

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 202

In the Gu's mansion, Nelson was sitting alone at the table in the main villa, and Gavin had been taking care of him beside him for ten years.

The more crowded the servants around him, the more desolate and lonely Nelson looked now. Looking at the dishes on the table, Nelson didn't eat for a long time.

"Mr Nelson, don't you like the food today? I'll tell the cook to prepare something new."

Gavin saw Nelson put down his chopsticks. His wrinkled face was full of worry. He glanced at the door from time to time.

The young master didn't bring young lady back, but he himself disappeared.

"It's been a few days since we met last time. Why don't he call me? He is getting more and more annoying."

Nelson put down his face. Although he was old, he was shrewd. But the wrinkles were dense, indicating that he was worried.

He hoped that there was some new progress since Jonas did not come back home these days, but a few days passed and it was time to bring her back home.

Nelson was speechless. When Gavin saw it, he was so nervous about his young master. He smiled and said to Nelson, "Maybe it's because the two of them have made up and they are happy now."

"Happy? No matter how excited they are, he should at least give me a piece of news. If he make up with Linda, he should take her back. Isn't it improper staying outside?" Nelson rolled his eyes and became angrier.

Linda was the one whom everyone wanted to go back home and it was improper to hide her outside?

Gavin smiled awkwardly. He knew that he couldn't save young master this time. Every time he spoke for him in front of Nelson, he would risk his life.

Nelson scolded Jonas as he was mad at him. But Jonas was his grandson after all, and he had been worried about him since he did not come back home these days. Nelson could hardly sit at the table. He ran to the couch and dialed the number in Jonas's office.

The staff in the office called William in unison when they received the number from the Gu's mansion.

"Mr. Nelson, what can I do for you?"

William had always been the bridge between Nelson and Jonas, and he was also the one who was familiar with the Gu's mansion in the CEO office, so he respected Nelson more than anyone else.

By now, he was clearer what Nelson called here for.

When he thought of the fact that the boss hadn't shown up for several days, the group of people in the secretarial room were all very busy. They even had to split up their strength to deal with Aron's men.
