

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 235

The dinner was prepared by Kent. The pregnant woman, Melinda, was forbade to enter the kitchen. On the one hand, Vern did not like Kent; on the other hand, he wanted to see if he could take good care of his daughter.

Vern had already known in his heart that he could not persuade Melinda.

The dinner was very rich with light taste, which was suitable for Vern's recovery from serious illness and the pregnant woman like Melinda. But it was a little embarrassing for the three people to eat together.

Melinda thought her father had given up. To her surprise, he started the conversation while eating again.

"Mellie, haven't you contacted Jonas today? When I was sick, he took care of me everyday and learned new recipes for me."

When Vern spoke of Jonas, he didn't forget to take Melinda with him. It was not until he recovered that Kent knew he had come to visit him. Being compared with Jonas, Kent was somewhat embarrassed.

"God knows how busy he is!" Melinda looked carefully at Kent. Seeing that he did not react much, she felt relieved secretly.

"The more capable he is, the more responsible he is. But nothing is more important than his health. He had talked to me casually, how could he be so careless?"

Vern said awkwardly. Every word he said was about Jonas, which made Melinda feel uneasy, not to mention Kent.

"Dad, no talking while eating." Melinda was very depressed. She had thought that after Kent saved his father, his father would not oppose at all, but she didn't expect that it would be like this.

Jonas was a character. Even his father had been won over by him.

"When did you get used to such a manner? Jonas taught you?" At this moment, Vern spoke subconsciously about Jonas. Kent was picking up the food and stopped in place. In fact, he wanted to talk to Vern for several times at the dinner, but he was ignored by him all the time.

Hearing this, Melinda slammed her chopsticks on the table, and the two men turned to her simultaneously.

"Dad, I'm full."

Melinda hadn't eaten anything at all. The delicious food on the table was basically untouched. Her father's face turned stiff. He didn't expect that she would disrespect him so harshly.

He simply put down his chopsticks and looked at the two people. Kent originally wanted to persuade Melinda, but he was directly pulled up from his seat by her forcefully.

"Dad, I feel a little uncomfortable and want to go for a walk."

While saying that, Melinda didn't wait for her father's response and pulled Kent outwards. Both Vern and Kent felt that she was a little angry.

"I'm sorry, Senior," Melinda said to Kent as soon as they left home. She did not miss the discomfort of Kent, but he bore the pain for her.

She didn't deal with the relationship between her father and her senior well.

matter. He may not get used to the change of his son-in-law, but he loves you so much that he will definitely accept your touched her head and comforted her. When Melinda was sad, she was will definitely accept you and agree believe that Kent couldn't do it if Jonas could conquer said, rubbing Melinda's nose. Then he held her hand and walked out. The street lights in this neighborhood were dim

the dinner

can prepare it. I will ask you to order the dishes

I want..." Melinda's voice dissipated at the end of the road. At the same time, Vern walked towards suddenly, leaving him alone. Vern could not help but mutter, "you the children, but the phone, he hesitated for a long time, but they were relatives by marriage, they rarely his father, Leonard, so he called him that since childhood. It was why do you call me today? I heard from Jonas that you had been ill a few days had given to the Mo

a little annoyed. As a younger generation, he had even forgotten these manners. He could only say that he was irritated by the fact that Melinda and Kent were Nelson replied happily. Now he was much better than before, and the relationship between Linda and Jon also became good. What's more, they ached when he thought of everything was all right now.

ask

recently. Every time he met Jonas, Jonas was always in a hurry. He cared about him and didn't talk much about Melinda, so he didn't know much about the two children.

"Everything goes well. I'm pleased to see that

Nelson, are you sure? Why is seemed to have hidden it from everyone. Nelson

"I'll go ask Jonas."

Queena came

"Dad, what's up?"

appointment with several rich ladies. At this time, she was ready to go Jonas come back recently?" asked Nelson. Since Jonas was busy with his work and often went to Melinda's place recently, there was less time for him

it was the last been in Mellie's place these two days. They get along why Nelson asked her this question. Nelson sighed again after hearing it. They were all kept in the now." Kent was not a stranger to Nelson and Queena.

the baby's last name