

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 273

There were many photos showing on the screen. Melinda did not know the man, but she knows the woman very well.

And these pictures looked very dirty.

"Are you going to post them online?" Looking at the photos on the computer screen, Melinda asked Jonas behind her, who was actually telling her the truth by this.

All the documents were passed to him by Ted. It seemed that this was not a whim.

Jonas didn't answer, but acquiesced in it.

Emily was really hateful. If he did nothing, he would feel sorry for that deceased child.

With a complicated look on her face, Melinda felt disgusted at those pictures. She moved her head away and said, "Forget it. She will be completely ruined if these pictures are exposed."

No matter what, Emily used to be the one in the heart of Jonas. Melinda didn't want him to regret his impulsive behavior later.

"Such a woman should be destroyed." From Jonas's tone, there was no emotion at all. It could be seen that he really hated Emily. How could Melinda not hate her? It was just that now she had no strength to hate anyone.

"No need." Melinda broke herself free from the arms of Jonas. The smile on her face was as gentle as usual, but it was a little bleak for him.

She left the desk and stood up. With a smile on her face, she said to Jonas in a spoiled manner, "Jon, I want to have a rest in my room. Can you accompany me?"

Taking a glance at Jonas and the type setting news in the computer, Melinda closed the web page according to her request.

He led Melinda back to her bedroom. She was indeed sleepy, but before laying down, she didn't forget to say, "Release her."

She could tell from Jonas's chatting records with Ted that Emily was still under Ted's control. No wonder she hadn't come out for such a long time.

If it was in the past, Emily would surely add insult to injury.

After Melinda fell asleep, Jonas thought for a while and had Ted release her. But before he did so, he had warned her again.

It seemed that nothing had happened before. Melinda didn't mention it again, and Jonas didn't mention it either. But sometimes she would read the news on the Internet, which showed that Jonas had finally stopped.

After the miscarriage, Melinda wanted to distract her attention by doing something else, but Queena felt that she had to rest at home for at least a month, so her intention of going back to work was stopped.

out early and come back late. Every day when Melinda woke up, she found that the other part of the bed was cold and when she were only three people at the dinner table. Jonas was busy with his work, while Yulia and Melinda family paid attention to health care when eating, and it was not like the other people who only wanted to going home for dinner today, right?" Unlike Melinda, Nelson felt that his grandson hadn't been home for several days. He hadn't seen but she explained for Jonas, "Recently, he's Jonas insisted on accompanying Melinda, even if he had something urgent to deal with. So there were a lot of things piled up in a

Her son was what he is doing every day," Nelson said angrily, but in fact, he wanted Queena to have was one thing, and the other was Mellie. The smile on her face instantly, but it was not easy to persuade Jonas. When she made the boss was in a meeting, or he was on his way to a meeting to meet a business partner. His schedule was these days, but she was rather drowsy. Leaning against the bedside, she

She slowly opened her eyes, and the time. It was already one o'clock in the morning, and Jonas hadn't on the light when he got home and didn't notice that Melinda was awake. He went to the bathroom to very warm, but she felt that she was in a world in the hospital. Since he was busy with his work now, she felt that she was ignored was a very contradictory state of Jonas came home a little earlier than before, but he only took his work home to deal with it.

seldom here. He had lost a lot of weight, so his clothes were a little loose and his eyes were sunken, but his bright eyes were still charming.

table, Jonas sat next to Melinda, and picked up some food for her as usual. But Melinda didn't utter were also a little surprised to see that. Melinda had did this to was chopsticks and looked at Melinda. With a slight

"What's wrong, Linda?"

to speak, Melinda just ate silently. After not eating much, she put down the chopsticks and left everyone felt that something was wrong.

Melinda did this to Jonas in public, Yulia laughed out loud. Feeling been busy and tired, and when he came back home, he couldn't get any warm words, and he was even ignored by Melinda like this.

sad for her child's death, and Jonas had been busy with work recently. She herself couldn't stand it when he been acting weird recently," suddenly said quietly. Hearing his words, Queena also felt