

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 262

Emily was once a very popular actress. Even though she was not exposed often now, a lot of fans were looking forward to her. At this time, she was so embarrassed just for a role, which also made people feel pity for her.

However, as if afraid of her, Elmer did not hear Director Liu's words. She was kicked out in the end.

Director Liu also came out from the box. Looking at Emily's depressed face, he said, "He has a bad temper. He drank some wine today and was totally unreasonable. I'll tell him about it later."

It was just a social formula, so Emily didn't take it seriously. She straightened her clothes and raised her arrogant head.

"I'm leaving now."

'Don't be embarrassed or made others laugh at you, ' Emily warned herself in mind. She had no idea that her attitude was like a joke in others' eyes.

Many people at the party had already saw that. Seeing Emily's face, they all covered their mouths and turned their back to laugh.

In fact, many people were also worried like Melinda. They thought that Emily was a resourceful woman, because she could sneak into a private room when others were in the hall.

Emily was arrogant, but she was still depressed after walking out of the hotel. The director's attitude made her resentful. She lost the game twice because of only one person.

She didn't believe that the director didn't give in. She frustrated because of Jonas, and now because of an old man. The huge insult to Emily's self-esteem was aroused, and it aroused her challenge.

The most important reason was that it was none other than Melinda.

Since both of them had a relationship with Melinda, Jonas ignored her but was full of love for Melinda, while the director looked down upon her. Instead, he turned to Melinda for cooperation.

How could she be defeated by Melinda?

Thinking of this, Emily was in urgent need of an outlet for her anger. A prosperous city always had a very busy street at night.

Emily parked her car outside a bar she often went to.

It was not yet late at midnight, but there were already many people here. The light was very dim, but the bright light that came occasionally made people frown.

The deafening music and the audience applauded vigorously, creating a lively atmosphere.

Emily walked to the bar counter and ordered a glass of wine casually. After she sat down at the bar, a man and a woman came over. The man was tall and the woman was slim, and if she didn't look carefully, she would almost mistake Jerry as Jonas.

Unconsciously, her eyes fell on that woman. She was wearing a set of bright clothes. At this moment, she was leaning against Jerry, smiling sweetly.

with his girlfriend. They had made a reservation like this, Emily was even much angrier. The bartender looked at Emily with wine in his hand and shouted, "Miss, your Purple wine in her glass, slapped it on the bar few more shots as if she had been addicted to it. She felt flushed again and again for a fruit plate. Many girls were everywhere. Everyone drank woman tugged at her clothes with a a while, and then he shook his head and said, "It's too noisy here, I can't Emily's frequent visit, but also his frequent visit. So it was quite familiar, and he could see a few familiar faces around like he had never come here before. Obviously, the woman was not satisfied with his reply. She pouted and sat beside him, but did not ask any more

I need to go to the bathroom." Jerry fed his girlfriend a bit of apple and kissed her on the

of the bar had to pass

was always dressed in luxury clothes,

or in

at first, but later he tried to call her, "Emily

When she raised her head, in a daze, she saw Jonas standing there. He always waited called him in a daze and reached out to hug him, but was pushed away, bumping awkwardly

"Jonas,"

she realized the man in front was low, Jerry felt that he knew Emily well. When she saw him, she must be calling him Jonas.

than that of the stage. The music was lower in forget that I give you everything now. If it weren't for me, you would be the Jerry was an ungrateful man. Recalling he brought a woman be fine, but I live like a poisonous arrogant, but not so down and out like her failure. She just wanted to get everything saw him fighting with a woman, but when she came over, she only saw drunk Emily scolding Gu family have known your existence? You are treating yourself too seriously, and you dare to she said, Jerry's mother would not be involved. Jerry let her speak until his

If you're drunk, just go home. Don't scold others here." The woman pushed Emily away and took Jerry away without looking she would definitely find out that the person drunk too much, Emily felt uncomfortable in her stomach. After scolding Jerry, she got a little relief. She paid and left the same time, Melinda, who was sitting quietly at home, was