

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 171

Emily was glad that Jonas had come to assist her, so she called him without hesitation. But there was only a long beep.

"Jonas, do you have time for dinner? I want to thank you for your help." After waiting for a few minutes, there was still no reply from Jonas when she sent a few messages to him through wechat. But she kept sending him several messages continuously.

Looking at the flickering screen of his mobile phone, Jonas's fingers holding the pen increased a lot. William watched, only to feel cold sweat.

Emily was really a stupid girl.

Feeling annoyed, Jonas finally stopped working and sent a message to Emily.

"No, I don't want to be misunderstood by others."

After he replied her message, Jonas handed his phone to William. William had to take over the task with difficulty. If Emily would come back to annoy him again, he could handle it himself.

After receiving the message, Emily was disappointed. She thought that since Jonas would help her, he must still have feelings for her.

The "others", she guessed, must be Melinda. Recently, she had been in a difficult position because of her own affairs, and had no idea of Melinda's recent situation.

Emily was dressed up and restored her usual glamorous appearance. She turned around in the mall and picked out a watch, then she asked the clerk to package it carefully.

With this gift, Emily came to the Soaring Group again. "I know you are busy, so I came here to thank you with the gift I personally picked. You can't refuse it,"

Emily said in a lovely way. Now that she had nothing to worry about, her temperament changed a lot. At least she was not as sullen as before.

"Okay," Jonas answered indifferently. He put the gift aside and decided to give it to William later.

Emily didn't mind. Since Jonas was absent-minded, she kept talking alone. After a while, Emily stood up from her seat, walked behind Jonas, and put a little thing into his suit secretly.

When he was in the office, he often wore shirt and the suit hung behind him.

"I don't want to bother you anymore. I'll go back first," Emily said with a smile. And then she left by herself without need to be seen off. William felt strange when he saw this.

"Miss Bai has left?" William asked doubtfully. He saw that the absent-minded boss looked at him absentmindedly and said, "What? You don't want her to leave?"

William said as he waved his hand. He dispose of it as you like," said Jonas. William took the watch box away, thinking that if there was someone's birthday among his friends in the near future, he from the business trip, Jonas always looked lack of strength, as if he had endless thoughts. But only William knew that the boss was specific, to get

he really felt that his boss was masochistic.

at the first time after work, regardless of whether there until eight or nine o'clock. Today, she was just about to finish the article in her heart. Luckily, her license hiding in a dark corner. When he saw Melinda, he

her. He didn't leave until Melinda went back home and the light in her bedroom that Jonas would peep at Melinda and Emily was sure that it was not a spur of the moment. And every time when Jonas did it, Emily got so angry that she smashed clothes and borrowed a low-key car from someone. Then she followed Jonas to this

the bus's shift information on her mobile phone. These days, she felt that she was followed the darkness, Melinda still noticed there was a bright black car under the tree beside the company. It was a low-key

He must be smoking.

up and saw Melinda standing by the window. She couldn't help but greet

By the way, can I borrow company's car? My car is confined about to take a bus, but since she had changed her mind, her colleague didn't mind. "Race has the key. You can go to register

It was the time for him to get off work, but the cabinet with the car keys was never locked. In a storage room. Piles of things were piled up inside. According took the elevator to the parking lot.

this type of car. She was a little nervous. The speed was as slow as a snail. She made a circle around the company and passed by Jonas's car, only pay much attention to it. She took out her phone and posted a message in the wechat moments. She found a photo that was taken a long time ago from the since I got off work at an early time. I'm satisfied with today's work." The photo was Jonas stared at the floor where Melinda worked with a frown. The lights were all turned off, but she upset to find that downstairs for a long time, started slowly, and the white car was started in an instant. Feeling strange for a moment, Melinda waited until the car left in