

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 242

After taking a bath, Jonas returned to the room. When he entered the room, he found that Melinda was asleep, but there was still half a bed sheet left for him. Touched, he carefully pulled back the quilt and held her in his arms.

She had been waving her hands because of discomfort. Then she mumbled something, clutched his arm and fell asleep again.

It was still early now, so Jonas didn't want to go to bed early. But when he saw Melinda beside him, he could smell her unique fragrance.

This smell was warm in the eyes of Jonas.

He could not help smiling and his eyes became softer.

In the middle of the night, Melinda woke up. She was a little sweaty and sticky. As soon as she made any noise, he opened his eyes but couldn't see anything in the darkness. He turned on the bedside lamp.

It seems that she felt uncomfortable. "I'm going to take a shower." she said to herself.

By the time she was refreshed, Jonas was leaning against the head of the bed and reading documents. Feeling hungry, she said innocently, "I'm hungry."

At home, she often prepare herself a bottle of milk, but there was no milk powder. It was really inconvenient for her to stay overnight.

"What do you want to eat? I'll buy it for you."

It occurred to him that the doctor had said that pregnant women were often woke up by being hungry at midnight, so there might be something special with the food they ate. But he must understand, because the blame made that she was like a child at that time.

"Will it be troublesome?" Melinda said while twisting her fingers. It was so exhausting at midnight that she was distracted.

"I want to eat candied haw berries."

"You're not afraid of sour teeth, nor can you fill your stomach with it. It's just a snack." Jonas didn't refuse her. Since she was hungry, she would like some fruit food.

After sugarcoated haws, she may want to eat more.

Melinda said several types of foods, which were in different regions of A City. At this time, it was difficult to buy one of them.

But, in the end, she added, "I think dad also has noodles. I'm going to cook noodles."

Even so, she was still greedy for those delicious food.

"Waiting for me."

He left the bedroom and came back with a bag of snacks, which were what pregnant women could eat. He bought these snacks from the supermarket today and left them in the car.

also asked some people such as Ted spirits, and picked out something she was interested in. She said that they were for her stomach, but the more she ate, the more she liked were delivered,

out and opened the door, with that Jonas was like that it was already two o'clock in the morning. She so much, he was very tired if our baby continue to be so noisy at midnight." Jonas rested his head on her belly.

"Of course not."

the baby was going to be the scapegoat fuss.

Jonas. He didn't understand why she insisted on working, but he moment. She had a nice dream all night and. Her biological clock woke her empty. When Melinda finished cleaning, she found that Jonas was preparing breakfast. Vern couldn't help but praise Jonas.

to work. His car was big and famous in the company, and addicted to this kind of life. He sent Melinda to and off work every day. How he wished the whole world knew that Melinda was what she said, Jonas kept company had been popular again. Melinda didn't care mirror. At the beginning, they also thought the owners of these cars were different from other, and the owners of these cars were different. Finally they has nothing to do with you. You can't afford it." Another woman taunted, while she was sipping her lipstick.

woman had delicate features. She was a rare beauty. She also had a sugar daddy, but he was who can afford this car in our company." The woman said with disdain. She thought that Melinda just found a sugar daddy were both envious and jealous of Melinda.

on her sugar daddy weather was rich and burst into laughter. "And she even has two sugar daddies at only flirts with Mr. Cheng, but also

"Exactly."

and began to sort out her things. She touched her face unconsciously and thought, 'I'm not nowadays prefer such women like pretend to at her makeup with the they always felt that their faces looked bad. In other words, they didn't had light make-up, but now, after pregnancy, she seldom came into contact with such things.

clothes, coupled with comfortable flat shoes, with her hair mostly hanging down or being tied up. It seemed that a lot of people believe that she really can't understand Mr. Cheng's taste. There are so many pretty girls in the company, but he fell in love with hands and leave, the door of the compartment of the bathroom was opened. Melinda came out, looking at them coldly.

embarrassed. Melinda's eyes were clear and there