

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 196

Jonas liked to see Melinda like this, which made him feel particularly funny and adorable.

He didn't care much about being pushed away by Melinda. Instead, he put the finger, which had touched her chin, near his lips. The evil and attractive look on his face had subverted Melinda's understanding of the cold man in front of her.

She even started to suspect that was this person exactly the one she knew?

But her earlobe became red and was about to drip blood as she looked at Jonas movement.

Jonas was satisfied with what he saw.

He resumed his serious manner and began to look through the contract carefully. The contract was drew up by himself. Most of the terms suggested were for the benefits of Melinda, but there were some terms that made her unhappy.

It was a matter of personal interests. But the point was Jonas could offer her such great benefits there. It depended on whether she would like to eat this honey or not.

Being a writer, Melinda expected her designs to be recognized by more people. Her colleagues also hoped that she could win the contract.

But when the investor was Jonas, she felt so strange.

"I have to discuss with the studio about the contract." The teasing expression in Jonas's eyes made Melinda tremble, so she casually found an excuse.

But it didn't matter to Jonas. He supported his head with his hands and looked at Melinda. His cold and sharp eyebrows softened at this time. His eyes were deep, as if they were obsidian, attracting people all the time.

"I remember that my first requirement of cooperation is that you have the decision-making right all the time." Even if the company would suffer losses, they still wanted to get it. After all, the result was the most important.

Jonas was a celebrity. It was hard not to make the TV play a hit.

Hearing this, Melinda was stunned. It was not until now that she had remembered about that condition. She felt somewhat embarrassed. Unconsciously, she talked about the contract with Jonas.

But within three seconds, the topic was changed.

"Mr. Jonas, if you are too busy to talk about this matter with me today, I can go back first." The corners of Melinda's mouth lifted into a smile, and the calmness in her eyes could no longer be maintained.

"It's late. Let's have a meal first and then we can continue our talk." Jonas agreed with what Melinda said, but deliberately misinterpreted her words, saying that it was late, so he took her to the staff canteen for a meal.

He made an excuse that he wanted to finish this business today, but he only had little time, so they had to talk while eating. However, when they were eating, he didn't talk about anything serious, except that he attracted a lot of onlookers.
