

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 239

At one glance, Jonas knew the words were written by Melinda. It was a small note with graceful handwriting but not constrained.

"Congratulations, Mr. Jonas. You should deal with the first award for you."

"Ha-ha." Looking at such childish words, Jonas couldn't help laughing. The gratification on his face made him look much softer.

The way he showed up just now had attracted a lot of women's attention, and now they all looked at him.

In an instant, Jonas calmed himself down and looked at the grilled food on the table next to him. He sat at the table indifferently without any embarrassment.

He didn't feel superior to others, even though he was not used to the dining environment here.

But as long as it was given by Melinda, he would accept it all.

Maybe, this was the second test for him. Thinking of this, Jonas felt that the food that Melinda ordered wouldn't be too strange, and it was something that he usually ate, no matter it was salty or spicy, to a point that Jonas could accept.

Melinda always had a good understanding of this sort of detail about Jonas.

Jonas ate slowly. When he had barbecue, people had the feeling that he was in a western restaurant. Jonas ate all of them.

He still wasn't used to eating outside and felt a little uncomfortable in his stomach, but he looked at the stall owner with expectation.

He had eaten them all and believed that the stall owner would tell him that Linda had told him.

"I didn't expect you would like to eat these." The stall owner was surprised to see that Jonas had swallowed all the food on his plate.

He also misunderstood that Jonas liked such stuff.

Jonas made no explanation. He felt a little disappointed. Looking at the stall owner's appearance, he knew it was not a test.

When he returned home, there was not much time to rest. Leaning against the chair, Jonas could not help thinking what kind of test would come to him later.

But it didn't matter. No matter what happened, he would not let Linda down.

Vern had been paying close attention to Melinda's actions these days. Seeing that she had no contact with Kent, he was very gratified, but at the same time, he was a little anxious. He wondered when Melinda would be able to be with Jonas.

As her father, he could not understand why Melinda was so stubborn. But since she had been doted on by Jonas, he could not say much.

Melinda was calm, but Vern thought it was the omen of a storm.

"Jon, how are you getting on with Linda?" Vern dialed Jonas's number again. Recently, he had more contacts with his son-in-law than with Melinda.

Jonas knew that his father-in-law had always been behind him, helping him to chase after Melinda, and he was also touched.

well

were together, he cared about Melinda very much. But he would give Melinda so. He called just to day, understand?" Vern was a stubborn old father.

Linda is testing me," childish, but Jonas had been serious to deal with it, and he had been accustomed relief, he had not made any mistakes when it came to the test, he did it with his

wanted to treat

today, come to have dinner with me,"

The two talked about Melinda for a while before hanging up.

nervous to see Melinda of worries once they had

"Okay,"

Jonas instantly agreed.

up the phone, Vern looked at the often wore loose clothes, so others did not find that she every day. As for her clothing, she trusted Jonas. Because of her nature of working, she was meant to hand, but it was impossible for her to hand the reviewing over called, she was working on the finishing up of the

"Dad, what's wrong?"

fingers. When the sound came to her father, he frowned working? What time stay at home for nourishment. She looked at the computer all day long with radiation. Moreover, it would take her a lot of in all, he didn't think it was a work now. I'm just about to what her father had done recently. He bothered her so much that he looked like an old your company? Is the food okay? You by her father confused

nice canteen, with meat and vegetables and soup.

she went to the

this baby, so she was not used to the feeling wished he could bring some food rich lady. I won't be suddenly appeared in her mind. Melinda swayed her head fiercely.

now, the scene that Jonas treated her like a