exposed in the cold air.

All of them held weapons, and the man in the lead had a giant sword emblazoned on his chest. His gloomy eyes swept across Philip and the others before he looked at Janike and said in a hoarse, low voice, “Guardian Maiden, come with us!”

Janike stood behind Philip and the others with Beelzebub in her arms. With struggle and hesitation in her eyes, she finally shook her head and said, “I won’t go back with you. I want to follow them.”

The leader held a huge sword in his hand.

He frowned, looked coldly at Philip and the others, and said, "In that case, all of you will come with us too."

After saying that, the man swept his giant sword over Philip and the others with a strong gust of wind that stirred up the snowflakes!

Boom!

The other party sprang into action. With strong explosive power in his legs, he jumped into the air, raised the giant sword high in the air, and slashed at Philip and the others.

Philip frowned, raised his hand, and punched his chimera fist at the man in the air!

Bang!

An explosive bang!

The red flaming chimera fist collided with the burly man's giant sword and created a terrifying energy vortex!

Whoosh!

In an instant, this strong impact shook off all the snow on the surrounding trees. At the same time, an energy vortex spread all around and formed a huge circle on the snowy ground.

The burly man flipped over in mid-air and landed steadily.

A cold look flashed from the corner of his eyes and he said, "Not bad! I didn't expect you to have such strength..."

Philip's face darkened, and the flame on his fist slowly dissipated.

He stated at the four guys and asked, "Whose people are you?"

The leader waved the giant sword in his hand, and a circle of sword energy stirred up again. He said, "A dead person has no right to ask questions."

After that, he leaned over and charged again. The giant sword in his hand slashed at Philip with terrifying energy fluctuations and destructive power. The other three men behind him also took action immediately, attacking Fennel and the others!

In an instant, several battles broke out in this area.

Philip raised his hand, and the imprint of the golden sword and the silver snake appeared between his eyebrows. A snow sword formed by snowflakes appeared in his hand, and he slashed a white sword light at the burly man!

Clang!

The giant sword collided with the white sword light, and the sound spread several miles.

The burly man's offensive continued unabated. With a giant sword in his hand, a wave of swords slashed out at Philip. This sword wave with tremendous sword energy stirred up the snowflakes on the ground and the sky like an avalanche that wanted to engulf Philip.

"You're courting death!"

Chapter 3053

The burly man bellowed angrily.

Philip frowned and backed away. At the same time, he pointed the snow sword in his hand to the sky, where a white sword formation suddenly appeared.

The drifting snowflakes froze in the sword formation and merged into snow swords. With destructive sword intent, the swords pierced through the air and stabbed the man on the ground like missiles!

Buzz!

One after another, the white snow sword energy blasted at the burly man's attack!

Boom!

In an instant, a terrifying energy vortex storm engulfed this area. Snowflakes danced in the air, and the cold wind felt like small knives cutting the skin.

Philip's eyes were filled with snowflakes, and he could not see the surroundings at all.

The burly man also disappeared from his sight.

Philip stood on the spot with the snow sword in his hand. His eyes became abnormally sharp as he searched for the burly man in the snow.

Bang!

Suddenly, a figure as strong as a mountain with a giant sword fell from above his head. The giant sword slashed Philip's head, wanting to cut it off!

“Invaders of Cochly Mountain shall die!” The burly man’s furious shout was drowned out by the snow.

Philip raised his eyebrows and slashed the snow sword in his hand to the sky. A sword shadow of a white lotus with raging energy pressure slammed toward the man who fell from the sky.

When the burly man saw this, the corners of his eyes were cold, and his figure suddenly stopped in mid-air.

By using the gravity of the giant sword, he flew out several meters and avoided the white lotus sword shadow unleashed by Philip!

Buzz!

The white lotus sword shadow bloomed in the sky with a raging storm of sword energy and engulfed the snow and wind all around. Instantly, the sky returned to clarity.

Philip stared coldly at the burly man standing a dozen meters in front of him.

The other party also looked at Philip and said with a sneer, “You’re the strongest opponent I’ve ever met, but you have no chance of surviving.”

Philip snorted coldly and said, “Oh, really? Let’s see how strong the people of Cochly Mountain are.”

“Hahaha!”

The burly man stuck the giant sword in his hand into the snow and said coldly, “I know where you come from, and I’ve heard many things about you. You may have a distinguished status in the outside world, but everyone is the same in Cochly Mountain. No one can do anything to me if I kill you here. This is the law of survival in Cochly Mountain. Only the strong will have the right to speak.”

Hearing this, Philip frowned.

The other party knew his identity, but even so, he wanted to kill Philip.

Who was the person behind him?

Seeing Philip’s puzzled face, the burly man smiled coldly and said, “You must be wondering who the person behind me is and why he’s so bold.”

Philip did not speak, but his eyes said everything.

The burly man clenched his fists, pulled his giant sword out, and waved a blast of raging sword energy.

He said, "So what if you find out? You're still going to turn into a corpse in this land of ice."

Hearing this, Philip laughed and asked, "Are you so sure that you can kill me?"

The burly man raised his eyebrows and said, "I've read all your battle statistics, and I've also fought against your combat skills and offensive methods in the training room hundreds of times. To be honest, you're very strong. After a few hundred times, I could only beat you dozens of times. But even so, I finally found the one method to beat you every single time."

Chapter 3054

Hearing the burly man's words, Philip's face grew darker and darker. The other party seemed very confident.

"By the way, before you die, I want to tell you that my name is Reynold. I hope you remember my name."

The burly man sneered maliciously, and killing intent filled his eyes.

Boom!

Reynold suddenly jumped up, and the giant sword in his hand slashed at Philip with a sword intent 10 times stronger than before.

Philip jumped back, and the huge sword intent cut a huge crack where he was standing.

Rumble!

The cliff was cut off, and the huge stone rolled from the top of the mountain, causing an avalanche. Reynold turned sideways and slashed out at Philip again.

"One sword flattens the mountains and rivers!" Reynold roared as strong killing intent radiated from his giant sword!

Philip's eyes were cold, and his eyelids jumped. The other party's attack method suddenly became very strong and full of explosive power.

Philip quickly evaded and punched out at the same time. A flaming chimera burst out with a roar and slammed into Reynold. However, Reynold seemed well prepared.

The moment he saw Philip's chimera fist, he lowered his body, and his feet stomped on the ground. He jumped into the air above Philip's head and slashed down with his giant sword.

"Your fist technique completely overlooks attacks from the air!" Reynold sneered as his sword fell!

Philip frowned with shock on his face. He had no time to dodge at all. He crossed his arms in front of him as chimera armor appeared on his arms.

Clang!

The giant sword fell on the chimera armor on Philip's arms. Flames burst and knocked Philip back dozens of meters, leaving a long imprint in the snow.

"What a quick attack!"

Philip steadied his body, and his eyes turned cold as he stared intently at Reynold carrying the giant sword in front of him.

The other party really knew his attack methods like the back of his hand.

"Stop struggling. I know exactly what your next attacks will be and how to deal with them," Reynold said with a sneer, seemingly confident of his win.

Philip's eyes froze, then his mouth curled into a sneer. He said, "Are you sure you can beat me?"

Hearing that, Reynold's eyes turned cold, and the aura on his body became much sharper. He said, "Since you want to die, I'll grant your wish!"

With that said, Reynold attacked again, and the giant sword's attack methods changed rapidly. After that, the other party seemed to anticipate Philip's every attack and could avoid all his moves accurately while also carrying out the next attack.

Philip was beaten down and quickly fell into a passive state. The fight continued for half an hour, and the entire cliff was smashed by Philip and Reynold!

Boom!

Reynold kicked out and sent Philip flying. He slammed into a stone wall.

Bang!

The stone wall cracked and exploded.

Philip's arms and head drooped, and his arms and forehead were full of blood.

Chapter 3055

Reynold stood in the distance, the giant sword dragging a long mark in the snow. He looked at Philip who was covered in injuries and said, "Young Patriarch Clarke, as I said, I've found the method to defeat you. Your meaningless struggles are futile. In my eyes, you're already dead. The only reason I'm fighting you is to verify the method I found."

With that said, Reynold was already standing less than two meters away from Philip.

He raised the giant sword in his hand and said, "Let me take your head now!"

Whoosh!

With a gust of wind, the giant sword slashed at Philip's head!

Clang!

However, suddenly, a shocking change happened. A hand covered in blood grabbed Reynold's sword blade.

Reynold was shocked at this sight. He frowned and said coldly, "Do you still want to resist?"

Philip's head was lowered as one hand was raised to his ear, firmly grasping the blade of the giant sword.

He said in a low voice, "You know my attack methods well, but what about its attack methods?"

Hearing this, Reynold frowned, his eyes full of astonishment. He said, "Who?"

Then, to Reynold's surprise, Philip's palm burst into flames, which quickly spread to his whole body. In a split second, Philip was covered in flames!

Boom!

The raging power of flames formed a huge fireball that blasted Reynold hundreds of meters away.

Reynold's face was full of horror as he stared with wide eyes at Philip who was covered in flames. No, to be precise, Philip had turned into a humanoid chimera!

The mark of the flame chimera dazzled between his eyebrows. The flames on his head looked more like a chimera head, and the flames on his limbs contained heart-pounding energy fluctuations!

Boom!

Suddenly, Philip transformed into a streak of red in Reynold's eyes that came straight at him.

Bang!

A punch blasted at Reynold.

Reynold blocked the attack with the giant sword in his hand in an instant!

Clang!

The punch blasted the giant sword with a loud clang and sent the human and sword flying dozens of meters away.

Sizzle!

The giant sword instantly turned red and so hot that Reynold had to let go. However, in the next second, Philip's flying kick arrived. This flying kick, with a sharp whistle through the air, roared like a chimera!

Boom!

Reynold could not resist at all. He was kicked, flew out for dozens of meters, and slammed into a stone wall with a bang. The stone wall cracked and shattered.

Whoosh!

Philip raised his hand and shot two flame ropes from his arms, which uprooted the two trees nearby. He then smashed them heavily at Reynold.

Reynold was furious and roared. His fists exploded with domineering energy as he punched the two incoming trees into pieces.

However...

Swoosh!

A flaming chimera man swirled down from the sky with a wave of flames and slammed into Reynold on the ground.

Reynold looked up at the sky full of flames that looked like a fire phoenix soaring through the air.

What a view!

Boom!

Reynold had no time to react before he was engulfed by the sky full of flames. In an instant, a sea of flames raged, and the pressure spread to the surroundings.

Looking down from a high altitude, the whole area was full of flames like a blooming fire lotus. After the flames dissipated, a charred figure roared into the sky. Green lines suddenly appeared on his skin.

Boom!

In an instant, Reynold's body tripled in size. He looked like a raging black bear that was roaring and baring its fangs at Philip!

Chapter 3056

Reynold suddenly turned into a raging black bear, which Philip did not expect. He stood on the spot, all covered in flames. His red eyes stared suspiciously at the black bear waving its huge claws and coming at him.

Bang!

One claw swiped out and sent Philip flying. He knocked down several big trees before he could steady himself. The black bear roared with the power of lightning gushing from its mouth at Philip!

Crackle!

The power of this black lightning that filled the sky engulfed Philip like a waterfall of lightning nets.

Philip was in the form of a humanoid chimera at this moment. Facing this lightning net, he threw a few punches and blasted a hole out. He then quickly jumped out of the lightning net, his eyes full of anger.

He raised his hand, which turned into thousands of flaming fist shadows. They formed a rain of punches that blasted at the huge black bear!

Rumble!

Numerous flaming fist shadows engulfed the black bear in an instant.

Roar!

Roars filled the air. The black bear had tough skin and withstood the attacks. With four limbs on the ground, it bared its fangs angrily and charged toward Philip.

Philip raised his hand, and his fists collided with the black bear's front paws. They grappled with each other. In an instant, the two fought with brute force.

The black bear roared and knocked Philip back with its brute force alone!

The flames on Philip's body skyrocketed at this moment, and he exerted force. He quickly pushed the huge black bear and started running before he grabbed the bear's forelimbs and threw it away.

Boom!

This huge black bear slammed into the mountain wall and caused the entire snow-capped mountain to shake. Upon seeing the fierce battle here, several fights in the distance became more heated!

When Reynold slid down from the mountain wall, his figure instantly returned to normal, and wounds littered all over his body.

His eyes were full of astonishment as he stared at Philip who was covered in flames in the distance. He wiped the blood from the corner of his mouth, glanced at his buddies fighting in the distance, and made an instant decision.

He turned in retreat and shouted, "Retreat!"

In an instant, the wind picked up. The four burly men retreated at the same time.

Philip stood on the top of the mountain and looked at Reynold as they ran away. The flames on his body slowly subsided, revealing his true body.

Thump!

Philip's knees went weak, and he knelt in the snow, gasping for breath.

Fennel and the others quickly rushed over. Seeing Philip's current state, everyone was anxious.

"How are you?" Fennel asked with concern.

Philip shook his head, lay on his back, gasped for breath, and said, "I just need a few minutes..."

After half a day, the sky darkened. Philip and the others had rested enough. They traveled another few kilometers before finding a spot to camp out.

At night, the weather in Cochly Mountain became unpredictable. The snow and wind became scarier at night.

Outside the tent, the wind howled, and the occasional low roar of beasts could be heard.

Philip and Fennel shared a tent, while 17 and Janike shared another. The remaining members of the Shadow Guards shared a tent. Everyone took turns on guard duty at night.

“What do you think of the happenings during the day?” Philip asked.

Chapter 3057

Fennel frowned and said, “It’s difficult to say. Among the forces in Cochly Mountain, it’s not that easy to deploy so many experts at once. Moreover, the other party’s targets are you and Janike.”

“You have no contact with Cochly Mountain, so it doesn’t make sense for so many people to come after you. Even if there were, it should only be those few.”

“Which ones?” Philip asked.

“First, the Lovelace family. They know you’re here and want to kill you, but that doesn’t match up with the message Wynn left you earlier. I don’t think the Lovelace family wants to kill you but to use you to achieve their ulterior motives instead...”

“Second, the people from the Nonagon. You have a grudge against Cooper Berry, so his intent to kill you is greater...”

“Third...” Fennel did not continue but frowned.

Philip’s face darkened and said, “Who’s the third?”

Fennel said, “This is the last thing I want. Someone in Cochly Mountain wants you dead. If that’s the case, it means that someone in Cochly Mountain has already collaborated with the enemy, or those lurking in the dark may not be one of our kind...”

Hiss!

Hearing this, Philip frowned. He shared the same thought. If that was really the case, things would be much trickier.

That was because it would mean that there were foreign enemies within Cochly Mountain, or there was an enemy who might be the same as Fitzgerald Hale, from the other shore. The latter was the last thing that Philip wanted to see.

If the last possibility was the case, this problem would be huge.

It meant that more existences from the other shore were hiding in this world, plotting some scheme that was enough to wreak havoc on the human race.

“I thought of this too, but What do you think are the chances?” Philip’s eyes darkened.

Fennel shook his head and said, “I can’t say for sure, but this situation isn’t impossible. With Fitzgerald Hale as an example, the probability of other existences from the other shore in this world has increased dramatically. We can only confirm our speculations when we enter the main city.”

Philip nodded.

The next day.

Philip and his party crossed the vast snow-capped mountains and finally arrived at the main city. Outside the main city gate, Commander Greene and the five marquises were already waiting for them.

When Philip and the others finally appeared, the five marquises smiled and said, “We’ve been waiting for a day.”

Philip stepped forward and said, “Gentlemen, we meet again.”

The five marquises smiled and said, “Please dispense with the formalities, Young Patriarch Clarke.”

After saying that, they looked at Janike behind Philip and said, “You’re too reckless. Your sudden departure has almost caused a catastrophe. Do you know that?”

Janike looked aggrieved, stepped forward, and said, “Grandpas, I’m back now, aren’t I?”

The five marquises looked at Janike dotingly and said to Philip and the others, “Follow us into the city. You’re safe here.”

Philip smiled and glanced at Fennel.

He was confused. He thought it would be very difficult to enter the city, but now it seemed that the five marquises had been waiting for them.

Fennel shook his head, indicating to Philip not to alert the enemy.

Soon, they entered the city.

The main city of Cochly Mountain was not that big, with only several office buildings and facilities. There were some guards stationed nearby, and a few advanced combat weapons. There were dozens of building facilities, restaurants and bistros, and several recreational facilities that could be considered quite complete.

After the five marquises brought Philip and the others into the main city, there was no mention of the previous assassination attempts at all as if they did not know about it.

They followed the five marquises and watched as Janike entered an office building.

“Philip, I’ll look for you in a few days,” Janike reluctantly waved at Philip and the others before she turned around and followed the staff in.

At the door, aside from Philip and the others, only Owen Greene and some of his guards remained.

The five marquises had already left. After all, they had more important things to do than entertain Philip.

“Young Patriarch Clarke, we’ve made your lodging arrangements. Please come with me,” Owen said with a smile.

Philip nodded and followed Owen to a nearby training camp. Before entering, they felt the indifference and killing intent of everyone in this training camp.

Chapter 3058

|

Philip and the others looked over and found that most people in the training camp were disciples. They had arrogance and disdain written all over their faces. Philip also felt powerful energy fluctuations and the power of rules from them.

The disciples of Cochly Mountain in this training camp were not simple.

The murderous and fierce aura exuded from them seemed as if they had just experienced a bloody battle. The weakest person had the strength of the fourth zone.

Philip and the others followed Owen inside.

Seeing Owen, the disciples bowed slightly and greeted him.

Owen merely nodded with his hands behind his back. He led Philip and the others inside.

As they passed through the training grounds of the training camp, Owen introduced as he walked, "These are disciples on rotational duty at the stargate. All of them are brave and good at fighting, but as you can see, they're unwilling to concede to anyone. I hope you guys can interact with them more in the future."

Philip frowned but said in response, "Thank you, Commander Greene."

Owen turned around, stopped, looked at Philip, and grinned. He pointed to a small building next to him and said, "Young Patriarch Clarke, this is where you'll stay from now on. This is Cochly Mountain, and the conditions can't be compared to the outside world, so I hope you can consider that. If you're not used to the living conditions or lack any living supplies, please come to me at any time..."

Philip turned his head and looked at the building next to him. It was a simple dormitory that could accommodate eight people.

"Thank you, Commander Greene," Philip said.

Owen smiled, stepped forward, looked at Philip earnestly, and said, "Young Patriarch Clarke, I hope you can obey the rules here. I know that you have a special status, and maybe no one dares to do anything to you in the outside world, but here, even a small guard has the right to act first and think later..."

"So don't challenge the laws of Cochly Mountain and don't mess with those people without reason. If you run into any trouble, feel free to come to me and I'll take care of it for you."

"Thanks for your reminder, Commander Greene," Philip smiled.

Owen nodded and turned to leave. However, he suddenly turned around and said to them, "Have you crossed paths with Reynold?"

Hearing this, Philip scowled and asked coldly, "Do you know Reynold, Commander Greene?"

Owen said with a smile, "Of course. He's a battle maniac, but he's not one of mine. If he has approached you, I'd advise you to be careful."

After saying this, Owen left.

They stood at the door of the dormitory, and Philip's eyes gradually became cold and gloomy.

“What do you think?” Philip asked.

Fennel’s eyes were cold and stern, and he said, “Don’t do anything for now. We just arrived, so it’s better to keep a low profile. Besides, I think we’ve offended quite a few people.”

While he said this, several disciples guarding the stargate swaggered over within their line of sight.

“Hey, newbies, I heard that you defeated Reynold. Is that true?”

The leader was a bald man. Even in this snowy land, the other party only wore a singlet as if the cold did not affect him. He was followed by four men with cold faces.
