

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 256

The next room was a small conference room. After talking for a long time about the tea ceremony, Elmer and Melinda came to the point.

Her words left a deep impression on Elmer.

He had thought Melinda would be a woman who was eager for quick success, or unsociable like most writers. But it turned out that she was a humorous and elegant woman.

She spoke and behaved in a proper manner, which made people feel comfortable.

It was no wonder that people like Jonas had been chasing after her. But he had heard that there were twists and turns inside the story that people hadn't known.

People engaged in this field were interested in the gossip, including Elmer, but he was a man with sense of propriety, so he wouldn't ask.

"I've read your novel, and you may not know much about this circle. I'll tell you something in a simple way..." Elmer was surprised that Melinda could understand his words even about some professional words.

In fact, after knowing that her work could be made into a TV play, Melinda had a specialized understanding of what would happen in making a TV play.

"Of course, it all depends on our cooperation. Here are the specific contracts. See if you need to do any amendments."

Though Melinda's novel was published on the Internet, it saved a lot of trouble because of the release and the copyright of the novel were all in her hand.

She looked carefully at the contract sent by Elmer, and her brows wrinkled more and more tightly. In fact, this was a good contract, but it went against Melinda's original intention in the beginning.

"Director Lin, I have something important to tell you,"

Melinda said as she closed the contract. Elmer looked at her curiously. 'This contract is pretty good to a newborn writer, ' he thought.

"I want to be involved in the production," Melinda said calmly with a serious expression. She was so dedicated to every piece of work that she didn't want to be changed or screwed.

Now, a lot of novels had been made into soap operas, which had hurt the feelings of a lot of the novel's fans. And the result was greatly different from what they had expected.

Not only the plots were changed, but also many aspects were changed from the original appearance. It was as if the big frame and the name of this character were used to film.

The most important part was that this novel was about the story of Jonas and her. She didn't want to ruin it.

Hearing this, Elmer hesitated. He had wanted to sign this contract because it was for the sake of Jonas and the audiences of the novel itself.

If Melinda, an outsider, was involved in the production, there would inevitably be many divergence or other opinions.

What a person most afraid of was being manipulated by someone who did not understand more than him in this circle.

a lot of business partners who were famous in the industry, and he had even tested the opinions be an accident at this clearly saw Elmer's embarrassed face, but participating in the production. I know that as an outsider, I don't know much about this work, but if it work, but also her life experience, like it adapted by other people.

me some time to think about it. Or you can check again no and think that she was arrogant. But this person was Melinda. According to his understanding just now, discuss this matter with his rich investor, of the contract and both of them put down the files in a reservation. Let's have lunch together," Elmer invited Melinda, and she didn't turn him down. They had lunch together and they talked about other topics. They returned home to wait for called Jonas and told him about the disagreement between them.

done, and it was Melinda who had

Gu, I know you have your own financial support and financial assurance, but Miss Mo is still an outsider of our circle, so she doesn't know the rules of our circle.

a not very popular novel to shoot and invited the writer in. It he did not want Melinda to cause any loss to the team. This play was not like a novel, and it was not completed team

her join it. I'll pay for all the losses and add thirty million for the investment," Jonas said haughtily. As a film and television studio for her really amazing, but he was worried that it would do harm to such achievements until he reached his didn't push him, because he believed gritted his teeth and agreed, "Okay, I'll help Miss Mo to make the worst, he could spend more money in other ways, pay more celebrities and attract more attention by some

to her two such a result, in order not to arouse Melinda's the answer directly, it would make didn't understand why Jonas did this, but he would keep the task in she was worried that he would go back on his word because of hoped that her novel would be made into a TV play and could be under famous writers' novels had been made into TV plays, and few of them had been involved in the process.

condition was