

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 191

All the things needed were stored in the computer. After sitting down, she turned on the computer and was ready to copy the data to the USB flash drive for the press conference. However, she found that it was empty.

The computer seemed to have been switched. The files used today were all gone. Even the back-up part was also lost.

Melinda trembled to click the mouse, not giving up searching, but the result was the same.

All the people in the office left the mouse and staggered towards the office and she called Victor. Her panic made people wonder what had happened to her.

"What's wrong with you? The launch event hasn't even started yet." Victor had just arrived at the company. Today he also had to attend the press conference. He was dressed in a black suit, not as casual as usual.

He couldn't help but frown at the sight of Melinda who rushed to him in a hurry.

She was not the kind of rash person. Something must have happened something bad to her when she was nervous at this time. He teased her, trying to make her relaxed.

"The file on my computer isn't there. What should we do? The launch event is about to start." She held him by the arm, as if he was a life-saving straw. Her forehead was covered with cold sweat, and she felt remorseful.

She guessed that it must have something to do with Emily. Emily would not let it go, but she did not prepare for it. She really hated her own carelessness.

Noticing her remorse, he patted her on the back to comfort her. "Don't worry. Tell me more details."

Though she spoke incoherently, her general meaning was expressed. It was normal that the computer broke down for twice, but it went on like this every time, which made people think deeply.

"I... Do you think you are a joke now? " She lowered her hands feebly and stood by with her head down, full of self mockery.

She didn't blame anyone now. She blamed herself for not being strong enough. That was why she was framed so easily.

"That's not like you. Don't worry. I have backup of that document when I found it. Calm down first. We will go to the hotel later."

He didn't expect that Melinda would always lose the manuscript. It really came in handy. Her eyes shone with surprise, and then she kept nodding her head.

She did not return to the Department, but sat in Victor's office to rest. The Secretary poured her a glass of warm water very considerately. With her eyes closed, she tried to calm herself down.
