

The First Heir Chapter 3151 - 3155 -

Chapter 3151

In the end, Alliance Master Yarn sighed, got up, and said, "Since this is your plan, I'm more than happy to help. The Yarn family and the Clarke family are officially allies. Young Patriarch Clarke, you can rest assured and go to the other shore for your training. If the Clarke family is in trouble, the Yarn family will do our best to help!"

Philip also bowed and said, "Thank you, Alliance Master Yarn."

After that, Philip and Fulton left.

Alliance Master Yarn watched Philip leave and vaguely saw a glimpse of the future in his trance. He was leading the human race to crusade against the other shore. It was an epic battle.

Time flew by.

For half a month, Philip had been strengthening himself in the Dragon Transformation Pond behind the ancestral hall.

At the same time, he continuously used the energy and the power of the rules of the pond to impact the other four sources of kingship in his body. Unfortunately, however, half a month had passed but Philip was still unable to break the seal of the source of swordsmanship.

With a long sigh, Philip stood up from the Dragon Transformation Pond, his eyes glowing like a sword light as he stared into the distance.

"Although I haven't broken through the source of swordsmanship, my comprehension has become more proficient..."

Philip muttered under his breath as he raised his hand in a sweeping motion.

Buzz!

In the sky, a huge sword suddenly appeared and slashed through the clouds. This sword was extremely powerful and attracted the attention of many people in the manor.

Alliance Master Yarn's injury was already healed. He stood at the door of a villa and looked up at the sky. He nodded and said with a smile, "This child is extraordinary. No wonder that old Benny keeps telling me that he bears the fate of the human race..."

After saying that, Alliance Master Yarn looked to the west, where a strange apparition had begun.

In the chaotic rules of time and space, various colors appeared like the aurora that only exists in the polar regions. Moreover, the sky in that area had started changing.

Alliance Master Yarn's face darkened as he said solemnly, "Has it finally begun?"

On Philip's side, after he came out of retreat, he also saw the phenomenon in the west.

"Is the stargate about to open?" Philip frowned.

His time was running out.

Suddenly, at the west of Cochly Mountain, the aurora in the sky dazzled brightly. One white beam of light after another shot out and connected to the sky like heaven's punishment, stirring up the wind and clouds.

In 10 minutes, this phenomenon spread all over the world!

The satellites of various countries immediately focused on Cochly Mountain. From outer space, it could be seen that eight pillars of light were soaring to the sky from Cochly Mountain with terrifying energy and the power of rules. Moreover, when these eight beams of light appeared on Cochly Mountain, a similar scene happened near the stargates of Country M and Country Y.

This unprecedented phenomenon instantly attracted the attention of people all over the world, and it also quickly made headlines in various countries.

The world was gradually changing.

Then, countries and regions began to form their own alliances.

At the same time, they officially broadcasted to the world, "Hello, fellow humans! From now on, the AD. calendar is officially a thing of the past, and the world has officially entered the interstellar calendar.

This is the first year of Interstellar Year, September 9th, Interstellar 0001.

"As you can see now, this world has changed. We need to fight against the invasion of another civilization, and this civilization has a special origin."

Chapter 3152

All over the world, knowledge about the disciple world, the origin of the stargate, and the land of the other shore was made known to the public.

Under this exercise by joint efforts between countries and regions around the world, everyone gradually came to understand the truth of this world.

The pattern of the world began to change dramatically. At the same time, various talents selected by countries all over the world were heading to the stargate designated by each region through special channels to prepare for the final entry into the land of the other shore.

At this moment, fighter planes from all over the world took off, and other combat forces also assembled in order to respond to various emergencies.

Philip also made preparations, took care of all the family affairs, and bowed to his three mothers. He then got ready to embark on his journey to Cochly Mountain.

“Wait, Phil... Your mother asked me to give this to you back then. She said that you’d follow in her footsteps one day, so she asked me to give this ring to you, saying that it’d be useful to you when you got there...” Hazel stood up suddenly and handed a green diamond ring to Philip.

Philip frowned and asked, “What’s this?”

Hazel shook her head and said, “I don’t know. Your mother just said that there’s a special space in this ring that only you can open.”

Hearing this, Philip tried to explore this ring with the power of his rules. Sure enough, there was a special spatial structure in this ring that could store some things.

Was this something his mother brought back from the land of the other shore?

A storage space?

Without hesitation, Philip stored Caelum Sword and the turtle shell in it. After that, he solemnly bade farewell to his three mothers and set off for Cochly Mountain with Fennel and the others.

In the helicopter, Philip looked down at Arcadia Island below and felt very emotional. He wondered when he could return here again.

After musing briefly, Philip looked to the west where the eight beams of light were as bright as the sun. Even in broad daylight thousands of miles away, he could still see them clearly.

“Have you made up your mind?” Fennel asked.

Philip thought about it and said with a nod, “No matter what, I have to go to the land of the other shore. I want to find the Multidew Herb that can save Wynn and the medicine that can save my grandfather. Also, I have to find out if my mother is on the land of the other shore...”

While saying that, Philip's eyes became extremely determined.

Fennel nodded and added, "Philip, I won't be entering the land of the other shore with you this time."

Hearing this, Philip froze and said, "What? You won't be going with me?"

Fennel took a breath, looked at the mountains and rivers below, smoked a cigarette, and said, "Yes, I don't plan to go to the land of the other shore. After all, this world needs the protection of people of our generation. If we go to the land of the other shore, this world will be left unguarded. Also, I want to continue searching for my sister's whereabouts..."

Philip frowned when he heard this, but he did not blame Fennel.

After a long time, he said, "Have you made up your mind?"

Fennel smiled, patted Philip on the shoulder, and said, "Don't worry, I can fight alongside you here as well. After you go to the land of the other shore, be careful in doing everything. All of us will be waiting for your return..."

Philip nodded, glanced at the grinning Fennel, and said with a forced smile, "Okay! When I return, I hope you can be stronger than you are now!"

Bang!

The two bumped fists.

Three hours later, Philip's private plane landed in the main city of Cochly Mountain. When he got off the plane, Marquis Fulmore was already waiting.

He said, "Let's go!"

Philip nodded and followed Marquis Fulmore to the stargate.

In Cochly Mountain, the pressure of the eight pillars of light could be clearly felt. It was overwhelming like the burning tail of a comet.

Soon, they passed through the altar, entered the underground, and arrived at the stargate. Returning here again, Philip was very emotional.

Chapter 3153

"Father," Philip called out when he saw his father standing in front of the stargate.

Roger nodded and said, "Are you ready?"

Philip glanced at the stargate that had a gap open and said after a brief hesitation, "I'm ready..."

Roger turned around, looked at Philip kindly, and said, "You're all alone this time. Your friends won't enter the land of the other shore with you. When you get there, you have to think and choose carefully. If you don't want to go, tell me now and you won't have to."

Philip looked at Roger seriously and said with a smile, "Father, do I still have a choice now?"

Roger remained silent, while Philip added. "Since I've made my choice, I won't change my mind. "

"Good! As expected of Roger Clarke's son!"

Roger nodded with a smile and said, "Don't worry. Nothing will happen here with me around. When you're on the land of the other shore, grow up as soon as possible, learn about the situation there, and find clues about your mother."

"I understand," Philip replied.

"You only have three years. After three years, I'll open the stargate again to welcome your return," Roger said solemnly, his eyes full of expectation and hope.

Philip knelt, bowed, and said, "I'm about to go on a long journey. I hope you'll take care of your health."

At this moment, the barrier between Philip and Roger gradually disappeared.

With tears in his eyes, Roger patted Philip on the shoulder and said, "Phil, you're the hope of the whole world and the human race, as well as mine. Don't forget that many people are waiting for your return right here..."

Philip nodded and took a step toward the stargate.

Standing before the stargate, Philip realized his insignificance. Above the stargate, the vast power of the rules seemed able to crush any existence in the world.

He turned back and saw the five marquises, Fennel, the others, and his father. Philip was full of longing for the unknown world, but there was also a trace of fear. However, no matter what, Philip had no other choice at this point.

He stretched out his hand, pressed it on the stargate, and pushed heavily!

The loud opening of the door resounded throughout Cochly Mountain!

Meanwhile, the stargates in Country M and Counter had opened too. Talents selected from various regions and countries stepped into the stargate and entered an unknown world.

After Philip pushed the stargate open, he saw a white light in front of him, which slowly enveloped him.

'Land of the other shore, here I come!'

Chapter 3154

Philip stepped into the stargate, and his figure disappeared with the stargate. A bright light made him close his eyes.

After a long time, when he opened his eyes, he found himself in another place. It was a street with no life in sight. Everything was replaced with machines, tall buildings, and spaceships!

The entire street was full of busy robots surrounded by a state of ruins as if they had just experienced a very tragic war. Collapsed buildings and broken armored vehicles were everywhere, as were things like damaged mechas. In the air, there were also many floating tracks and passing trains.

This was a world that had surpassed Philip's world civilization!

A futuristic high-tech world!

Was this the land of the other shore?

In the hazy distance, there were several towering spire buildings with things like floating tracks around.

As Philip was observing this world, a mecha suddenly fell from the sky and landed in front of Philip.

The cannons on the mecha's two mechanical arms were instantly aimed at Philip!

"Low-class citizen, this is the Seventeenth Patrol Team of the Starfall Continent. I now order you to return to your dog kennel! "

A burst of electronic voice came from the two-meter high humanoid mecha!

Philip glanced at the mecha in bewilderment. The technology of this robot was very advanced. The scenes in science fiction films appeared before his eyes.

Starfall Continent?

Was this the name of the land of the other shore?

Bang!

Seeing no reaction from Philip, the gun fired but did not hit Philip. Philip jumped nimbly in the other direction.

“You seem to be a low-class citizen who has developed your star talent. Let’s see if you can escape from my cannons!”

The electronic voice sounded again, followed by manic laughter. The cannon fired at Philip again!

While dodging back and forth from the mecha, Philip was thinking about the star talent mentioned by the person who controlled the mecha. It should be similar to the division of strength from the first zone to the realm of the other shore in his world.

The cannons kept firing, but Philip dodged every time.

“Damn you, low-class citizen! I’m going to kill you!”

Suddenly, two rows of artillery heads popped out from the mecha’s shoulder, and Philip recognized them as tracking missiles at a glance.

Philip’s face turned cold. He jumped into the air and threw a heavy punch at the mecha’s head. Although the power of this punch did not break the mecha, it damaged many of the mecha’s sensory elements!

The mecha got confused, and its compartment opened. Philip saw a man sitting inside. That man was glaring at Philip ferociously!

At this moment, a siren blared. Many patrolling robots in the distance rushed toward Philip.

Suddenly, Philip felt something touching his feet.

Philip looked down and saw the childish face of a little girl struggling to lift the manhole cover from the sewers next to the ruins. She was looking at him.

“Hey, come down quickly or you’ll be in danger!”

The little girl had an anxious look on her face. Seeing this, Philip opened the cover of the sewer and jumped in.

At this moment, the manhole cover was suddenly shattered by the person controlling the mecha just now. At first, Philip was holding the little girl’s hand and walking with her, but later, he found that the speed was too slow, so he simply carried the little girl on his back and asked her to show him the way.

After several turns and corners, he finally got rid of the person behind him.

Philip put the little girl down, looked around nervously, and asked, "Little girl, why are you in this sewer?"

Chapter 3155

Philip quickly got used to this environment. At this point, he could only take one step at a time. The land of the other shore was not as peaceful as Philip thought

He had to proceed with caution just to stay alive and wait for the opening of the stargate again after three years. At the same time, he had to find clues about the Multidew Herb and his mother in this world.

He had to keep a low profile now.

The little girl giggled and said, "This isn't a sewer but an underground city. Low-class citizens like us can only live underground!"

Low-class citizens? Underground city?

Seeing Philip's stunned expression, the little girl skipped up to Philip.

"What's wrong? You're not going to tell me that you're not a low-class citizen, are you? But if you're not a low-class citizen, why did you damage the mecha of the captain of the mecha patrol team?" The little girl asked with a smile on her face.

As far as she knew, the people living above the underground city were middle-class and high-class citizens, but they were also the enemies of the so-called low-class citizens.

Philip followed the little girl and found that everything in front of him was becoming more and more spacious. Very soon, he stopped in front of an old-fashioned and rickety bar. That was because he saw someone pointing a gun at him.

"Who is that?"

Before Philip could speak, the little girl said, "Penn, he's also a low-class citizen. He just blew up the patrol captain's mecha!"

However, this man named Penn simply ignored the little girl.

His gun was still aimed at Philip, and he said with a sneer, "A low-class citizen? Then tell me where in the underground city you stay."

This question left Philip speechless. He could hardly say that he came from another world.

Philip said calmly, "I'm not from this underground city. I come from a place far away..."

Hearing that, Penn confirmed his thoughts!

"Far away? I think you're a spy sent by those people above!"

Click!

The sound of a gun being loaded.

The little girl stood in front of Philip and said angrily to Penn, "Why do you say he's a spy? Do you have any evidence?"

The commotion here had attracted the attention of many people.

Some people walked over immediately, but Philip could see that most of these people looked at him with hostility.

"Emily, if you don't step aside right now, I'll even get rid of you, believe it or not!"

Penn's eyes became sterner as he held the gun and walked slowly to the little girl. Then, he raised his foot and was about to kick Emily. However, at this moment, Philip moved with lightning-fast speed.

He rushed up to Penn and grabbed his wrist. Then, he knocked Penn's gun away with a knee kick. Finally, he tossed Penn over his shoulder and threw him to the ground.

A dagger appeared in his hand, which he pressed against Penn's neck. However, Penn was laughing, because the sounds of guns being loaded rang behind Philip at this moment.

The people of the underground city who came to watch the show had pulled out their guns and were now pointing them at Philip!