

The First Heir Chapter 3090 -

Chapter 3090

The Divine Wilderness Physique?

Control the universe and slash the sun and moon with a sword?

Kill the royal families?

What an extremely desirable scene. Was this the Clarke family of the other shore?

An extraterrestrial noble!

Philip was silent. After hearing Roger's words, the power of the bloodline that was suppressed in his body became restless again as if yearning for the power to slash the sun and moon!

Roger frowned and looked at the faint bloodline power surging from Philip at this moment. Although very weak, it was the purest bloodline of the Clarke family, the Divine Wilderness Physique!

Roger's bloodline power was only more than 90% pure, not enough to rival Philip's.

He was the best candidate.

"Charlotte, is this the future you're talking about?" Roger sighed inwardly as he looked at the stargate thoughtfully.

Then, he looked at Philip and said, "I can only suppress it for you for a few more days. When the stargate opens and you enter the other shore, the power of the rules there may affect you differently. Before this, the power of your bloodline can't be released because the guys behind the stargate can sense it."

After saying that, Roger raised his hand.

A dazzling power of rules shot out from his palm into Philip's body, completely suppressing the restless bloodline power in his body. However, it was only for the time being.

After doing this, Roger looked up at the stargate and said, "You may leave first. I want to stay here for a while longer..."

Marquis Fulmore and the others nodded and prepared to leave. However, Philip chose to stay.

He then asked Roger, "Father, what's the realm on the other shore? How many people there are stronger than you?"

Roger sighed and said, "The realm above the other shore is the prophet, but I don't know how the land of the other shore addresses this level. And I don't know how many people are above the realm of the other shore either..."

"When I opened the stargate for a brief moment back then, I felt that several powerhouses in the realm of the other shore had locked onto my existence. If I hadn't closed the stargate in time, I'm afraid that the civilization of this world would have ceased to exist."

Hearing this, Philip became more solemn and asked, "Is Mom on the other shore? Was the accident back then just a scheme? A smokescreen for the secular world?"

Roger shuddered. After a long silence, he said, "You shouldn't know too much about certain things. I don't know where your mother is either."

Roger stopped talking after this.

Philip looked at his father's elderly silhouette that looked like a candle in the wind, but he could feel the dormant vibe in his body. It was just waiting for the moment to unleash itself upon the world. Then, Philip turned around and left with Marquis Fulmore and the others.

After coming out of the altar, Philip stood on one side and looked at the altar with bright eyes.

The stargate, the land of the other shore. All the mysteries could only be solved by entering the stargate and going to the other shore.

After that, Philip and Fennel left the altar and returned to the training camp's dormitory.

To Philip's surprise, Shane Lovelace was actually waiting for him in the dormitory.

The First Heir Chapter 3091 - 3095 -

Chapter 3091

17 and the others stood on one side, their expressions nervous and hostile as they stared at Shane.

Seeing that Philip was back, Shane said with a light smile, "It seems that you went to an important place. Did you get the answer you wanted?"

Philip's expression was gloomy as he stared at Shane coldly and said, "Shane, I'll never help the Lovelace family. Give it up. Also, I have to warn you that if Wynn suffers any harm or grievance in the Lovelace family, I'll destroy you! Mark my words!"

Shane got up, clapped his hands, gave a thumbs up, and said, "Very good, you're very confident and courageous. I knew you'd choose to do so, so I'm here to tell you today that if you turn down our request, we'll have no choice but to make use of Wynn. "

Boom!

Suddenly, Philip raged with anger.

He stared at Shane angrily, stepped forward, grabbed his collar, and said, "What did you say? If you dare to do anything to Wynn, I'll kill you right now!"

Shane chuckled and said, "Do you think you can kill me? Do you dare? Wynn is in the Lovelace family. If anything happens to me, she's doomed too."

Creak!

Philip's knuckles cracked, anger burst from his eyes, and he bellowed, "The Lovelace family is my mortal enemy. In my lifetime, I'll never forget this grudge against the Lovelace family!"

Shane shoved Philip's hand away and said, "I sense your anger, but what can you do to me?"

Philip took a deep breath, and his eyes became cold.

He said, "Shane Lovelace, don't challenge my bottom line."

Shane chuckled and said, "I've said my piece. Philip, think over it carefully."

After that, Shane left.

Philip clenched his fists angrily. With a cold face, he yelled, "The Lovelace family! "

Fennel crossed his arms on one side, walked over, and said, "What do you plan to do?"

Philip said coldly, "The Lovelace family dare not do anything. He's just trying to intimidate me. I won't fall into their trap."

Fennel nodded and said, "Where should we go next?"

Philip thought about it. He had nothing else to do in Cochly Mountain.

Wynn was safe for the time being, and the stargate of Cochly Mountain would only be opened one month later.

All he had to do now was to settle some worldly affairs and get ready to enter the stargate.

“Let’s go back tomorrow. I’m going to Emperor Kai’s underground palace to get something,” Philip said as he took out Emperor Kai’s Token from his pocket.

The Caelum Sword.

The next day, Philip and the others got ready to leave, but an unwelcome guest turned up.

Reynold barged into the dorm, stared at Philip coldly, and stood aside. Another person walked in at this time-Angus Carroll!

The old man that Heavenly Court had planted in Cochly Mountain.

Angus walked into the dormitory, looked at Philip, and said, “Young Patriarch Clarke, I have something to tell you. Is it a convenient time for you?”

Philip frowned. He knew that he was no match for Angus, so he nodded and said, “Okay.”

Soon, everyone cleared out of the dorm.

Angus put his hands behind his back and said, “What do you think of the Heavenly Court, Young Patriarch Clarke?”

Philip frowned and said, “I don’t know much about the Heavenly Court, but I do know a little about the Woods family. We don’t get along.”

Angus smiled and said, “The Woods family is used to being arrogant, and many people in the Heavenly Court don’t agree with them. You don’t have to concern yourself with them. After all, the Heavenly Court isn’t ruled by the Woods family.”

“Oh? If I’m understanding things correctly, are you saying that you don’t know the Woods family?” Philip said.

Chapter 3092

Angus chuckled, shook his head, and said, “No, I don’t know the Woods family.”

This old man was really good at lying through his teeth.

They were all members of the Heavenly Court, but he dared to say that he did not know them.

Philip smiled and said, "Mr. Carroll, why are you looking for me today?"

Angus said, "I want to work with you, of course."

"Work with me? What is there to work with the Heavenly Court?" Philip asked.

Angus' eyes narrowed slightly as he said with a laugh, "You're really straightforward, Young Patriarch Clarke. Heavenly Court wants to seek enough strong and talented people to cooperate with and lay the foundation for the establishment of the new world in the future..."

"The Clarke family is a partner we really hope to cooperate with. Back then, the Clarke family relied on us to develop too. Now, the Heavenly Court is willing to let go of the past and wants to join forces with Young Patriarch Clarke to share the world. What do you think?"

Philip's eyes twitched as he said with a smile, "Mr. Carroll, your words may be seen as an insult to the world. Can we really share the world as we deem fit?"

Angus nodded and said with a smile, "Young Patriarch Clarke, you don't seem to know much about the Heavenly Court. We have forces all over the world, and gaining unification of this world is as easy as ABC."

"Why do you want to cooperate with me, then? You can just take over the world directly," Philip said with a smile.

Angus scowled. This kid simply could not understand his meaning.

"Listen to me. The Heavenly Court has forces all over the world. As long as we want to, we can get rid of some important people in an instant, but the price of doing so will be very high. Therefore, we need more powerful families to cooperate with us..."

"The Clarke family is our first choice because you control half of the world's economy. Moreover, you have enough strength," Angus said.

"As for what the future holds, you should know that once the stargate is opened, it means that the secular world will be completely integrated with the disciple world. We'll face the threat from the other shore by then. The Heavenly Court wants to protect this world and all its people. We share the same objective as the Clarke family, so we stand on the same side."

After Angus finished speaking, Philip smiled lightly and said, "I don't know what the Heavenly Court wants to do, but I know that you have lofty ambitions..."

“When you said you want to protect this world, I’m afraid it’s just a front. What you really want to do is get this world and offer it up to the ancient Heavenly Court so that you can return to their ranks, right?”

Angus’ face darkened with a frown, and the hands behind his back clenched slightly.

Then, he said, “Why do you say that? The Heavenly Court has existed in this world for so many years, and we’ve never done anything to harm the human race. On the contrary, we’ve been helping this world.”

Philip raised his eyebrows and said, “I don’t know, then. I don’t have a good impression of the Heavenly Court. If you’re here to seek cooperation, you may leave now.”

Angus scowled and said solemnly, “Are you sure you don’t want to work with the Heavenly Court?”

“No,” Philip said firmly.

Angus laughed and said, “Very well. You’re just like your father. In that case, if the Heavenly Court does something to the Clarke family in the future, don’t blame me for not giving any advanced notice.”

A threat!

Of course, Philip had figured out the meaning behind those words, but he still smiled faintly and said, “The Heavenly Court isn’t the ruler of this world yet. If my father can make you apprehensive, so can I!”

“Hmph!” Angus snorted coldly and turned to leave.

Before leaving, he said, “Young Patriarch Clarke, the land beyond the stargate is as vast as the ocean, and the Heavenly Court also exists on the other shore. Beware!”

Chapter 3093

Philip’s face darkened. He looked as Angus left and took a deep breath.

What existence was the Heavenly Court?

Fennel and the others rushed in anxiously and said, “What’s up? What did that old man want?”

“He wants me to cooperate with them,” Philip replied.

“What did you say?” Fennel asked.

“I turned him down,” Philip said.

Fennel frowned and said, "Actually, you shouldn't refuse so decisively. After all, the Heavenly Court has its strengths. Even if this isn't sincere cooperation, it's not bad to have a backup partner."

Philip sighed and said, "I know what you mean, but I'm not keen on the Heavenly Court. Forget it, let's go..."

Fennel and the others nodded.

Soon, they got into a snow jeep and were about to leave Cochly Mountain.

The five marquises stood at the top of the snow-capped mountains and looked at them from a distance.

Marquis Fulmore stood with his hands behind his back and said, "How far do you think he can grow?"

"I don't know, but he won't be less than his father," one of the marquises said.

"I hope we have enough time to last until his return," Marquis Fulmore sighed.

Soon, Philip and his gang left the snowy Cochly Mountain.

They boarded a private plane and returned to Riverdale. However, Philip only stayed in Riverdale for half a day and formally warned Martin and Bernard Johnston.

Riverdale was on lockdown on this day. Martin and Bernard knew Philip's true identity and were scared to death.

"Martin, Philip's actually the heir of that Clarke family," Bernard told Martin his opinion.

"Bernard, stop talking. I get it. Let's proceed with caution from now on," Martin answered Bernard with a gloomy face.

Half a day later, Philip and the others left Riverdale and went to Fernvale to visit his grandfather. His grandfather was still in the same comatose state. Cynthia was taking good care of him.

"Philip, I have something to tell you..." Cynthia and Philip walked to a garden.

Philip frowned, looked at Cynthia, and said, "What's up?"

After hesitating for a long time, Cynthia took out a golden dragon jade pendant from her pocket and said, "A few days ago, the Imperial Preceptor found me and gave this to me. He said I'm his daughter. I don't know what to do, Philip!"

Hiss!

Philip was shocked!

Cynthia Larson was the Imperial Preceptor's daughter?

"Are you sure?" Philip asked.

Cynthia nodded and said tearfully, "The hospital has issued a DNA report. I'm indeed his daughter... Philip, I can't accept it at all right now. My father is actually the veritable Imperial Preceptor. What should I do? He said he wants to take me away, but I don't want to leave my father, the grandmaster, and you..."

Philip's face darkened.

After thinking for a long time, he reached out, hugged Cynthia, and said, "This is your personal affair. You have to make your own choices."

Cynthia fell into Philip's arms and burst into tears.

After a long time, Cynthia was tired from crying, so Philip sent her back to her room.

The next day, Philip said goodbye to Cynthia and the others. He took a private plane and returned to the Clarke family on Arcadia Island.

Chapter 3094

When Philip's private plane landed in Clarke Manor, hundreds of fully armed guards were already waiting in line for him on one side!

George Thomas waited quietly with a bunch of servants. Fifth Madam Nadia Sawyer and Fourth Madam Hazel Eva were also waiting. They were full of smiles as they watched Philip get off the plane.

Philip got off the plane, took off his sunglasses, and hugged the two ladies.

"Phil, you're finally back. We missed you so much!" Nadia was as sexy as ever.

Her outfit was trendy, her hair was wavy, and she looked like a strong career woman.

"Fifth Mother, Fourth Mother," Philip greeted them with a slight bow.

Eva smiled kindly, nodded elegantly, and said, "It's good to see you back Let's go. I made a lot of delicious food for you."

Philip smiled, held their hands in each hand, and led them to his residence.

George and the others escorted them and made arrangements for Fennel's lodging.

This time, Philip did not bring Cynthia or his children back. Thus, when they returned to his residence, Nadia and Eva complained.

"Why didn't you bring the kids back? We miss Mila and the little one so much," Nadia said in mock anger.

Philip smiled and said, "I'll bring them back next time. I'm only staying a few days this time. I'll leave after I settle some things."

"Are you in such a hurry to leave?" Eva asked as she served some food to Philip.

Philip nodded and said, "Yeah..."

"By the way, where's the Third Mother?" Philip asked.

Eva shook her head and said, "She's still the same. She hasn't come out since she made an appearance last time."

Nadia pouted and muttered, "Your third mother is like that. Don't worry about her. "

Philip frowned slightly, thought about it, and said with a sigh, "I'll go see her later."

Eva and Nadia nodded. Then, Philip asked, "Fifth Mother, what's up with the branch family recently?"

Nadia frowned and said, "Levi is now in charge of the branch family. That kid is shrewd and ruthless, constantly suppressing the main family's businesses and assets. Fortunately, the two of us are around. Otherwise, that kid would have gotten away with many things."

Hearing this, Philip frowned. Levi Clarke was still coveting the main family's assets.

"By the way, Levi is very close with District 12 recently, and he's been in frequent contact with Tucker Stone. I think they're up to something," Nadia said with a hint of worry in her eyes.

Philip nodded and chatted with the two mothers about the recent happenings in Arcadia Island.

At the branch family, in the meeting hall.

Levi sat in the main seat, his demeanor cold and his face stern. His gloomy eyes were no longer as frivolous as before but rather mature and sinister.

He glanced at the people in charge of the branch family and said coldly, "Philip Clarke has returned. What do you have to say?"

Hearing that, the people in charge of the branch family looked at each other and whispered.

Chapter 3095

Levi slapped the table and said coldly, "Don't you guys have anything to say?"

"Young Chieftain, since Philip is back, should we keep a low profile for the next few days?" One of the people in charge of the branch family said at this moment.

Levi snorted and said, "Keep a low profile? That phrase doesn't exist in my dictionary. Follow my orders and do what you need to do. The branch family doesn't have to be afraid of Philip Clarke."

"But Young Chieftain, Philip is the young patriarch of the main family, after all. If we provoke him like this, will he get angry?" another person in charge said worriedly.

Levi got up, put his hands behind his back, and said, "So what if he gets angry? Arcadia Island will belong to the branch family sooner or later! He's just a young patriarch who doesn't know anything. What can he do? Besides, I saw my father a few days ago. He didn't stop me, so I can just act boldly! What are you worried about?"

"But..."

There were more than a dozen people in charge, and they all looked reluctant.

When the main and branch families fought previously, the branch family suffered a huge loss. They had finally recovered a little by now, but in certain things, it was still impossible to fight with the main family.

Seeing their reluctance, Levi said, "I'm the Chieftain. Do you want to disobey my orders?"

"Of course not..."

Everyone lowered their heads. Levi snorted, left the hall, and returned to his residence.

Smack!

Back at the residence, Levi smashed the vase at the door and sat on the sofa with a cold face. He took a few gulps of tea before smashing the teacup. Several maids hurried over and knelt on the ground to clean up.

Then, a charming woman in a revealing dress swayed over, walked to Levi's side, knelt beside him, massaged his leg, and asked, "Young Chieftain, what made you so angry?"

"Those old fogeys are so timid and weak. Sooner or later, I'll replace them all!" Levi said angrily.

The woman smiled and said, "Young Chieftain, you still need their help for the time being. Don't let them hear such words."

Levi snorted coldly and said, "So what if they hear them? I'm the Chieftain. Do they dare to turn against me?"

The woman smiled and did not dwell on this topic. Instead, she asked, "By the way, I heard that the young patriarch of the main family is back. What's your plan?"

Levi frowned and glanced at the woman kneeling in front of him and massaging his leg. He reached out, grabbed her chin, looked at that stunningly beautiful face, and asked with a smile, "Are you very interested in him?"

The woman smiled calmly and said, "I just want to share your worries."

Levi sneered, picked the woman up in a princess carry, and said with a wicked smile, "Then let's go inside and share our worries!"

"Young Chieftain, you're so naughty! Oh!"

Levi kissed the woman and carried her into the upstairs bedroom. After a while, the villa was overwhelmed by melodious moans.

Meanwhile, Philip took a private boat to the island where his mother's mausoleum was located.

On the island, he was standing in front of the tombstone in his mother's mausoleum. Philip's eyes were full of sorrow.

However, in an instant, the sorrow in Philip's eyes was replaced by determination, and he opened the stone gate of the mausoleum.

He wanted to enter the mausoleum and see for himself!