

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 130

Everyone was sitting at different corners, so Melinda clumsily picked the dishes and served them. She couldn't manage everything on her own.

Melinda was busy and started to sweat despite the chilly weather.

She stumbled on her feet as she opened the zipper of her coat. Jonas grabbed Melinda's arms and gave her a basket of vegetables and bamboo sticks. He couldn't see her struggle anymore.

"Sit here and prepare the vegetables for making kebabs. They have been washed clean,"

Jonas said as he looked after Melinda's work. Melinda was shocked by Jonas's thoughtfulness.

She grinned happily as it was an easy job. All she had to do was sit down and arrange the vegetables in the skewer.

Jonas served pre-cooked food and cakes as starters while Melinda prepared the grill for barbecue. Nelson and Aron went to the river for fishing.

Queena helped Jonas and Rey arrange everything as they set up a barbecue grill and a temporary stove. Queena started by boiling the water and Melinda finished skewering the vegetables.

She called Jonas to ask what she needed to do next. But he didn't say anything and let her do whatever she wanted.

It was a mellow morning and the cool breeze carried a warmth that instantly lifted Melinda's spirit. By the time dinner was ready, Nelson returned with succulent freshwater fishes.

"Jonas, I saw some flowers on the hillside. Why don't you and Mellie grab them so that we can decorate the table with them. Also, I want to post the pictures of WeChat moments?" Queena said.

Melinda's eyes lit up. She was clumsily sprawled on the grass and Jonas gave her a hand.

She bit her lip and took his hand as he pulled her to her feet.

The flowers in the suburb were swaying in the wind. Melinda carefully picked all the beautiful, bright ones and gave them to Jonas.

The colorful hillside stood out against the somber suburbs as the flowers bloomed during winter.

"These are beautiful. Take it."

Melinda beamed as she gave a bunch of flowers to Jonas. His hands involuntarily reached for the flowers, his eyes fixed on Melinda's beautiful face. The flowers faded in comparison to the bright smile on Melinda's face. Jonas dropped the flowers to the ground as his face became itchy.

"What are you... Jonas, what's the matter?"

Melinda's mouth popped open in shock. She was about to scold Jonas for not holding the flowers properly but she realized that something was wrong. Angry, red rashes formed on Jonas's flawless skin that gradually spread all over his face and arms.

"My body is itching,"

Jonas muttered. He didn't notice the rashes as his eyes were fixed on Melinda. She lunged forward and grabbed Jonas's hand as he was about to scratch his face.

"Stop! Don't scratch it."

to where everyone had assembled looks like an allergy. Let's take him but no one could understand what he hospital,

an eternity as Melinda's mind was swarming with all possibilities of Jonas's condition ranging from fine but Melinda broke into a cold sweat and the blood drained from knew that it was dangerous to scratch the rashes, so he resisted lip as she inspected Jonas's rashes. "Are that Melinda was nervous and mumbled and hugged him

safe distance from Jonas and he was surprised that it could be a contagious disease. He didn't they finally reached the hospital, the doctor quickly assessed Jonas's condition and diagnosed that Jonas was allergic to pollen. Although his condition wasn't serious, the doctor insisted on him staying back until he bring the flowers. Moreover, being a mother, she didn't know what her son was allergic to. She couldn't stop blaming and Melinda were sitting beside the bed. They had informed Nelson about Jonas's condition allergy, Aron remembered that

Aron used Jonas's absence to his advantage, he would be able to reap how long he might have to stay in the hospital, so he asked William to manage Jonas. Can't you just stop worrying about the had been after power and money before. Her son had worked hard to win the right to inheritance but nothing mattered to her anymore. Her family and son were important than anything an

had just called to inform him don't worry. I'll take care of that work was important for Jonas and decided to be at his side and take care of in the hospital in an hour with

VIP ward soon became with a saline drip. He was too exhausted to read the documents and did the necessary research work. Melinda helped him was for are heavy. Can you read it for red and swollen. Melinda's heart word of the document. Even the Melinda took a sip of water to moisten her throat. Jonas would stop Melinda if he had any doubts, or she was a soft knock on the door and was surprised to see Emily. She glared at her had informed Emily that Jonas was in the hospital. So, she had asked her assistant to prepare soup and immediately squeezed herself into the ward. Melinda had that she almost fell. But luckily,

"Jonas!"