

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 167

Her heart still fluttered with fear of last appointment. She was afraid that it might be someone else she would meet in the appointment.

Her hesitation also awakened Queena. She explained, "last time I was busy and it was not appropriate to cancel your appointment, so I asked Jonas for help. It's absolutely me who comes to see you this time."

"Okay."

Since the Queena had spoken up about this, of course she didn't care about what had happened in the past. Queena was very happy when she saw that. Thinking of Melinda's interest in working, Queena decided to make the appointment at weekend.

"Since you do not go to the clothing shop with me, I feel like I've lost my military counsellor. I'll do some good shopping this time."

After some more small talk, they hung up the phone.

On the weekend, Melinda arrived at the shopping mall according to the address given by Queena. She was choosing clothes. Seeing that Melinda was here, she waved her hands happily. "You're just in time. I don't know how to match myself. I'm not satisfied with just a few suits I picked."

Melinda still felt guilty for making her elders wait for her. Queena solved this embarrassment. Melinda had a good eye for everything. She rearranged them. Queena praised her enormously.

"Young people know how to match well." Queena bought all the clothes selected by Melinda for her. Then they went other stores shopping again. Queena went around and accompanied Melinda to the young women's wear shop.

"Now that you are working outside, you should better dress yourself up. Don't waste your good taste on me." Queena looked gentle, but tough. Melinda didn't object and picked two for herself.

When they paid the bill, Queena was stopped by Melinda with a reason that no one was able to refuse.

"I haven't bought clothes with my own money for a long time. It's a spiritual satisfaction. I think I must be satisfied."

Queena was very casual when buying things. Her harvest was full in such a range. Queena asked people to send the things to the Gu's mansion, and Melinda put them directly in the store.

Lunch was solved in the hotel owned by Soaring Group. After the meal, they two took a rest in the private room, and the waiter left after making them a pot of green tea.

At this time, Melinda finally realized that Queena had something to say to her.

"Honey, now Jonas know he was wrong. I hope you can think about it."

Queena took a sip of green tea. The faint taste of the tea was not bitter, which was just enough at this moment.

"It's quite impressive."

"It seems that is second infusion."

a little bitter, and the second one is just right." Queena didn't know why she and nodded in agreement. Then she said, "all of them are made of the same tea, but I have tasted its finally understood the meaning of Melinda's words. Even if Jonas had changed now, Melinda should have felt persuade her, but Melinda already had an idea.

her to be a person who has just experienced emotional ups and downs.' Queena is upset, but she doesn't blame was the one to blame

so Queena want to try her best to give him a hand.

to ask you for anything else. But can you help me persuade Jonas? He's not doing well recently.

was concerned about Jonas's affairs, so there was silver help you." Melinda could understand her feelings. However, because of this, Melinda would not give a tiny bit of hope took a sip of tea to make her dry lips feel better. Then she stood up and said, "aunt, I have something to do in the afternoon, so I have to direction of the door at the same time.

in the neck of Melinda and said a meeting upstairs and heard that his mother came to to Queena's exclusive box, without giving up the meeting, and this moment, only when they held tightly in the arms would he have a looked at his son's downcast face and walked out of the a little dizzy. Being held so tight push him away, but he was too

It was hard for him to see her now. He didn't know when he would see her again if he let go of her. At this a grudge against to trying to block me?" Her indifferent tone frightened Jonas. She seemed to be angry Jonas started to struggle for it.

die here naturally?" It was not easy for Melinda to speak, and she was almost out of breath. Finally, Jonas realized that he held her too tight put his hand on her back, caressing her softly. As was a little

Jonas's eyes lit up. Melinda scolded herself for being stupid, but she suddenly remembered something. "I'm tired after shopping today, and I need to would do when he tied a tie, so she reminded him in this way at this current situation, Melinda had known some rules, so she said that she needed a rest, hoping that can go to the top suite to have a polite

want to