

The First Heir Chapter 3086 -

Chapter 3086

At this moment, Philip was on the battlefield, witnessing and feeling the impact of the battle with his own eyes. The spilling blood, the shaking earth, and the destructive battle all stimulated Philip's nerves and senses!

Was this the war with the other shore?

It was so tragic.

Similarly, the creatures of the other shore were actually so powerful!

These battlefields seemed to be a depiction of past battles of the other shore.

Each of the nine huge royal beasts stood in the sky like a supreme monarch. They were enough to conquer one battlefield with just a glance.

Philip truly felt the imperial power of the nine huge royal beasts. Despite being separated by the different timelines, Philip still felt the huge pressure radiating from them.

Then, he watched as they rushed into the battlefield or stood at the forefront of the city. They transformed into kings that commanded millions of troops with a wave of their hands and rushed in for the kill.

These shocking pictures overwhelmed Philip's senses.

Suddenly, the scene in front of him changed. A very beautiful and gentle woman suddenly stepped out of the stargate and walked down the stone steps to Philip. The woman was dressed in white and looked like a fairy or an empress with golden light behind her.

"Phil..." the woman called out softly with a loving smile on her face.

She walked up to Philip, raised her hand, and stroked his face.

"Mom, is that you?"

Philip was immediately in tears. He could not believe that he could see his mother again here.

"Phil, you're finally here. I've been waiting for you. Your future is behind this door. Enter the land of the other shore, constantly improve yourself, and protect the ancestral land."

After saying this, Charlotte Larson's figure slowly turned into wisps of light.

Philip chased after her and shouted, "Mom, where are you? When can I see you again? What is this ancestral land? Mom!"

The light disappeared, leaving behind a little bright spot like a star that blended into the stargate.

Philip's eyes were full of tears, and everything in front of him returned to normal.

It was still the huge dark stargate, and Marquis Fulmore and Fennel stood next to him. They seemed completely unaware of what Philip had just experienced.

Marquis Fulmore said at this moment, "This is the stargate..."

Philip looked at the huge stargate seriously. It seemed to have a heart-pounding vibe that did not belong to this world.

In particular, some of the special energies and the power of rules on the stargate actually stimulated some of the power of rules in Philip.

He even felt as if his blood was flowing more rapidly, and there was something hot in his body that he could hardly repress.

"What's happening? Why does the stargate have such an effect on me?" Philip frowned.

He looked at the golden White Marsh mark on his arm and found a touch of gold on the mark.

Marquis Fulmore also noticed it and asked with a frown, "What's the matter?"

Philip said, "I don't know. It feels like something is about to rush out of my body. Do you know why?"

Marquis Fulmore frowned, raised his hand, and made a swiping motion. He split the space and shouted, "Four old guys, come quickly!"

In the next second, four figures suddenly appeared beside Marquis Fulmore.

"Marquis Fulmore, why did you suddenly call us here?"

"Oh, Philip is here too."

"What's going on? Why is the stargate fluctuating again?"

The four marquises who just arrived and looked at the stargate in shock.

Marquis Fulmore solemnly pointed at Philip and said, "Look at him..."

The other four marquises suddenly turned to Philip and instantly realized something.

"The power of the bloodline?"

"Is it about to go out of control?!"

The First Heir Chapter 3087 -

Chapter 3087

"How could this be? I thought the Clarke family's bloodline had been suppressed by Roger Clarke through special means. How could Philip's bloodline power suddenly go out of control?"

The four marquises and Marquis Fulmore became a little anxious.

Philip did not understand their conversation at all. He asked, "What are you talking about? What bloodline power?"

Marquis Fulmore's face darkened.

He took a step forward and grabbed Philip's arm. He pressed on Philip's major vital points and the shocking power of the rules surged from his body, which forcibly invaded Philip's body and suppressed the raging power.

Seeing this, the other four marquises sprang into action too.

Then, the five let go, took a deep breath, and said, "We must inform Roger about this as soon as possible so that he can get ready. Philip's bloodline suppression is about to break free, most probably because of the stargate..."

The marquises nodded, and one of them said, "I'll contact him."

With that said, he disappeared in front of the stargate.

After that, Marquis Fulmore looked at Philip solemnly and asked, "Why did this happen all of a sudden?"

Philip's face darkened as he looked at the marquises in confusion and asked, "Marquis Fulmore, what's going on? What bloodline power do I have in my body?"

Marquis Fulmore took a deep breath, looked at the stargate, and said, "You have the bloodline power from the other shore in your body. Didn't the Lovelace family tell you that the forefathers of the Clarke family came from the other shore?"

Boom!

Marquis Fulmore's words exploded in Philip's ears.

Marquis Fulmore knew about his meeting with Shane Lovelace.

"Don't be surprised. In Cochly Mountain, there's nothing we don't know about. It's just that we don't want to interfere in most things. After all, the Lovelace family isn't a small potato," Marquis Fulmore said.

"Since everyone is in the loop, I want to know if the forefathers of the Clarke family really came from the other shore," Philip asked.

Marquis Fulmore fell silent, looked around, and said with a nod, "Yes."

Philip scowled, clenched his fists, and asked, "Is it true that everyone in this world hates the existence of the other shore?"

"Yes," Marquis Fulmore replied.

Philip clenched his fists even tighter and asked, "If the news that the Clarke family originated from the other shore is made known to the world, does it mean that the Clarke family will be seen as an enemy of the world?"

"Yes," Marquis Fulmore replied again.

Silence fell. Philip spoke no more, and his eyes were full of mixed emotions.

Marquis Fulmore sighed and said, "My child, in fact, this isn't something you should be concerned about. The forefathers of the Clarke family don't represent you. You have dedicated too much to this world and the human race. However, some ideas are deeply ingrained and can't be addressed in a short time..."

"As far as this world is concerned, the Clarke family is a loyal guardian..."

"No one knows what your father wants to do, but we can be sure that he has dedicated his life to the world and the human race, so we admire him."

With that said, a figure suddenly appeared before the stargate. He stood with his hands behind his back, and his eyes seemed to be twinkling like stars.

He looked at Philip, smiled kindly, and said, "Phil, do you hate me?"

The First Heir Chapter 3088 -

Chapter 3088

Philip looked sideways. When he saw Roger appear in front of him, his fists clenched even tighter!

“Why? Why did you hide everything from me?!” Philip roared, his mind full of questions and resentment.

Why was everything kept from him?

Why put him in this chess game?

Was there no love? Has love disappeared?

Roger was calm as he glanced at the huge black stargate that towered in the sky, his eyes constantly flickering.

He said, “Phil, there are many things I can’t tell you now. Even if I tell you, there’s no solution. You can only continue to grow and become stronger. One day, when you can finally take my place, stand at the top of the world, and carry the burden upon your shoulders, I’ll tell you the truth.”

“The truth? I don’t need the truth. I just want to know what your plan is. As your son and as the heir of the Clarke family, why don’t I have the right to know?”

“You keep saying that I’m not strong enough. So tell me, will I only be strong enough when I reach your realm?!” Philip roared and asked, feeling extremely aggrieved.

Roger smiled lightly and said, “You can be considered the strongest person in this world if you reach my realm, but you won’t be when it comes to the other shore. Talents are abundant there, and many people are stronger than me. They’re a threat to this world and a threat to the human race...”

“In their opinion, this is the land of sin and the source of crime and turmoil. Hence, they’ll invade this land at all costs and try to overturn civilization and the human race here...”

“However, the bigger secret is that those people on the other shore came from this land of sin too. This is the ancestral land and the root of all civilizations!”

“This land has gone through hundreds of millions of years, from nothingness, primordial, chaotic, prehistoric, primeval, classical, dark ages, and middle ages, to the modern era

today. It has gone through countless eras and civilizations which were lost in history and can't be traced back..."

"Those people on the other shore lost the records of their predecessors, or rather, they did it deliberately. In their opinion, the people of the ancestral land are all descendants of the sinned blood because several riots that led to the extermination of the human race have occurred here..."

"Some people chose to leave their ancestral land, relying on the strength and civilization at that time to find a new habitat. After hundreds of thousands of years, they've forgotten their origins. They define their ancestral land as the land of sin, and this concept is also deeply ingrained and educated to the next generations..."

"The new generation is told that this place is a low-level civilization, a place of sin, and a source of turmoil. Thus, they try all means to invade this world every thousand years and carry out the massacre of civilization."

Hearing this, Philip was already dumbfounded.

Marquis Fulmore and the others obviously knew about it, so they were not very surprised.

"On one hand, those high and mighty guys on the other shore want to plunder this civilization, but in fact, they're worried about some uncontrollable variables that could emerge and be enough to shake their world..."

"Indeed, even as we approach doomsday, many talented beings have emerged. They broke through the stargate, entered the land on the other shore, and left behind brilliant legacies. This also made those people more worried about the existence that could overturn their ideologies..."

"Thus, they're sparing no effort to destroy civilization here. They're trying to return to their ancestral land and colonize this place."

The First Heir Chapter 3089 -

Chapter 3089

After Roger finished speaking, he stared coldly at the huge black stargate. He looked at Philip and said, "Do you know why I'm telling you this?"

Philip could not figure it out and looked at Roger doubtfully.

"It's because you'll be embarking on the journey to the other shore. I want you to know that you bear the fate of the world, the civilization of this world, and the fate of the human race..."

"Although the Clarke family came from the other shore, our roots are here, the ancestral land! Nothing can change this fact. I used to struggle with this too. If the forefathers of the Clarke family came from the other shore, what am I?"

"Later, I discovered the connection between the ancestral land and the land of the other shore. Hundreds of thousands of years ago, the Clarke family was one of the four major families that went to the other shore to protect the ancestral land, but we still sought the day when we could return to our ancestral land and improve our civilization."

After Roger finished speaking, his expression became very unsettled. Philip was even more emotional and found it difficult to accept for a while.

The forefathers of the Clarke family came from the other shore, but the Clarke family from the other shore entered the other shore from the ancestral land. They carried the mission of seeking survival and protecting the ancestral land.

Philip turned around, stared seriously at the huge black stargate above the 99 stone steps, and asked, "Father, is everything you said true?"

Roger patted Philip on the shoulder and said, "Phil, every word is true. This stargate was built on the land of the other shore..."

"Back then, it was to prevent people from this so-called land of sinned blood from entering the other shore. Later, those supreme beings in the ancestral land created a stargate that sealed the communication between the two worlds. Thus, we can find the power of the rules of both worlds on this door..."

"The stronger the person, the more difficult it is to pass through this stargate. At your current level, you're just perfect to take a look there in my stead."

Philip frowned, turned to Roger, and asked, "When you pushed open this stargate back then, what did you see?"

Roger took a deep breath and said after a long silence, "A land of corpses and destruction. The civilization of the other shore has surpassed the understanding of this world. Once I open it, I'll face endless killings from the other shore. Besides, I have some selfish desires too."

Philip frowned, looked at Roger, and asked, "What selfish desires?"

Roger sighed and said, "I can't tell you yet"

After that, Roger looked at Philip seriously and said, "The bloodline power in your body has been awakened, and I can't suppress it any longer. This is the power of the bloodline unique to the Clarke family. When you arrive at the other shore, you must remember that you can't easily use the bloodline power. Otherwise, the people of the other shore will be alerted..."

Roger paused his words for a while before added, "In particular, if the Clarke family on the other shore knows of your existence, it'll cause a lot of unnecessary trouble."

"What bloodline power?" Philip asked with a frown.

Roger smiled and said, "The Divine Wilderness Physique..."

"There are nine royal families on the other shore, and the Clarke family is a noble family attached to one of the royal families, conferred nobility with a different last name. That's because the power of the Clarke family's bloodline has played an important role in civilizations of various eras, thus the family is favored by the royal family..."

"However, they're also very afraid of the Clarke family's bloodline because anyone who has awakened to the Great Path can control the universe, slash the sun and moon with their swords, and even kill the royal families!"