

The First Heir Chapter 3076 - 3080

Chapter 3076

Philip could not figure out Marquis Fulmore's meaning, but he followed Marquis Fulmore's subordinates to the vicinity of Death Canyon.

Death Canyon was still heavily guarded, and it was almost impossible to breach unless done by a half step to the other shore. The stargate was located right behind Death Canyon.

After a rigorous inspection, Philip followed Marquis Fulmore's subordinates and crossed Death Canyon.

This canyon was hundreds of meters long, very deep and secluded.

The cliffs and snowcapped mountains on both sides towered into the clouds.

The clouds in the sky were thick and gloomy, like a surging layer of heavy demonic clouds, which struck panic and fear in people's hearts.

Following the guards in front and crossing the canyon, the world in front of Philip changed. It was a vast barren land that covered an area of tens of thousands of square meters.

This place was full of broken walls and ruins.

An old altar stood in the middle of this barren and open area, full of profound and mysterious symbols on it. Dozens of chains ran through the altar as if locking something underneath.

In the seven directions of this open area, seven portals led to seven different places.

Was this the area around the stargate?

Were those the seven doors that led to the first zone through to the seventh zone?

Philip stood on the spot, his expression grave and his eyes full of shock. He finally laid eyes on it.

"Young Patriarch Clarke, please come with us," the guard in front bowed slightly and said.

Then, the guards led Philip through this place, bypassed the side of the altar, and walked toward one of the portals.

As soon as he approached, Philip felt the frightening wave of terrifying energy fluctuations and the power of rules coming from the stone door in front of him.

The guards who led the way took out something that looked like a silver card and scanned it in a groove on the side of the stone door. The door then opened.

Philip followed the guards through the stone door. Everything in front of him suddenly changed. Behind the stone door was a world of its own, not the barren land like before.

The place in front of him looked like a small city built on a mountain. It was more like an underground city. An endless stream of guards and disciples performed their individual duties.

A circular LCD screen stood in the center with many names displayed on the screen. Some statistics were marked behind those names, displaying their strength and fight records at the stargate training ground.

Many passages could be found nearby with an indoor space on both sides of the passages. Inside these rooms that were about ten square meters in size, most of them were filled with people doing special training. There was also a place for rest and relaxation nearby, and even several entertainment facilities.

“Young Patriarch Clarke, this is the fourth zone,” The guard who led the way introduced the place to Philip at this moment.

The fourth zone?

Philip frowned. No wonder he felt that the strength of these people was around the fourth zone.

Was this what each zone looked like?

Soon, Philip followed the guard and came to a very large space in the depths.

The door was knocked on.

Chapter 3077

“Coming..”

It was Janike’s voice.

Soon, the door opened, and a cute little face full of smiles appeared in front of Philip.

“Hey, Philip, you’re here. Come in quickly.” Janike was very happy upon seeing Philip.

She grabbed his arm and pulled him into the room.

Philip walked in and glanced around. The room was about 100 square meters, and it was the largest room he had seen so far. It was decorated according to the tastes of a little girl, full of pink furnishings.

Blackie was also there, standing haughtily on a shelf. It stared at Philip with narrowed eyes. Then, it jumped down and circled Philip while sniffing him. After that, Blackie sat down, grumbled to Janike, and made some gestures.

Janike blinked her twinkling big eyes.

Philip frowned upon seeing this and asked, "Is it saying something bad about me?"

Janike said, "Philip, Blackie said that it senses a familiar smell on you. It tried to kill us before."

Hearing that, Philip's face darkened.

Someone who tried to kill Janike and Blackie could only be from the Heavenly Court. When he entered the fourth zone just now, he bumped into many people. In other words, he had made contact with someone from the Heavenly Court without his knowledge.

However, if the other party was here, how did Blackie not realize it before?

Could it be that this person was not here but outside?

Reynold? Angus Carroll?

"Ask this little guy what the strength of this person is," Philip said.

Janike nodded and gestured to Blackie.

Blackie also grunted, stood up, and gestured.

"Blackie said that the other party is very strong, stronger than you," Janike replied.

Hearing this, Philip was almost certain that the other party was Angus Carroll! It could only be him!

After a moment of silence, Philip asked, "Why are you looking for me?"

Janike quickly pulled Philip's arm, sat on the sofa, and said, "I'm bored and want some company."

"Is that it?" Philip asked.

Janike pouted and said, "Yes, what's wrong?"

Philip shook his head in exasperation and said, "I have other things to do. I'll accompany you next time. I'll take my leave for today. "

With that said, Philip stood up and was about to leave.

Janike's eyes were full of tears as she said with a sob, "You don't want to keep me company either?"

Hearing her sobs, Philip was flustered. He turned his head and said, "Why are you crying?"

Janike pouted and said, "I just want to talk to you. No one wants to talk to me."

Blackie jumped into Janike's arms and kept rubbing its head against Janike as if to comfort her.

Seeing this scene, Philip sighed helplessly and said, "Well, I'll accompany you for a while, but I have to leave soon..."

"Oh, okay," Janike immediately stopped crying and smiled instead.

She stared at Philip with bright and happy eyes. After that, Philip became a nanny.

Much later, Janike suddenly thought of something and said, "Philip, hold on. I have something for you..."

Philip frowned and watched as Janike rummaged through the cabinets before finally finding an exquisite small box.

"What is this?" Philip asked with a frown.

The small box in his hand was more like something for girls. It was very exquisite with a pattern of a golden phoenix.

Janike shook her head and said, "I don't know. It was left to me by the previous guardian maiden. She said that this thing will always be left to the next guardian maiden until she meets someone from the Clarke family..."

"Someone from the Clarke family?" Philip was even more puzzled.

Chapter 3078

Looking at the delicate little box in his hand, Philip was silent for a moment before he opened the box.

There was a stone key with a special engraving inside. Under the key, there was a note. Philip opened the note and was shocked when he saw the content!

It was left by his mother!

[Phil, when you receive this stone key, it means that you've entered Cochly Mountain and approached the stargate. The journey through the stargate is extraordinary. The stone key is the key to opening the passage. You have to keep it safe and wait until the brink of crisis before using it. Phil, if you cross the stargate and enter the other shore one day, remember my words. Be careful with everything. My good boy, I'll always be proud of you.]

The content was very brief, but Philip's hands trembled, and his eyes were blurry upon reading it.

It was something his mother left behind.

The stone key was actually the key to the passage in the Larson family's secret vault. In other words, this was what his mother left behind in the sixth zone of Cochly Mountain.

"Philip, what's wrong?" Janike felt like crying when she saw Philip's expression.

Philip closed his eyes, forced a smile, and said, "I'm fine... Janike, has this thing always been passed down by the guardian maidens?"

Janike nodded seriously and said, "Yes, the previous guardian maiden left it to me and told me to give it to a Clarke family member. Grandpa Fulmore told me that you're the person I've been waiting for, so I gave it to you..."

Philip was silent and glanced at the stone key in his hand.

This was the key to the other shore.

It was another passage that did not go through the stargate. This matter was very unusual, indeed.

If other forces found out that he had obtained the key to the passage of the Larson family's secret vault, it would definitely cause chaos. He had the key now, but he had no idea where the passage was.

After putting away the key, Philip held the delicate little box in his hand, which was left behind by his mother. A while later, Philip decided to leave.

Janike looked at Philip reluctantly and said, "Philip, remember to visit me again..."

Philip smiled, waved at Janike, and said, "Of course!"

When Philip was about to leave, the little Beelzebub rushed out, blocked Philip's way, and kept gesturing and grumbling.

Philip looked at Janike.

She then picked Blackie up and said, "Blackie said that it sensed something familiar on you. It wants to see it."

Philip frowned and took out the ancient sage's secret treasure from his pocket, the white jade box.

When Blackie saw the white jade box, it became very cautious but excited. It kept sniffing the white jade box, then suddenly slapped it with a paw!

Boom!

The white jade box dazzled brightly, and a white three-headed snake suddenly sprang out of the white jade box. It hissed fiercely and stared at Blackie warily.

Blackie growled with a fierce light in its eyes and pounced on the three-headed snake.

The three-headed snake was instantly suppressed and trembled violently. Then, it charged toward Philip and penetrated his body all of a sudden, leaving a mark of a three-headed snake on his chest.

Chapter 3079

Philip came back to his senses and stared at his chest in disbelief.

This ancient sage's secret treasure had never acknowledged him. Although he could bring it around freely, it was also because he had Emperor Kai's Token with him. Now, under Blackie's intimidation, this little thing had finally acknowledged Philip as its master.

Then, Blackie bared its fangs and circled Philip. It sat on the floor and jerked its head up at Philip as if showing off.

Philip smiled and said, "Thank you, little one..."

With that said, Philip turned around and left.

After Philip left the Death Canyon, he finally looked back. That altar gave Philip a very uneasy feeling.

After returning to the dormitory of the training camp, Fennel and the others also returned with no serious problems. The doctors of Cochly Mountain and those special drugs healed them very quickly.

"You're back... I heard that you went near the stargate. What did you see?" Fennel asked.

Philip told Fennel what he saw. Fennel nodded and said with a frown, "It's not much different from before. A space lies behind each stone door, which is where each zone is located for the disciples to carry out their daily training..."

"Due to the influence of the stargate, the energy and rules of each zone fluctuate differently. The closer to the stargate, the stronger the power of energy and rules. However, that place isn't where the stargate is. The real stargate should be under the altar. There's a very vast space below that."

Fennel told Philip about his previous experience, and this chat lasted the entire night.

The next day, Philip finally had an understanding of the stargate and the division of the zones.

After a small break, Philip and the others decided to walk around Cochly Mountain. Not long after they went out, they bumped into strict guards who kept checking their identities.

"What's going on?" Fennel asked with a frown.

Philip chuckled and said, "It seems that someone doesn't want us to go out and move around."

"Who?" Fennel asked.

Philip shook his head and said, "I'm not sure, but I do have some people in mind. In that case, let's go back."

Half a day passed since Philip and the others returned to the dormitory. At this moment, several guards suddenly walked in and said, "Who's Philip Clarke?"

Philip sat up from the bed, put away the box in his hand left by his mother, and said, "I am..."

The guards glanced at him and said, "Come with us. Someone wants to see you."

"See me? Who?" Philip frowned, somewhat puzzled.

Did anyone in Cochly Mountain know him?

"Cut the crap and just come with us," The guards seemed very impatient and did not take Philip seriously.

Helpless, Philip had no choice but to follow them. There were several snow jeeps at the door.

After getting in one of the vehicles, they passed through several defense checkpoints, left the main city of Cochly Mountain, and entered a snowfield.

As Philip sat in the car, his face became very serious as he asked, "Where are we going?"

The driver did not answer.

After driving for another 10 minutes, they came to a snow-capped mountain, and the car stopped at the entrance of a cave. The cave was heavily guarded.

After getting out of the car, Philip followed a few guards and entered the cave that was more than met the eye.

Philip looked around. When he saw the graceful back in front of him, he froze in place.

"Wynn?!"

Chapter 3080

Philip was too familiar with this silhouette which had appeared in his dreams countless times. It was Wynn Johnston, his wife!

Philip walked over quickly and shouted, "Wynnie, is that you?"

The graceful woman turned around with a gentle smile on her lips.

She looked at Philip in front of her with tears in her eyes and said, "Philip, it's been a long time..."

The moment Philip saw Wynn, he hugged her tightly and said, "Wynnie, promise me, don't leave me again!"

Wynn nodded in Philip's arms and replied, "Okay, I promise..."

At this moment, everything else in this world was not as important as Wynn in Philip's arms. He had looked forward to finding Wynn countless times, and his wish came true at last.

"Wynnie, what's going on here? Don't you have amnesia? Why are you here?"

Philip had endless questions and asked anxiously at this moment.

Wynn touched Philip's cheeks and said tearfully, "I'm sorry, Philip. I'm sorry."

After she said this, an uncanny voice rang on the side.

“Philip, long time no see. You didn’t expect such a big gift from me, did you?”

Philip frowned, looked sideways, and saw the face that annoyed him.

Shane Lovelace! He was here too!

Philip pulled Wynn behind him, his eyes full of anger and caution. He stared at Shane and said, “What do you want?”

Shane smiled with a look of contempt and said, “Philip, don’t be nervous, I brought your wife here, restored her memory, and let the two of you reunite. You should be grateful to me.”

“Haha!” Philip sneered and said, “Shane Lovelace, don’t you find yourself ridiculous for saying this?”

Shane frowned and said, “I know what you’re thinking, so I’ll get straight to the point. I need your help. As long as you complete the task for me, I’ll return Wynn to you forever. What do you think?”

“Hmph!” Philip snorted coldly and said, “Do you think you can threaten me now?”

With that said, Philip grabbed Wynn’s hand and was about to leave. However, to his surprise, Wynn stood in place, looked at Philip, shook her head gently, and said, “I’m sorry, Philip. I can’t go now...”

After that, Wynn slowly walked to Shane’s side.

Seeing this, Philip was agitated. His breathing became rapid, and he asked, “Wynn, what are you doing?”

Wynn shook her head and said tearfully, “Phil, I’m sorry, I really can’t leave now...”

Shane interrupted Wynn and said to Philip with a grin, “Let me speak on her behalf. My cousin is the hope of the Lovelace family and has become a core family member. She can’t leave the Lovelace family so easily now. If she leaves, you and your children will face our endless pursuit. And don’t worry, the Lovelace family isn’t afraid of your Clarke family...”

“To put it more clearly, the Lovelace family is no longer the same as before. I’m afraid it won’t be that easy for the Clarke family to deal with the Lovelace family now. On the contrary, the Lovelace family has something that can restrain your Clarke family.”

“Philip, think it over carefully. Do you want to save your wife or make an enemy of the Lovelace family?”

After Shane finished speaking, his face was full of sneers. Philip frowned and looked at the crying Wynn. He could not figure out how Wynn turned out like this.

Why would she remain in the Lovelace family?

After a moment of silence, Philip asked coldly, “What do you want from me?”
