

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 155

News on the Internet was the most efficient. As for the gossip, it was soon passed. In addition, the news was no longer talked about because of the pressure put on the magazines by Jonas.

Only Emily's fans were just talking about this matter.

If their idol was linked to such a wealthy family, they could brag about it for a long time.

After the divorce, Yulia had no connection with Emily. Unexpectedly, she received a call from Emily.

"Let's cooperate again," Emily said directly. It had made it clear to her how important it was to have a person of hers beside Jonas.

"Melinda has left. I think there is nothing to cooperate between us."

"Haven't you read your brother's statement? As long as your brother doesn't marry someone, Melinda can come back again."

When Emily read the declaration of Jonas, she was angry, and then worried, so she wanted to be Jonas's wife as soon as possible.

Yulia began to hesitate. In the beginning, she did not want to contact Emily. After all, if her family knew about this, she would be done.

However, what Emily said reminded her that it was possible that Melinda would come back. After all, this had happened once.

"My brother has been drinking in the TT club these days. That's all I know." Yulia was not stupid and she knew what Emily's purpose was. And now she was very familiar with revealing others' whereabouts.

When Emily got the news she wanted, she quickly got dressed and set out for TT club.

She was also a member of this club, and her friends who worked in it could help her. Soon, Emily got to know on which floor Jonas was in recently.

Today happened to be a cocktail party, the host did not refuse such a big star as Emily, and even gossiped to remind her, "Mr. Jonas is also here today."

A dash of delight flashed through Emily's eyes. She then asked surprisedly, "Is Jonas here?"

With only a few words, it was a coincidence again deliberately. Emily found Jonas at the corner of the party.

Many people around wanted to greet him and talk with him, but they were afraid of the low pressure around him and they all stopped.

"Jonas." Emily naturally sat down next to him. Since Jonas was drinking, he just raised his eyes slightly, as if saying that he knew that she had come.

His indifferent attitude made Emily nervous. Then she plucked up her courage and asked, "Can you give me a chance?"
