

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 164

After sending off the last group of people with Victor, Melinda proposed to leave.

"Let me drive you back." Said Victor, waving the key in his hand. He had drunk a lot tonight, and his face was a little red.

However, Melinda's eyes did not change at all. She still had a smile on her lips. It was the same throughout the night. It did not seem impolite, but it also gave out a sense of alienation.

"For my life, I'd better take a taxi home. You drank a lot tonight. Do you want a designated driver for you?"

Although she didn't drink any wine, she still felt uncomfortable in her stomach and stomach because she drank too much juice. She was so uncomfortable that she could hardly breathe.

If she had stayed here all the time, she would have seen that Victor was drunk.

"Don't worry. My apartment is just around here." With a wave of his hand indifferently, Victor took a step ahead and wobbled. Looking at him with her fluttering eyes, she wondered that he was fine?

Finally, with the persuasion of Melinda's heart and soul, eventually, Edgar found a designated driver, but she chose to take the subway.

It was getting late and there was no rush hour at the subway station. Mo Lian sat in her seat with her eyes down, no one knew what she was thinking.

"Forget it. I can't possibly take down one person in a row." She was shocked when he told her that they could be friends. She had seen too many conflicts behind so-called friends over the years, and she always thought that the so-called feelings of those rich people were worthless.

Although she said so, she couldn't help but frown when she thought of his sexual orientation.

Jonas found that he hadn't contacted Melinda for three days, so he got off work early today and went to her company to meet her.

Her job was a typical case that she worked overtime and came off work late. After waiting outside the company for a while, Jonas walked straight inside.

According to the information he collected, he really know which department did Amelia work in. And because of her, he knew a lot about this company. William and other secretaries had once misunderstood that he was going to purchase this small cultural company.

Although he had been known on the news, he was still mysterious in some people of a city. At this time, he was intercepted by the security guards.

"I'm looking for Melinda from the editing department." It was the first time for him to be treated like this. He frowned. If he were in his usual temperament, the two security guards would certainly come to no good end.

But he knew that Melinda didn't like it, so he tried to explain it to the security guard.

The security obeyed the procedures, but he found many people gathering around Jonas unconsciously. Most of them were young and beautiful women.

looked like a deer with red cheeks. The client, Jonas, sat on the sofa in the lobby of the

He looks like a model on the magazine.

up, how could

to be

who has this handsome man must have a boyfriend. Let's take a look at him from a distance." The rotten girl was doing y'y, in a company must

but because of the serious worked here and few people knew about it. The receptionist only former desk girl controlled her beauty. Among the people she knew, Kent and Leo were to find her, they could just call her directly. With such a doubt in her mind, all the time. Even when there were a few people walking out, he recognized her at blowing on the face. They all covered their hearts with their hands. They were enthralled the hall and saw a group of people gathering there. Those who did not know who came here might think to be some big boss.

"Melinda."

was not spiritual, but a sense of perception. Hearing it, Melinda was so shocked crowd and walked up to her. His clothes were a little wrinkled. When he looked at her, his eyes seemed to are you

notice that she was stopped by come here." Jonas said in a sincere manner. He believed that if he didn't come, she would thought it over. It seemed that there was nothing wrong with the saying, but it was not suitable for them to be together.

I hope you won't come to my company the two was not loud, and no one heard. They only saw that the told the receptionist, only saying everyone in the company knew that Melinda knew that handsome man who often came here. A group of women were tempted.

your friend? Does he have a and the clothes that Jonas had driven, even the small cuffs of his shirt, had been investigated by this group of was really hard to say if he had a ex-wife of the CEO at all. She just hoped that the employees in the company would be enthusiastic about Jonas, dug into, she told them everything she knew, but as for her relationship with Jonas, she said that they were just ordinary friends.

certainly knew that Jonas often went to