

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 152

"I know you won't believe me no matter what I say now. But I can assure you that there is nothing between me and Emily."

Though fully aware of his own weak points, Jonas didn't want to give up so easily. He had to make a guarantee.

How many times had he said that? Jonas could not help but ask himself in reply.

"Jonas, I'm not stupid. I think it's better to get a divorce as soon as possible. It's not good for both of us if we keep on pestering each other like this." Melinda almost laughed out of anger. She had already seen the evidence, how could Jonas say something like that?

It was unknown if she was sad for herself or Emily. The scheming woman tried everything to make a connection with Jonas, but it was denied by Jonas totally.

"Melinda, give me a chance. I can prove it to you." Arrogant as Jonas was, he said that to try to keep her. Except that, he didn't know what he should do and what was right.

"Divorce. If you don't agree, I will see you in court." Seeing that Jonas still didn't say yes, Melinda didn't know what he wanted to do either.

"If these stuff displays in the court, it will not be appropriate for anyone. Can't we just divorce peacefully?"

The identity of Emily, if this evidence was presented in the court, the image she had created for so many years would collapse completely.

And the image that Jonas had established in front of the investors would also disappear. At that time, his position in the company must be no better than others.

However, Melinda didn't care about that. At the worst, she could get some sympathy or mockery.

"I won't agree," said Jonas. He was afraid that Melinda would continue to cling to this issue, so he didn't dare to stay in the bedroom for one more second.

His mind was in a turmoil.

Melinda didn't expect that Jonas would choose to escape, as if she had become a flood beast. This ending was both funny and annoying, but Melinda felt that it was a guilty conscience for Jonas, who was not willing to face the truth.

But the more he didn't want to face it, the more she had to put all these in front of him and let him make decisions.

Looking at the man who had disappeared in the corridor, Melinda went back to the computer table, pulled out the dark USB drive, and then found the previous divorce agreement.

There was no printing tools in Melinda's bedroom and the thing was completely copied. She still went to the study to print. She thought she would meet Jonas there, but she didn't see him.

At this time, Jonas had already gone to the gym to vent his anger.

With the lesson from last time, Melinda specially printed a few more copies, each with her own name signed on them as usual.

In fact, if she wanted, she could easily find out Jonas' seal and put it on them.

There were more than ten divorce agreements neatly placed on the table. It was a little familiar.

he saw this familiar scene. The blue veins on his forehead began to rage again, and then like last away like got Jonas's name out of the blacklist. She called three times, and it was picked up by Melinda. Mr. Jonas is in a this more skillfully than "how are you". His tone and attitude she raised her eyebrows. Hearing that, William was immediately in a with a sullen face,

busy

that his conscience began to hurt. How could boss's sad figure, who was smoking in front of the French go

said loudly. She knew that William was likely to be used by someone, and Jonas

Sure enough, even Jonas was in front of the French window, her, if she want a divorce, just find my lawyer," Jonas said in a cold voice. It never occurred to him that Melinda

William said in a hurry. He really

As the most rigorous to change the topic. In the last round, the lawyer only helped to distribute the property, and the specific matters still needed to another round, the question was again the divorce agreement, Lawyer Xu put forward a lot of opinions. In a word, all kinds of opinions made Melinda feel dizzy.

forced to delay by Jonas. As a result, Melinda became more was next to the periodical office of Kent. Melinda had made an appointment with think you are a while thinking of the love of Jonas to very confused, feeling that it was a result of her own deep thought, and she was not make this decision!" Melinda expressed her attitude. She was absolutely not indifferent to love, but she really didn't know is born to be hesitant about love, but it fear when he came back to A help persuading or trying to retain Melinda to smile, she said in a somewhat desolate tone, "Feelings?

should believe that you are worthy of Jonas's love. Don't doubt each other," old man, but he talked like a was a taboo to any relationship.

being provoked by Emily again and again, the relationship between Melinda and Jonas was almost broken. As a result, their trust in each Emily, from the beginning to the end," Melinda said with a smile. She felt she had he was about to say something to make up, Melinda took a pile of photos out of her bag and slowly told him she went to the still think he those pictures. Thinking that he had