

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 226

Melinda felt stressed even when she was eating because of the accompany of Jonas and his gaze.

"Would you like to eat? the servant prepared too much."

Melinda said helplessly. The servant saw Jonas, specially prepared more food for them, it was not sure that they could eat up all the food.

"Okay."

Jonas sat down beside her, putting food onto her plate and smirking.

He ate slowly, deliberately procrastinating. Melinda had only promised to give him a little more time, or she might ask him to leave later.

"Dear, I haven't protected the baby yet. Let me guard you tonight."

Melinda was sitting on the sofa. The parenting books were placed on the bookshelf next to the sofa, and all of them were commented by Jonas. Sometimes she found it difficult to understand why he still have time to do that even he was so busy every day.

Therefore, Melinda seemed that it's his assistant efforts.

But the words on the cover belonged to Jonas. Every time Jonas talked about babies, he would be straight to the point, which made her think that maybe Jonas could write a diary of developing as a nursing father.

"Don't enter my bedroom."

Melinda's heart was softened, but this was her last line. As long as he could stay, he would be happy. It didn't matter where he would stay.

"Okay, I will stay here and protect you and our baby."

His big palm fell on her lower abdomen, where she began to show her pregnancy gradually. The hotness of his palm made her retreat with some discomfort.

"I'm a little sleepy." Explained Melinda, smoothing her hair. Then she bit her lip, wondering what she was trying to explain.

Jonas stood up from his seat and reached out his hand to hold her. "Let me lead you in. Don't worry. I won't break my promise."

He also felt a little tired. After making sure that Melinda was asleep, he went to the living room. The servant helped him take a quilt and a pillow and put them on the sofa.

Since Jonas was tall, the sofa looked narrow and small when lying on it. The feeling of being unable to stretch was not comfortable, and he slept badly.

But he could not help feeling sweet as long as he thought that it was Melinda who was in the bedroom.

The servant knew what she can do. Seeing that Jonas was at home, she didn't come to disturb him in the early morning and it was the doorbell that woke him up.

In order to protect Melinda, Jonas installed a monitor at the door.

dressed in gray casual clothes, bowing his head to look at the

brought breakfast disappeared. He lowered his head tightly by someone, but he

Melinda just scratching her hair, went to the position of

"Kent, come in please."

to Kent. Jonas looked at Kent with a hint

Kent could be sensible and not to huge gap between hope

him, "I bring you warmth in the early in his hand. Seeing the familiar logo, her eyes lit up.

she was pregnant, her tastes had changed a lot, being weird and be in a long queue." Melinda led Kent to the dining table. Kent put the things on it and found the tableware as he remembered before. But he found that the

so I got

because he had heard their good chat, and was very unhappy about his breakfast, turning a deaf suspicious look. Melinda pointed at Jonas and said, "he came my there must be some misunderstanding. She didn't know smiled and pretended to be careless, "I believe that you know what you are doing and what you and more irritated. He had every reason to live with Melinda, Let's eat together, Kent." Melinda nodded. Although she rarely cooked, she knew had bought breakfast for two people. Since Jonas was here, it would be awkward for the company. I'll go first." Kent was about to lap her on the shoulder, but Hearing that, looked at the two people silently. When Melinda returned to the table, she saw Jonas throwing the

if you don't like it," Melinda said. "No matter prepare you clothes were still he wore yesterday, but his shirt was wrinkled. At this time, he had to
to cover her eyes with her hands, want to eat breakfast from near the college today. Don't toss buy something for him at Jonas murmured to himself. His "Whatever you say."
pulled out a chair and sat down. Due to the slight anger in her heart, she acted a little more violently.
When she accidentally hit her belly, she was petrified in place.
haunted her. Jonas was also scared. He hurriedly went to pull worry. I'll ask auntie to wrap the edges. It will be okay." Said Jonas as he patted on her