

Love At First Night Chapter 161

Chapter 161

Judith noticed that he was staring at the big bed not far away. She became more and more nervous. That tall and straight figure in front of her blocked the light. She was completely shrouded in his shadow. Frank stared for a while and smiled, "Judy, let's go." The sexy voice was very soft and comforting. Judith relaxed her tense body a lot when hearing "Let's go". She got up and nodded at him indifferently after picking up her handbag. She walked out without speaking. Frank followed her quietly. She seemed nervous and afraid of him. He looked at her with tender affection. This place might have cast a great shadow on her. Following behind her, his lonely and cold figure seemed to soften a lot at this moment. The slender figure walking in front of him was so thin that it attracted people to protect her at all times. His eyes flickered with tender light and were as bright as stars. S. The two of them met Patrick and the other two at the elevator door. "Are you going back?" Gary looked at Frank and asked. Frank said in a low voice indifferently, "I'll drive Judy back. You guys can continue with your own business!" "Mr. Taylor, no need! I can go back by myself." Judith quickly refused, and Adam would come to pick her up. Moreover, she had to buy things as it was still early tonight. Lucas was coming over, and she had to prepare for him in advance! Frank frowned as he looked at her. Did she want Adam to come and pick her up? No way! As long as he is here, Adam would never have a chance to step between them. "I told you I'll drive you back," Frank said toughly in a cold tone. Judith looked at him with a frown. What was wrong with Frank? He should not be interested in her as she had children. Why was he always pestering her? Gary and the other two looked at each other. Frank seemed to be irritable as long as it had something to do with Judith. Gary smiled and eased the atmosphere. "Ms. White, it's not safe at night, and that you are so beautiful. Frank should drive you back!” Frank, on the other hand, seemed to blame him for being meddlesome by glaring at him. Gary of course knew what Frank meant. He gave Patrick and Edwin a meaningful look, and the three of them quickly left. They were inconsiderate if they didn’t leave at this time. “Judy, let’s go!” Frank insisted on driving her back. Judith shook her head. “Mr. Taylor, don’t bother. I can go back myself as the banquet has ended early and I want to go to the supermarket by the way.” “Then I’ll go with you.” Frank did not give Judith the chance to speak and quickly walked forward after saying that. It was useless to stay here since it would take some time before the show started. Judith could do nothing but follow him. Wasn’t he very busy? Why did he have time to go to the supermarket with her? Frank directly pressed the button to the parking lot on the first floor of the basement after entering the elevator. Judith refused again, “Mr. Taylor, you really don’t have to drive me back. It’s early now, I can go back by myself. I’ll take a taxi back by myself. Don’t you still have a dinner party?” She had forgotten to say goodbye to Keven before leaving.

She should send a message to Keven later. Frank frowned at her words. The lights in the elevator were a little dim. His deep eyes fell on her small face full of rejection. His lips curved. “Judy, do you have to reject my good intentions?”

Love At First Night Chapter 162

Chapter 162

“...” Judith wanted to say something but stopped. She did not only want to refuse Frank’s good intentions. Judith also did not want to have any contact with him other than work. Frank was the chief culprit for everything that happened today. Noticing she retreated what she wanted to say, Frank raised his eyes and his abnormally handsome face was gentle. “Judy, I know where there is a supermarket. I will take you there later.” Judith could only remain silent instead of saying anything. She took out her phone and took a look. It was just past nine. She sent a message to Adam and told him not to pick her up. Adam would not be worried since it was early. Adam quickly answered the message as soon as he received it. He asked her to be careful and call him if anything happened. Judith smiled and replied “Yes” with a mischievous emoji. She sent another message to Keven and told him that she had gone back. Frank knew that she was sending messages to Adam. After seeing her sweet smile, he could not help but feel disappointed as she never smiled at him like this. Her smile was so beautiful that it seemed as if the entire world were frozen at that instant. The two of them got into the car without speaking. Frank drove directly to the supermarket near Judith’s apartment. The supermarket was open 24 hours a day. The two entered the supermarket and Frank pulled a cart. Judith looked on and said nothing. This was the first time Judith had come to this supermarket. It was very popular and there were many people. She had always liked to take the children to the supermarket and she felt very happy with them in the supermarket. But today, the person with her was Frank, who she had just met for a few days. She felt a little uncomfortable. Both of them were good in appearance and they would attract a lot of attention wherever they went. “Look, that couple is a perfect match. The man is as handsome as a star.” “Yes! The woman is also very beautiful! It’s really enviable.” The surrounding people were talking about them. Frank was somehow happy when hearing the word couple. However, Judith’s cheeks flushed at their words. How were they like a couple? She glanced at the man beside her and found that he was smiling happily. She was instantly depressed and could not understand what Frank was thinking. What was he happy about? “Judy, what do you want to buy?” They had been here for quite a while, but she had not taken anything.

Judith glanced at him and said unnaturally, “My son is coming over. I want to buy him some daily necessities.” “Well!” Frank was very happy after hearing this. That was great since Eric wanted to live in Mayfield. He could often communicate with Eric to improve their relationship. “Let’s go to the children’s products area,” Frank said while looking up at the signs around him. They soon arrived at the area of daily necessities for children. Judith began to search for the brand that her eldest son liked carefully. The three children had different preferences. Lucas liked things that tasted light and did not like anything with a smell. Judith selected everything carefully including the toothpaste. Frank looked at her all the way with a faint smile. He missed her every day before meeting her. When he saw what she liked to eat, he would stand there and miss her for a long time without moving and was treated as a madman by passers-by. When he heard the familiar voice, he would also turn around to look for it. When meeting a similar face with her, he would also look at it for a long time and be unable to come back to his senses.

Love At First Night Chapter 163

Chapter 163

Frank felt alone all these years before the day Judith suddenly appeared. Judith lit the hope of his life. Once again, he felt life was bright and beautiful. Therefore, this time, he would not stand aside miserably, seeing the other man happily being with Judith. He wanted to tell Judith about his feelings. He hoped they would have a happy ending.

Judith selected a lot of things, from the daily necessities to the food. When it was time to pay, Frank stopped her and swiped his card. Judith signed. Then she checked the receipt and was about to transfer the money to Frank. Frank held the shopping bags in both hands. The sharp-eyed man noted what Judith was doing. He frowned and said, “Judy, Eric and you have the employee benefit. Our company will cover all these expenses. You don't have to transfer the money to me."

Judith glanced at him and thought it was too good to be true. She quickly shook her head, "Mr. Taylor, these are some groceries. The employee benefit written on my contract doesn't cover these expenses." Judith lowered her head and transferred the money to Frank. Frank's face fell when he heard the notification on his phone. On their way back, neither of them said a word. Judith knew that Frank was upset. However, she was a proud and principled woman. She didn't want to be helped when she could handle it by herself. She adhered to this principle since she was a kid. Even though the Cooper family hadn't given her a penny after she went to university, Judith gritted her teeth and still made it.

With the scholarship and the money she earned from her part-time jobs, she lived frugally and scraped up enough money to finish her university studies. In college, while others were busy dating and dressing up, she was busy with work to make money. Judith was one of the most beautiful girls in the university. At that time, many boys were after her. But she was too busy to pay any attention to them. She was always hurried on the road, rushing back and forth between several jobs. However, she did not feel tired at all and always wore her dazzling smile. Frank carried the bags and insisted on dropping Judith home. Judith had no way but to follow him resignedly. She shouted in her mind, "What the hell's wrong with him?" Judith lived in the small apartment that Frank had asked the company to buy back then. It was for the employees of the branch company to live in. Tonight was Frank's first time coming over. He looked at this one-bed flat and frowned. "It is too small," he thought. Judith glanced at Frank, but she could not drive him away "Thank you, Mr. Taylor. Just put the bags on the table first. I'll get you a cup of coffee." Judith did not understand what Frank wanted to do. It was said that one's faults are not written in their foreheads. She should be careful!

“Alright!” Frank nodded. His voice was deep and mellow. _ He put the things on the table and looked at the beauty in the kitchen who was making coffee. He smiled slyly, “Judy, I’m hungry.” Judith was grinding coffee beans. Her hand trembled slightly as she heard Frank. “Why did he say that to me? I’m not his maid. Why did he ask me for food?” Judith thought angrily. She calmed herself down and said to Frank, “Mr. Taylor, what would you like to eat? I can order some takeout for you.” Frank frowned and shook his head. “I don’t like takeout!” Judith was dumbfounded. “Was he asking me to cook for him?”

Love At First Night Chapter 164

Chapter 164

Judith smiled and asked patiently, “Then what would you like to eat, Mr. Taylor?” “Come to my home at midnight and ask me for food? He has thick skin!” thought she angrily. Frank looked at her with a rare charming smile on his handsome face. I’d love to eat whatever you cook.” Judith cursed in her mind, “How about an empty plate?” She caught a glimpse of the bags on the table. “No, those are my favorite food. And Lucas also likes it.” Then she saw the flour bag. She said with a big bright smile, “Alright, I’ll make you ravioli.” It would not take her long even though she needed to knead the dough from the beginning. She didn’t eat much food at the banquet tonight. That was why she bought some cheese. She planned to make ravioli for herself. “Alright!” Frank did not expect that she would agree to make him food. He was indeed hungry. He had never been full at every banquet. Judith brought the coffee to Frank, picked up the flour on the table, and walked back to the kitchen. Suddenly, Judith’s phone rang. It was her mom. Judith smiled happily, “Mom!” “Judy, Lucas bought the ticket for the day after tomorrow. Remember to pick him up at the airport.” “Okay, I’ll be there on time.” “Alright, go home early when the banquet is over.” “Mom, I’m already home. Don’t worry.” “That’s good. Don’t stay up late. I have to go.” The loving voice of her mom cheered Judith up. She quickly kneaded the dough and skillfully cut it into beautiful pieces. Frank stared at her with a happy smile. He wanted to walk over and tell her, “Jodie, I’m Frank, your Frank. Come home with me!” He wanted to spend the rest of their lives together. However, Frank knew that he could not be anxious. Jodie had already grown up, and he should take Jodie back bit by bit. “Gary is right. Now she is Judy, not Jodie who I met in our childhood.” Frank thought and smiled happily. In this world, only Jodie could make him smile so happily. Judith nailed the meal in less than forty minutes. The home-cooked ravioli was the best, tasty and healthy, Judith liked to cook it when she had time. Her mom and three kids also liked it a lot. Judith brought over two plates of ravioli and two kinds of sauce with a tray. Frank hurriedly moved the things off the table to make room.

Judith said with a sense of accomplishment, “Mr. Taylor, try some. I made you spinach ricotta ravioli. I wonder if you like it.” She liked pecorino cheese. But in case Frank didn’t like this flavor, she only made the ricotta ones. Frank looked at the beautiful cuisine and smiled, “Judy, this is the first time I’ve eaten spinach ricotta ravioli.” Home-cooked meals rarely appeared in the banquet. And the top restaurants were not good at the simple but beautiful dishes. He had never tried them. “First time?” Judith was quite surprised. But soon she figured out, “Right. The rich will only eat those fancy food. However, the simple food was my favorite.” “Yes!” Frank nodded as he picked up one, dipped it in sauce, and took a bite. The cheese fragrance was accompanied by the unique taste of spinach. It was really delicious.

Chapter 165

“She is a pretty good cook,” Frank thought. He could see from Judith’s skillful manners that she often cooked. “What did Judy go through over these years?” It was painful for Frank to think about this. He did not look at Judith. Instead, he lowered his head and said with a smile, “Judy, it’s very delicious. This is the first time I’ve had such delicious ravioli. It reminded me of my childhood. For the first time, a very considerate little girl gave me a strawberry lollipop. It was so sweet.” i His clear voice was full of nostalgia. Judith felt that there was an unknown pain in his heart Judith looked up and saw the wistful look on his face. “Is he missing someone she wondered. Judith suddenly remembered Marilyn’s words. “Is he missing the woman he liked?”

Just then, the doorbell rang. Judith looked at the door and thought, “It should be Adam. Only Adam knows that I live here.” Then she glanced at Frank and didn’t say anything, but got up and opened the door. She was right. It was Adam. “Judy, I’ve brought supper for you.” Adam smiled happily and showed her the shrimp and hot wings in his hand. He had a big bright smile. Frank’s face darkened as he heard that it was Adam. “What is Adam doing here so late at night?” Frank forgot he was also an unexpected visitor. Judith smiled, “Adam, it’s so late. Why did you especially bring me supper? I can take care of myself. Don’t worry about me.” Judith got out of the way and let Adam in. “You always settle for some cold, simple snacks. If I don’t take good care of you, the kids will be angry at me.” Adam gave a serious look. He was afraid that she hadn’t eaten anything at the banquet and went to bed hungry. However, when he saw Frank sitting in the living room, the smile on his face froze. Adam’s jaw clenched when he saw the handsome man in Judith’s place. Frank gave Adam a haughty look. The aristocratic man didn’t hide his innate arrogance when he faced a man who wanted to steal his woman. Judith felt the tense atmosphere between the two men. She looked at Adam and explained, “Adam, Mr. Taylor dropped me home. We barely ate anything at the banquet. So I made ravioli. Would you like to have some? I'll make more." Adam was her friend, her big brother. All she wanted now was to take revenge and find her biological parents. She had never thought about falling in love with anybody. She didn't think that Adam saw Frank being here at midnight was a big deal. Adam raised his eyebrows as he stared at her calm and innocent smiling face. A thoughtful expression appeared on his handsome face. "Judy, you silly girl, can't you see that Frank has some feelings for you?" Adam pulled Judith's hand and walked to Frank. With a fake smile, he said politely, "Mr. Taylor, thank you for taking care of my Judy." Adam thought he should not have listened to Judy tonight and should have gone to pick her up directly. "Frank is dangerous. A man who does not even have any scandals, suddenly gets close to Judy? He must have an ulterior motive."

Love At First Night Chapter 166

Chapter 166

Frank's face darkened as he saw Adam holding Judith's hand. His eyes dangerously narrowed. He was horribly calm, and his eyes were filled with anger as he stared hard at their hands. Adam wasn't scared by that terrifying aura. He was also a cold person. Only in front of Judith would he be so gentle. After a long while, Frank looked up at Adam with a mocking smile, "Mr. Haywood, watch your language. Judy is not yours. No gentleman would let a lady walk home alone at the dangerous midnight. So I sent Judy home."

Frank added in his mind, "And Adam is the biggest danger.

He has been by Judy's side and taken care of her." Adam sat down with Judith. He placed the things in his hands on the table. Adam knew what Frank implied. He also smiled politely and said, "I also know that it is not safe for Judy to come back alone at night. In the future, I will not trouble Mr. Taylor. No matter where Judy is, I will pick her up. Adam thought, “Judy is a kind, simple girl. She doesn’t even know that there is a wolf by her side.” Frank darted a frigid stare at Adam. Under the light, his profile was incredibly charming. His dark eyes were sharp as he looked at Adam. There was a dangerous aura around Frank. Although Frank was smiling, his smile was icy cold. There was also a hint of coldness in his voice. “Judy is my employee. It’s my duty to send her back. Mr. Haywood is busy. I can pick Judy up at any time. There’s no need to trouble Mr. Haywood.” Frank sounded reasonable but also a bit strange. Judith felt the tension between the two and looked up at them. She wondered, “What is happening?”

Are they enemies? Why do they fight every time they meet each other?

But Adam didn’t say they had a grudge.”

She frowned and changed the topic, “Well, Adam, what did you buy?” Adam looked at her with an enchanting faint smile, “Judy, of course, I bring our favorites, shrimps, and hot wings. I know what you like most.” Adam emphasized the word “our” and quickly opened the takeout. A spicy smell instantly filled the room. “It looks delicious!” Judith looked at the food in surprise.

She could never get enough shrimps.

Judith took out the disposable gloves and handed them to Frank and Adam. There was still some ravioli left on Frank’s plate. Compared to the takeout that Adam had bought, he preferred ravioli, “Judy, try some! It won’t taste good when it gets cold later.” Adam ignored Frank and said to Judith. “Okay! You, too. You’re busy all day and don’t have much time to take care of yourself.” Judith mumbled as she lowered her head to eat. Adam smiled. “Judy, no matter how busy I am, I will take good care of you!” They chatted happily. Frank felt like he was an outsider, unable to engage with them. Frank lowered his head, and his slightly narrowed eyes reflected a dangerous light. Adam indeed had different kinds of feelings for Judy. The love in Adam's eyes could not be concealed when he faced Judy.

Love At First Night Chapter 167

Chapter 167

However, Frank found that Judy only treated Adam as a friend and a big brother.

Frank was happy about this.

The corners of his lips curled into a faint smile as he glanced coldly at Adam.

He said indifferently, "I didn't know Mr. Haywood likes spicy food so much."

Adam glanced at him and smiled. "It's the best season to enjoy shrimps. Judy and I have always liked spicy food. If Mr. Taylor doesn't like it, why don't you leave first?"

Adam met Frank's deep gaze.

The tension between the two men rose.

The anger in Frank's eyes quickly turned into a gentle smile when Judith looked over.

Frank leaned back slightly, his slender legs gracefully crossed together. His white shirt and slender black trousers highlighted his perfect figure. Frank said, "Mr. Haywood, I also like shrimps. It tastes very good."

“What a joke! If he doesn’t leave, I won’t leave,” thought Frank. He was worried about Judith. A man and a woman alone could easily get feelings for each other. The smile on Adam’s face froze. He said faintly, “Since Mr. Taylor likes it, let’s eat together. But it’s very spicy. Mr. Taylor should have a second thought!” “It’s okay. I like spicy food and I haven’t eaten shrimps and hot wings in a long time.” As Frank spoke, he took the disposable gloves on the side and put them on. He picked up a shrimp covered in red chili powder and could not help but swallow his saliva. It looked very spicy.

He could only handle the slight spice. Frank suddenly had a feeling that he was looking for trouble.

However, since he had already said so, he could only bite the bullet and eat it. The moment his tongue touched the chili, a stimulating sensation filled his entire mouth.

He chewed a little and swallowed it.

But the reality was just so cruel. If he said anything, he would have to endure it no matter how spicy it was. Judith smiled, “I didn’t know Mr. Taylor also likes spicy food.” Judith’s lips were as red as the rose because of the chili. Her beautiful eyes flickered with an indescribable charm. She moved Frank’s heartstrings. Frank forced a smile and said, “The spicy food goes viral online. Many people post their recipes. Everyone loves spicy food.” “Damn it, it was too spicy. I don’t like it at all!” Frank screamed in his mind. He only ate fancy lobsters. Their meat was juicy and delicious. The cook would season the lobster properly and he could calmly enjoy the beautiful taste. This was the first time he had eaten such a thing. Judith nodded with a smile. When she was bored, she would also watch these live shows. Every time she watched people eat, her appetite was also greatly aroused.

The three of them continued to chat. Frank braced himself and ate a few more shrimps. The conversation between him and Adam was also very tense. At ten o'clock, Adam knew that Judith had to go to work and get up early, so he suggested leaving. At this time, Frank also got up. After saying goodbye to Judith, he and Adam left Judith's apartment. Judith did not care about the verbal battle between the two men. After they left, she tidied up the room and went to take a bath, preparing to rest. Frank and Adam went downstairs without a word.

Love At First Night Chapter 168

Chapter 168

Adam was no longer as gentle as before. His face seemed to be filled with anger. Adam suddenly stopped. He looked coldly at Frank and warned, "Mr. Taylor, I hope you can stay away from Judith. She has children and a husband. Mr. Taylor will cause her a lot of trouble." Frank looked at Adam meaningfully. A dangerous glint flashed across his eyes. "Mr. Haywood, you said she has a husband. Who is he?". He got Adam. Adam didn't know who took Judy's virginity and also wanted to know who the bastard was. "I don't have the right to tell you this. Anyway, please stay away from Judy in the future." Adam was aggressive. He could see the affection in Frank's eyes. Frank had a crush on Judy, but Judy could not stand his game of love. Judy was greatly injured. She was vulnerable and on the verge of being back to her miserable state again. Because of anger, Frank's chest was heaving up and down. But he still managed a faint smile on his face and said with a deep voice, "Mr. Haywood, you don't seem to be qualified to say such words to me. "Judy has contributed a lot to our company. As her boss, I should treat her well." After these words, Frank no longer paid any attention to Adam. With one hand in his pocket, he gracefully left under Adam's furious gaze. Frank still had to rush to watch a good show. Adam stood in place, his handsome face full of anger.

He knew Frank was here to steal Judy from him.

Although Judy was already the mother of the three children, she was still stunning. She stayed in good shape t beautiful face. Any man would be attracted by her clear and bright eyes.

As long as a man got close to her, he would know that she was perfect and would fall in love with her.

Adam stood in place for a long time. For some reason, he felt a wave of pain from the bottom of his heart.

Adam stood in place for a long time before he saw that the lights on the fifth floor had been turned off. Then he smiled and left.

As for Frank, he sat in the car and waited until Adam left. At this time, Ann and Steve, who were messing up in the hotel, stopped. Ann felt sore all over. She opened her eyes in a daze. Under the dim light, she suddenly saw that the man in front of her was Steve.

It was like a bolt out of the blue. She rubbed her eyes in disbelief and found that it was indeed Steve's face.

Ann let out an angry and heart-wrenching roar, filled with despair and fear!

The person with her should be Frank, but why did it become Steve?

When Steve heard this annoying voice, he frowned unhappily. "What are you shouting for? Get out if you can't shut up. Don't disturb my sleep."

The voice was filled with ruthlessness. Ann felt despair. She kept her first time for Frank. But why was Steve who took her first time? Ann was in a daze. She couldn't believe what happened.

"No, it can't be like this. I should be dreaming." She closed her eyes and opened them again. Nothing changed.

In an instant, she was in despair.

Steve was a typical playboy, the notorious loser in the upper class. Everything he had was given by the Taylor family. If he wasn't a Taylor, he would have had nothing.

Love At First Night Chapter 169

Chapter 169

However, Frank was different. He was a man of charm. He earned himself a reputation as a tough businessman and everything he had was obtained by his own strength. Ann, as an adopted daughter of the Chaney family, dreamed of marrying Frank, such an outstanding man. But it was Steve who slept with her. All her beautiful dreams were shattered in an instant. "Steve, stop sleeping! Get up! What's wrong with your arrangement? Why are you here?" Ann cried and shook Steve hard. When Steve heard Ann's voice, he was in a daze. He thought of something and suddenly opened his eyes.

Then he saw Ann, who was crying her heart out. He felt uneasy and got up.

Steve looked down and found himself naked. Ann was the same as him. He was so scared that he was at a loss!

Ann cried and curled up in a tight ball and did not know what to do now.

She felt that her world had collapsed completely.

Steve pursed his thin lips. He glanced at Ann and roared, “Why are you crying? It’s not the first time.” Steve’s voice trailed off. He suddenly caught a glimpse of the blood on the wrinkled white sheets. His heart was full of panic. “You... First time?”

Steve stammered out of panic and looked at Ann helplessly. This time, he had caused great trouble.

He never provoked such a woman.

Ann was also staring at the blood in a daze with her sad eyes. There was strong despair and tears in her eyes. She looked more lovely.

There was a sound.

Someone was knocking on the door. Steve’s heart couldn’t help but beat faster. He was instantly annoyed. He frowned and roared, “What is it?” “Mr. Steve, Mr. Carlo asks you to see him with Miss Chaney.” It was the voice of Andrew Green, Carlo’s secretary. Steve was somewhat and thought, “How did they know?” He sat for a minute to calm himself down. However, he still had no idea. Steve got up to take a bath. When he walked to the bathroom door, he looked back at Ann, who was still sad. Knowing that her heart was on Frank, he was upset and frowned with displeasure. He said in a cold voice, “Put on your clothes and go over in a while.” After that, he entered the bathroom. Half an hour later, Steve and Ann appeared in front of Carlo and the others. Collin, Ann’s father, was also here. Steve and Ann instantly became uneasy. Collin glared at Steve. With years of business experience, his eyes were sharp and now a little fierce. “Steve, how dare you touch my daughter!” Collin’s words comforted Ann a little. Collin was usually cold to her, but tonight, for her sake, he was angry at Steve. She finally felt a trace of warmth. What was going on tonight?

Steve's gaze swept across everyone's faces. When it fell on Carlo's angry face, Steve was scared. He clenched his fists and stammered, "Mr. Chaney, I ... I don't know what's going on."

Love At First Night Chapter 170

Chapter 170

"Are you trying to shirk your responsibility?" Collin looked at Steve coldly and roared angrily, "Or are you trying to ignore the Chaney family? Although Collin did not like Ann, the adopted daughter, she was a member of the Chaney family. In front of outsiders, he wouldn't allow her to be bullied. Collin had always believed that Jodie, his biological daughter, was still alive and would return home one day. As soon as he thought of Jodie, Collin's heart ached as if it was pricked by needles. If Jodie was still there, they would live a happy life. Jodie was lovely and considerate. When Collin went home every day, as long as he saw Jodie's pink face and happy smile, his exhaustion instantly disappeared. Gina heard Collin's and said with a smile, "Mr. Chaney, things have happened. It's too late to blame anyone now. Moreover, Ann was also involved. Let's discuss how to solve this matter." Ann looked at Gina with tears in her eyes. She thought in disbelief, "How could she say that? She was the one who arranged this. But in the end, it turned out to be her son. I really doubted whether she did it on purpose." "Mrs. Taylor, you..." "Ann, I know you have been wronged, but things have happened. We are all adults, and we have to figure out a solution first." Gina interrupted Ann and looked at her with a smile. Gina's gaze was somewhat strange. Ann felt that she suffered a lot, but she could not speak about her sufferings. She felt hatred deep down in her heart. Her entire body was quietly in pain and every cell in her body was bitten. It hurt so much that she curled up slightly. Her beautiful face was blushed. Her brows were furrowed and her hands were clenched tightly. She was a pawn that would be abandoned by the Chaney family at any time. And now, she could only marry Steve. By doing so, at least she was still useful. Seeing that her parents and her two brothers all sat silently, Ann could only fight for herself. She forced a smile and asked gently, "Then Mrs. Taylor, what do you want to do? When I woke up, I found Steve lying next to me. I was also shocked at that time." Hearing that, Gina instantly understood what Ann meant. "Ann wants to marry Steve? But she likes Frank very much and vows that she won't marry anyone except Frank! No matter what, she was not the biological daughter of the Chaney family and will be given up at any time. For Steve, marrying her won't be of much use. Now, as long as Ann says that she does not want to marry Steve and we give her some compensation, the matter will be settled." "Mrs. Taylor, what are you going to do? Their affairs are playing on the big screen. Now, all the people in Mayfield know it. You will not try to be perfunctory, will you?" Marilyn, who had been silent all this time, suddenly spoke. Ann and Steve were shocked. "How did all the people in Mayfield know?" Ann was glad in her heart that her decision was right. Gina was not easy to deal with, and Ann was the same. A flawless plan was carried out like this... Ann couldn't help but put on a strange and evil smile. It made Gina's heart tremble.
