

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 207

In his eyes, these celebrities were just the cash cow of his company and Emily was just one of the most valueless ones.

But now, she began to create something for herself.

That was why she was here now.

"Emily, how have you been?" the CEO asked gently. Hearing this, Emily unconsciously touched the goose bumps on her arms. This fake concern was really fake.

Wasn't the news on the Internet enough to prove her "good" life?

But they were all smart people. Sometimes, they needed to talk in this dull way.

"Not bad."

In response, the CEO didn't mind it at all. He poured tea for Emily and Sher in person, and then cut to the chase. "How is the thing about the hero I asked you to ask last time?"

The CEO's words made Emily absent-minded for a while. This period of time, they didn't experience much, but in everyone's heart, they were much older.

Emily almost forgot the time. But when she heard this, she remembered that Jerry had kidnapped her for revenge.

She shook her head heavily and instantly denied it, but she still pretended to look regretful. "He refused. I'm sorry."

The CEO suddenly changed his expression.

He looked at Emily and could not help feeling angry. But Emily was much calmer than them though.

In fact, she was also a little hesitant. She was really hurt by her enemy.

As expected, the CEO took a big turn without any warning.

"I think I have made myself clear last time. It's up to you."

Up to her? She knew that he meant the company would banish her. If it was in the past, Emily would have been panic stricken. But this time, she had changed a lot. She was much calmer.

But beneath the calm exterior, the more undercurrent was changing. Emily was just seeking a chance to revenge.

Sher didn't want to say anything anymore, because she knew it was useless.

full speed on the way to the central hospital. He arrived at the information desk out of instinct and followed the nurse to the door.

at this time, he would have found that he was in the gynecology and obstetrics

admission procedure," the nurse said as Jonas followed her closely, doing but sigh. Why did this healthy man look like a fool? If this Jonas's mind was blank for a long time before he realized that Melinda must be seriously hurt, as she was going to be should take care of her more carefully from now on." The nurse's words made Jonas stand had been at the beginning. Instead, he looked like a fool that had he had an auditory hallucination and stood nurse was obviously used to this kind of father to be. She was also very tolerant to Jonas. She even bowed her head and smiled. It seemed that no matter must keep happy," the nurse said. The reason he heard it right now. Linda was tears rolling down like a madman. In the end, the nurse couldn't bear to you, thank you so

ward, trying to control

For the first time in his life, Jonas thanked the heaven so much mother, who had been dissatisfied with Linda's marriage with him for Linda had been quietly. Her face was a little pale, and her hair was tousled on both hand, he felt cold and became careful.

curiosity. It was flat lost the baby before he knew it. At the same time, Melinda was pretty face, Jonas smiled like a scene that Melinda had a quarrel with his mother because of the child.

he should call his family. Seeing that Melinda was still sleeping soundly, he tiptoed out

Queena's number directly, and it was not picked up until a

It was obvious that she was dissatisfied with Jonas's reluctance to stay at home joyful voice was passed through the phone to Queena's ear. Queena was fiddling with the flowers she had just arranged and heard his happy voice, frowning.

"Mommy."

Are you so happy to worried about nothing.' Queena couldn't help thinking of the tough conversation tone at that moment. Although it hadn't been obvious on his face over the years, there were some

In general, Jonas solved everything didn't know what was good looked faint and asked weakly,