

First Night 326 – 335

Chapter 326

Judith and Frank went downstairs without saying a word, but Frank enjoyed the quiet time. When they went downstairs, Judith asked, “Frank, you said that the person you were waiting for had come back. Why didn’t you go to her and instead come to me to seek comfort?” Frank looked at her and asked with an evil smile, “Judy, why do you want me to go to her?” He was already doing so. “...” Judith wanted to say something but stopped. She wondered why she mentioned that. She looked at him. He was smiling brightly. His black eyes were charming and flirtatious. If she had been young, she would have definitely been charmed by him. She would. Unfortunately, she was no longer young and pure. “Judy, what is it? Are you not going to continue?” He looked at her in high spirits. He knew what she was thinking. Judith suddenly slipped and fell backward. Frank reacted quickly and supported her. She fell into Frank’s arms. It happened so suddenly that Judith was completely stunned. Looking down, she found there was a piece of banana peel. “Who left it here?” Judith said angrily. Without Frank, she would have fallen down. With Judith in his arms and the faint fragrance greeting his nose, Frank felt his heart skip a beat. His voice was hoarse as he asked, “Judy, are you alright?” He really wanted to hug her like this, it was the first time he had been so close to her. He didn’t want to let her go. Judith realized that she was in Frank’s arms. The tip of his nose brushed past her, and she felt his hot breath. His fragrance was very unique. “Yes, I’m fine.” Judith quickly came out of his arms. She bowed her head, not daring to look at Frank. She was not afraid of Frank, but at the moment, there was a very complicated feeling spreading in her heart. Feeling that his arms were empty, Frank felt upset. He smiled and looked at her. She was pure and lovely. Her pink home clothes made her cuter. Looking at her, he wanted to kiss her. Her slightly open collar revealed her sexy collarbone. It was amazing. Her skin was fair and attractive! Frank was attracted. His limbs seemed to freeze. He didn’t want to leave. The two of them were very close, and Judith could clearly feel Frank’s hot breath. She took a step forward, turned around, and looked up at Frank. She saw that his eyes were dark and deep. There was a deep tenderness in his eyes. He looked completely different from the usual. She blushed as she whispered, “Mr. Taylor, good night.” After saying that, she turned around and went upstairs. Because of this incident, she swallowed back the words she wanted to say. Frank turned around and watched as her figure gradually disappeared. In the distance, someone left quickly. Frank stood downstairs for a long time until the light upstairs dimmed. Then he moved his stiff legs and left step by step. There was a faint smile on his face. Under the illumination of the street lamps, he looked noble and dazzling.

Chapter 327

After her two sons fell asleep, Judith took out another phone and sent a message to Julissa. “A life for a life!” After a few short words were sent, she turned off the phone. Julissa sent a lot of messages, asking who she was and what exactly she wanted to do. She ignored them. She only had one purpose. She wanted to know where she was hit. Julissa would not answer her if she asked now. She waited patiently. Julissa had been feeling uneasy for the past few days. Suddenly, the message notification she had specially set sounded, and she got nervous. Looking at the phone on the white coffee table, she wished she could see through the phone. She grabbed the phone with a panicked expression. When she saw those few words, she instantly became even more flustered. "Who is it? Who knew what happened back then?" Julissa muttered to herself and sat on the sofa in a daze. The next morning, Judith went to work with Eric. As soon as she entered the company, she saw the people pointing at her. Looking at the surrounding gazes, Judith was somewhat puzzled. They were all holding mobile phones in their hands, looking at her while typing and communicating. Judith was stunned. She suddenly realized something. Eric also sensed the same gaze around him. He narrowed his clear eyes slightly. "Ms. White! You seduced Mr. Taylor at night and brought your son along during the day. How shameless!" Sherly's sharp voice sounded as she was gloating. Judith suddenly stopped and looked at Sherly coldly. "Watch your mouth." Sherly was not angry. Instead, he smiled sarcastically. "Ms. White, didn't you read the news? You're in the headlines." When Judith heard this, she took out her phone from her bag. She saw an enlarged picture. It was the moment when Frank held her when she slipped downstairs. Although the photo was not very bright, the faces of her and Frank were clear. The words on it were vulgar and vicious. The comments below were all scolding her for being shameless. She smiled coldly. She didn't expect that someone would go to her house to take photos. She looked at Sherly with a scornful smile. Behind her stood Ann, who was wearing a white dress. At that time, she was quietly standing there and watching the show. Thinking of the conversation between the two of them yesterday, she glanced at Ann strangely. "Sherly, did you do this?" Judith looked at Sherly coldly. "You should take your advice and watch your mouth. You are framing me up." Sherly looked at her fearlessly. "I believe Mr. Taylor will find out who did it soon." Judith smiled, distant and cold. "Mr. Taylor and I are just friends. At that time, I slipped and fell down. He just helped me up. There is clearly a banana peel. "As you know, many media outlets don't dare to report about Mr. Taylor. Today's matter is made up by someone. If it really has something to do with you, what will happen to your family?.. "Sherly, don't mess with me. You can't afford it!"

Chapter 328

Hearing Judith's imposing and threatening words, Sherly couldn't help but clench her fists. She suddenly remembered what happened to the Kent family. She quickly turned around and glanced at Ann who was standing not far away.

Ann gave her a reassuring look, telling her not to be afraid.

As long as she could destroy this woman, no matter what despicable means she used, she would not mind.

With Ann's calm eyes, Sherly became bolder.

She mocked, "Judith, you haven't married Mr. Taylor and you dare say such blunt words. Be careful, or your reputation will be ruined, and your son may not be in the entertainment circle."

"Eric can live a good life in the entertainment circle forever, and your family will soon disappear." A cold voice came from behind Judith, calm and indifferent.

The people around who were discussing quickly left. No one dared to stay and watch the show. Only Ann and Sherly, who were stunned in place, were left.

Judith looked back and saw Frank with one hand in his trouser pocket. He was wearing a handmade white shirt, which was luxurious and dazzling. But his eyes were more than cold.

Hearing Frank's words, Eric turned back and glanced at him. He was very grateful that he had rushed over in time to help his mother out of the trouble.

As Frank approached, the atmosphere suddenly became oppressive. Sherly trembled and almost fell to the ground.

Frank stopped in front of Judith, and along with him came Gary and Edwin.

Judith looked at him indifferently and did not speak.

Meeting that indifferent gaze, Frank frowned.

"Edwin, go investigate and see which media it is. Do you know what to do?" Frank's voice was indifferent as he stared at Judith's face.

"Alright, give me twenty minutes." Edwin's voice was warm as he elegantly walked toward the elevator.

Sherly became somewhat afraid. She did not expect that Frank would really investigate it. In the past, he did not care about such news at all. Ann clenched her fists, her back stiff, and looked at Frank as if she were a statue.

He was different to Judith. Today, she would take a new strand of Judith's hair and re-examine it. Frank looked at Judith and said calmly. "Judy, don't worry. It will pass very soon." Judith nodded. This matter could not be blamed on Frank. If someone wanted to plot against her, they would use anything.

"You go to work first. I will send Eric up."

"No need." Alissa's voice suddenly came from behind Frank. Her tone was slightly cold, and the sound of high heels could be heard. In a tight red skirt, Alissa walked over in an enchanting and charming manner. Gary quickly turned around to look. He suddenly recalled her drunken and charming appearance last night, feeling heartache.

Chapter 329

Last night, she was so drunk that she was almost unconscious. Adam carried her back. Today she woke up early. He couldn't help but admire her hard work. Alissa glared at Frank and said coldly, "I'll take Eric up there. You deal with those rumors. Judy is pure and clean. We can't let those ambitious people secretly ruin her reputation." With that, Alissa stepped forward and whispered into Frank's ear with her sexy lips, "Frank, if you can't protect Judy, then don't get close to her. Otherwise, Judy will die again. At that time, I'll fight you to the death." After Alissa finished speaking, she took a step back and looked at Judith. She smiled charmingly, "Judy, you weren't bullied, right?"

Judith smiled confidently and glanced at her. "Do you think I will be bullied?" "That's true. You have grown up and can protect yourself." Alissa smiled and held Eric's small hand. They walked towards the elevator. When she passed Sherly, she hit her shoulder. She frowned and said angrily, "Are you blind? Don't block the way." Sherly came back to her senses and glared at Alissa angrily. Alissa looked at her with a strange smile and whispered, "You got a plan. Good for you. However, if you want to beat Judy like this, don't dream about it. We'll wait and see." After Alissa finished speaking, she left with Eric. She did not even look at Gary. Looking at Alissa's back, Frank recalled the words that Judy would die again, flustered. He would not let that happen.. Frank looked at Sherly coldly and said calmly, "Gary, inform the personnel department to fire Sherly." "No, Mr. Taylor, what did I do wrong? Why do you fire me?" Sherly was not willing to lose face like this. She looked bravely at Frank. Frank mocked, "Do I need a reason to fire you?" Sherly was stunned. When she looked at Frank, her sexy lips curled into a cruel smile. Seeing that the matter here had been resolved, Judith ignored everyone and walked toward the elevator. When passing by Ann, she glanced at Ann. Ann wanted to prove that she was Judith Cooper and needed a chance. Frank also followed and walked over. As he left, the pressure instantly disappeared. From beginning to end, he did not even look at Ann. When Gary saw this, he shook his head helplessly. He did not dare to go to Frank's elevator to join in the fun. He decided to go later. Frank was going to comfort Judy at the moment. He knew he shouldn't go. Thinking about Patrick's result, he decided to wise up. "Mr. Powell, I beg you, don't fire me." Sherly suddenly tugged at Gary's clothes. Gary looked at her and quickly shook off her hand. A look of disgust flashed in his eyes. He suddenly grinned and said, "Ms. Cooper, it's useless to beg me. I can't make the decision here." Sherly began to act like a spoiled child. Gary felt goosebumps all over his body as he frowned. "Mr. Powell, how about we have dinner together tonight?" Sherly looked at him charmingly. Gary instantly understood what she meant. He took a quick step back and said with a mocking smile, "Ms. Cooper, I have an appointment tonight. You should find someone else to have dinner with."

When Sherly was rejected, her expression was rather awkward as she asked, "Mr. Powell, we are friends. Are you not willing to help me with this?" Gary forced a fake smile, "Ms. Cooper, I want to help you, but you know Mr. Taylor, and everyone in Mayfield knows him. "He is impartial and incorruptible. Once he makes a decision, things will not change. Quickly go to the personnel department, The order will be issued soon." Gary said and left gracefully without looking back. As he turned around, he smiled strangely. Right now, he was standing on Judy's side. Judy was cuter. Looking at Gary's back, Sherly stomped her feet. She used too much force and her feet instantly went numb. She frowned in discomfort. All her relatives and friends knew that she worked in the Taylor Group. They thought she was really amazing because it was very difficult to enter the Taylor Group. Ordinary people didn't have a chance unless they were talented. If she was dismissed now, she would become a laughing stock. She had been used by Ann again. She turned around and glanced at the position where Ann was standing. She found that Ann had already left. She gritted her teeth even harder. "Ann, you ran away after using me. Don't blame me for being ruthless." She said coldly and turned to leave. She took the elevator to the personnel department. In the elevator, Frank looked at the expressionless Judith. He had never been afraid of anyone. But at that moment, he was a little nervous.

"Judy..." "Mr. Taylor, you don't have to explain this matter. But please stay away from me in the future. It doesn't matter if I am injured or not, but I have children. As a mother, I just want to support them. I don't want them to be laughed at." Judith interrupted him. He did not need to explain. It was not his fault. It was the people with ulterior motives who were wrong. When Frank heard that she was going to drive him out of her world, he was instantly anxious, but he remained calm on the surface. He said in a deep voice, "Judy, I'm not trying to explain. I just want to tell you that I will definitely protect you in the future." "Why?" Judith sneered at him. - "..."

"Mr. Taylor, you and I are not related. Why do you protect me?" Judith interrupted him again. She was not capable of everything, but she would do her best. "As long as you don't approach me, it is the best protection for me.” After Judith finished speaking, she did not look at him. When she saw that the elevator had reached the twenty-fifth floor, she confidently and calmly walked out of the elevator. Frank stood coldly in the elevator, his amber eyes filled with affection. She was so confident and calm. In the past few years, he had desperately wanted to see this familiar back. Her every movement was the only beautiful scenery in the world in his eyes. Frank felt both upset and sweet at the moment. He felt sweet because he found her. And he felt upset because he was rejected by her.

Chapter 331

He thought, “Judy, if I can only protect you by staying away from you, then I will do as you wish. However, the moment you are safe, you will always belong to me.” The elevator door was about to close. Frank raised his hand and gently touched the door. The door instantly opened. He looked even colder than before. He looked so overbearing that people couldn’t help but make way for him. He had such an astonishing aura. When he passed by Edwin, Edwin looked at him doubtfully. Edwin looked at that arrogant and noble back, which was much colder than usual.

“It’s strange. Why did he change in an instant?” Edwin muttered to himself.

After Judith returned to the office, she spent all

Not long after she entered the office, Alaina came. She was a new assistant.

Judith had a good impression of her, and they got along quite well.

Judith was happy. She was busy working all day and completely forgot about the matter with Frank.

But when Frank returned to his office, he sat on his desk in a daze. He looked at the French window and narrowed his eyes. No one knew what he was thinking, but his cold aura was obvious. Sherly’s matter quickly spread in the company. Everyone knew that Sherly was fired because of talking about Frank. No one dared to talk about it. For a time, the company was quiet. When Alissa and Eric heard this news, they were very satisfied with what Frank had done.

At the same time, Lucas, who was attacking the network of the Taylor Group, also knew what had happened today and watched those unbearable comments scolding his mother.

He was furious and quickly found the IP address. He checked and found that it was from a very small news agency.

He instantly attacked the news agency with the virus and stared at the computer. There was a cold smile on his face.

At first glance, this cold and ruthless smile was exactly the same as that of Frank. In the Chaney's. Marilyn, dressed in light blue home clothes, sat in the luxurious and dazzling living room. She turned on her phone and saw the news about Frank and Judith. She snorted coldly, "I knew this shameless woman would definitely cause trouble with Frank. Look, it's already on the news now. Frank has never had any scandals." Collin, who was sitting not far away from her, looked up at her and said, "Show me who it is. Frank is always indifferent. I am quite surprised that he has a scandal with a woman." "Is there any use in showing it to you?" Marilyn asked, glaring at him. Collin frowned and said, "I just want to have a look. Does it have anything to do with use?" "Of course. I've already advised Frank not to interact with this shameless woman, but he refused to listen. Look, there is trouble now. Look at how badly they scolded her." Marilyn's face was full of anger. She wished she could teach Judith a lesson. When Collin heard this, he said unhappily, "You are always like this. Why is it always the woman's fault when it comes to a scandal? You can't just judge it by appearance. You have to know the truth. Ann has been talking nonsense in front of you. You have been affected by her."

"You used to be reasonable. How did you become like this?"

Chapter 332

Marilyn frowned in anger. "Collin, what do you think I've become?"

Collin looked at her and smiled coldly, "You love to gossip. Frank is an adult. He knows what he is doing. Why are you worrying about it? "Besides, Ann is about to get engaged to Steve. Do you still want Frank to marry Ann? "Frank had always felt guilty about the matter with Judy, but he was very assertive. He would not lose his life just because he owed Judy."

"What's wrong with Ann? Why doesn't he like her? He even likes a married woman with two children! Is that reasonable?" Marilyn asked aggressively. Anyway, she didn't like Judith. "Ann told me that Judith seduced Frank. I didn't believe it before. Today, I found out Ann was right." Collin glanced at her and smiled. "Alright, I won't argue with you about it. I have another thing to ask you. Jason has been very abnormal these past few days and doesn't really like to talk to you. Tell me, did something happen between you two?" When Marilyn heard this, she frowned slightly. "What happened? Jason is always like that. You know it." Collin narrowed his eyes. She was avoiding his gaze. He placed the financial newspaper in his hand on the table. He picked up a teacup and took a sip. He lowered his head. After a while, he said, "Marilyn, the children have already grown up. Let them make their own decisions about their marriage. Let them walk their own path. We don't need to rely on marriage to make a name for ourselves in the business world. "We should rely on our ability. That's the most important thing." Marilyn suddenly shouted, "What do you know? Do you know how difficult it is to do business now? Now, in Mayfield, Frank can control everything. "Right now, he has developed all sorts of electrical merchants, online platforms, and sales channels. Our family has not truly stabilized yet and is still in the stage of growth. As long as we take one wrong step, we will lose everything." "You are just too concerned about these things. Now that the children have grown up, they have their own future. When we are old, we will bring our grandchildren and enjoy our lives. Isn't that good? "Frank's company is a combination of clothing design, product development, promotion, and sales.

"The elegant and fashionable dress that the company produced can make people confident and honorable. Frank can do it because of his own ability. We are no match for him." Marilyn disliked hearing Collin say such things. "You're just good-for-nothing. If Jason and Aiden had such great abilities, would I have to frown? "What's more, you want to have a grandchild. Look at the two of them. Is anyone married? Each and every one of them makes me worry." The more Marilyn spoke, the angrier she became. She glared at Collin and stopped talking. When Collin saw that she was angry, he stopped talking. Recently, the conversation between them always ended in this way.

The living room became silent again. Collin wanted to read the newspaper, but he suddenly remembered the girl he met that day. The girl was very similar to Judy when she was a child. Coincidentally, the surveillance of the restaurant was broken.

Chapter 333

He glanced outside and stood up. Regardless of whether Marilyn would respond to him, he said, "I'm going out for a while." He walked downstairs. Marilyn's eyes were fixed on his slightly arched back as she wondered, "Was he going out to find Judy again?" She was so angry that she roared, "Collin, I've told you many times that we wouldn't find Judy. Why don't you listen?" Collin paused and did not look back. He kept silent for a while. Then, Collin said firmly, "No, I will definitely get Judy back. I will not give up until the day I die." Marilyn looked at his back and her tears flowed. She had tried to suppress it but she finally burst into tears.

Drops of tears rolled down her clothes. She said in a tearful voice, "Judy, if you are still alive, come back please. I miss you so much that I almost go crazy. Judy..." She cried and fell onto the sofa. She would cry like this once every six months, and when she missed her daughter, she would cry to vent her pain. She was worried that her daughter would live a miserable life. She aged day by day. The girls around her at the same age as her daughter had grown up and got married. She was afraid that she would not be able to see her daughter for the rest of her life. Collin, who was downstairs, heard his wife crying and became more determined to find his daughter. He drove and went to the restaurant where he met Judith. After Marilyn stopped crying, there was a thin layer of sweat on her forehead. She lowered her head and sobbed softly. She looked really sad.

Every time she thought of her daughter, she would cry so hard that she almost blacked out.

In the Taylor's.

Gina, who had not gone to work, was sitting at home. In her slender hands, she held a photo of Frank, Lucas and Judith sitting together. She had looked at this photo for the whole morning. She always felt that something was wrong, but she couldn't pinpoint what it was. Judith had been very busy for five days with work and moving. It seemed that Frank suddenly disappeared from her world. He did not come over to disturb her. Even when she went to his office, they would only talk about work.

Eric's work here came to an end, and he went to Kimshire to continue filming. With Adam's help, she finally moved into the new house she had bought. Moreover, her mother and daughter had also come over today. She was very excited just thinking about it. She had been working hard all day, just to go home early to see her daughter and mother.

On the first floor of the Taylor Group, the bright marble floor clearly reflected a person. There stood a six-year-old little girl with a strawberry headband, wearing a miniskirt and a sleeveless white T-shirt. She looked tall.

Chapter 334

She put on a mischievous smile and walked in another direction when seeing the busy receptionist. Frank and Gary, who had just walked out of the elevator, were also about to leave work. Suddenly Gary saw an interesting little girl. He was shocked when he saw her face. "Frank, Frank, is that Eric or Lucas? How did he become a girl?" Frank frowned and also saw Emily. His pupils narrowed and he became nervous. His black eyes stared unblinkingly at the little girl who was walking toward them and they gradually widened. Her pretty face looked the same as that of Eric and Lucas, but it was more girlish. Emily looked at Frank and smiled, "Hello, are you from the Taylor Group?" Frank was already in a daze. Gary replied with a smile. "Yes, who are you looking for, girl?" he asked excitedly. Emily smiled, "Then could you tell me which elevator Ms. White will take after work?" The smile on Gary's face froze slightly.

He asked in disbelief, "Who are you to Ms. White?" Gary felt his heart tremble. "Of course I'm her daughter!" Emily said with a smile. "What!" Gary was completely shocked. Frank was also shocked by the last sentence and didn't know what to say. Gary looked at the shocked and dazed Frank and found it hard to believe it. So Frank still had a daughter! He had a set of triplets! Gary was shocked and jealous. "Frank, you..." He looked at Frank who was looking at the little girl in front of him tightly and could not say a word. Gary had once thought that Frank had put his in a place only visible to himself. He wouldn't be affected by anything and could even be rude to his father. But now he showed fear and nervousness when seeing his daughter. "Sir..." Not hearing their answer, Emily called out again. Gary pointed at the elevator not far away and said, "You are Ms. White's daughter. So what is your name?" "Thank you, sir. My name is Emily. Bye." With that, Emily walked towards the elevator that Gary pointed out. Gary pulled the dazed Frank to the other side. Frank followed him. But his gaze was on Emily.

Judith once told him that "Staying away from is the best way to protect me." In the past few days, he had tried to suppress his desire to see her. He would only be able to see her once every day when he asked her to personally give her some documents to his office. He watched as his daughter brush past him. On her beautiful little face was a sweet smile. Her every movement showed her composure and confidence, having not a trace of timidity in a strange place. Gary looked at Frank, who was with a pained expression. Frank was a man who made all women flock to him. But at the moment he was helpless and nervous. Gary found that Frank really didn't like women, but he treated Judy very special. The two of them stood there quietly.

However...

Chapter 335

Gary narrowed his eyes slightly and reminded, "Frank, what you did was right. Gina has been inquiring about your relationship with Judy and Eric. Her secretary has been investigating it. "We haven't found Rina yet. So we have to be careful. You also know that Gina won't miss any chance to cause trouble." Since Gary could see that Eric was related to Frank, foxy Gina could also see that. Seeing that Frank was still silent, Gary added, "Frank, hold on. Perhaps if you hold on a little longer, Rina will return to your side. When she returns, you can get started." "I know." Frank suddenly said. He actually had a daughter. How lucky he was! His beloved girl and children were right in front of him, but he could not recognize them. Frank felt particularly vexed at the moment Gradually, employees who got off work came out one after another. Standing at the corner, Frank and Gary could see Emily sitting in the resting chair. Gary suddenly said, "Frank, Judith is out." Frank also saw Judith, who was waving goodbye to Alaina. "Mom!" A crisp voice echoed in the hall. Frank's heart trembled at this. When Judith heard this familiar voice, she suddenly trembled. She was shocked to see her daughter. She now opened her red lips in surprise. She jogged over and asked excitedly, "Emily, when did you come here? How did you come here? Are you alone?" After hearing these questions, Emily instantly shook her head. "Mom, you asked so many questions at once. Which one do you want me to answer first?" Emily winked at her mother mischievously.

Judith couldn't help but laugh and pinch her little nose, "You little witch. So you're here to make fun of me again, aren't you?" "Yes! Mom, now we have online taxis and the subway. It's very convenient. Besides, is it hard to find you? "There is a GPS on my phone. I walked over to pick up you from work. Are you very excited to see me? "Walk?" Judith looked up and down at her daughter, and only then did she see her daughter's clothes. She said unhappily, "Emily, you are only six years old. Can you be normal?" Emily pouted and said angrily, "Mom, no! I don't like princess dresses. This suit is from Alissa. I like it very much. Mom, you control me too much. Now do you want to decide what I can wear? "Mom, I'm almost old enough to go to primary school. Don't worry about this."

Judith was stunned by Emily. Emily could reason with her every time! Now she couldn't even retort it. Emily looked at her mother's expression and reached out her slender little hand to pull Judith's hand, "Mom, don't just stand there. You guys moved to a new house yesterday. So grandma and I will come over today. Grandma said that it would be better to cook at home tonight. She had already bought the food. Now she is waiting for you for dinner. Let's go back quickly. Don't let her wait too long.... "Uncle Adam will also join us. Let's go back quickly." Emily dragged Judith out as she said that. Judith smiled. "Okay, Emily. But don't walk so fast. I'm wearing high heels, so I can't be as fast as you." "I got it. I'm here to pick you up from work, but you keep scolding me." Emily's tone was rather dissatisfied. She was straightforward and did things very quickly, which was somewhat different from Judith. "Did I scold you every time?" Judith looked at her with a dotting smile. With Emily and her mother by her side, Emily felt happy about whatever she did.

13:510 "Wow!" Gary looked enviously at Emily's beautiful little face. "I also want a daughter like this." Frank rolled his eyes at him and teased, "I'm afraid you won't have such good fortune in your life." Gary said angrily, "Frank, you make it sound like you're really something." "But, Gary, am I dreaming? I really do have a daughter." Frank still couldn't believe what he was seeing. Gary suddenly saw the cleaner carrying a basin of water over. He smiled strangely and took the basin. Then surprisingly, the water splashed from Frank's head to his feet. Frank glared at Gary angrily, a storm brewing in his eyes. Gary said fearlessly, "Frank, now you know that you are not dreaming, right?" With that, he ran off. He had to run now! Frank wiped the water off his face and chased after him, "Gary, I'll kill you!"
