

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 166

The people downstairs gave way to Melinda when they saw her leaving.

Melinda was not as gentle as she used to be when she on upstairs. Instead, she was sullen. Although she was not as destructive as Jonas Yama, she looked terrifying.

The two men upstairs looked at each other. Noticing that Victor wanted to laugh, but he pulled the wound at the corner of his mouth. Immediately, he wore a painful expression.

"What happened today is a lesson for you. You'd better stay away from Melinda, or I will teach you a lesson."

Jonas and Victor were cousins, but they didn't love each other.

However, he could sense that they were related in some way. Since he was a little kid, he had heard a lot about 'your cousin, Jonas.'

A typical good child of someone else.

"You have divorced. She has the right to decide who she will marry." Victor was not afraid of death. At this time, he was still provoking Jonas, but at this time, Jonas had paid attention to Melinda, who was walking downstairs.

"Her personnel section will always be my name." Said Jonas, showing off his sovereignty. Ignoring this annoyed man, he walked downstairs quickly. The sound of Dong Dong Dong, followed by a strong momentum appeared in the sight of those who were watching the drama.

So it was a narrow corridor, which was now wide and the restaurant's design was a little messy. Jonas walked quickly towards the door.

Dressed in a beige coat, Melinda's hair was scattered over the two sides of the shoulders, As soon as Jonas saw her, he caught up with her before she walked out of the restaurant.

"Melinda."

Jonas hold her hand and said softly, as if he was afraid to frighten her.

Even though he was still mad at her.

"What's up?" She was still cold to Jonas. The hard words came out of her mouth made him feel even more uncomfortable.

Melinda was really a lady of few words when she talked to him. At this moment, he was a little envious of Victor.

"Didn't I tell you that Victor would do something bad to you? Why are you still with him?" Thinking of what Victor had done to Melinda just now, Jonas frowned and lowered his eyes out of instinct. When he saw the fury on Melinda's face, Jonas realized that he had said something wrong.

"I didn't mean anything else, Melinda. I was just worried that you were used." In a hurry, Jonas explained that what he said was what he really thought, but he was misunderstood by Melinda again.

make use of me?" She finally knew what

But when you hate someone, his words seem to be malicious. You will guess from every aspect that you are right. In fact, most told that Jonas had changed between you to get the point. At the same time, he was a little annoyed with himself. Didn't she think that he was reliable for the just superior and subordinate to him. I am just that she was not deceiving as usual, he felt secretly relieved.

more and more unconfident about Melinda. He began to would fall in love with Victor.

his mind, she would have complaint to him. It was said that a woman would the worst scum in the thinking for a while, it gradually occurred to him that Melinda was still in love with him and she was afraid that he would misunderstand her, because she explained the relationship between her and Victor to him excited. He let go of her

As she struggled, she raised her head was suddenly in such a mess that she had completely forgotten what she but he was strong enough. During these days, he suffered a lot, and he had to use this kiss to vent his anger.

in a

to push him away when soon as she sleeping last night, she wore green makeup and her eyes were extremely frustrated. After all, it was human nature that she would be irritable as long as she engaged in she was very concerned about her own health. She rarely stayed up late, let alone stayed up Victor was a thick skinned man. He went to the company with a wound on his face. Victor told others that he place as if he was quite familiar with Melinda. Seeing that she fell asleep at the table, he took off his coat quickly and chair. While looking at him in confusion, she heard a low laugh coming from beside her. It could be said that he had been disfigured, which sounded creepy.

last night still made her

I didn't mean to underestimate you." Victor winked at him innocently. Melinda wanted so badly to rush to him and shut him were not at the moment. Otherwise, it would be a misunderstanding again.

at this time that Victor finally remembered where they were. He suggested. After thinking for a while, the door and turned on all the lights. Then he picked up two bottles a place and sat down, a little far away from was interrupted by Melinda. Her eyes were firm and a bit dignified that was rarely seen in the past. "I'll pretend that nothing happened yesterday, but