Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 281

Several people pushed each other and got everything ready quickly in the end. Emily led a group of people out, preparing to throw Melinda into the sea not far away.

Before long, a group of people were frozen when a light was shining over them from not far away.

Seeing that Melinda was still there, Jonas breathed a sigh of relief. However, when he saw her face, he gasped in astonishment.

The one he loved and spoiled in his hands was tortured badly at this moment. When Melinda saw Jonas, she was so excited that tears fell down.

He finally arrived. He didn't let her down.

"Jonas," Melinda whispered. Even though she was in danger at the moment, she felt unprecedentedly relieved because of the appearance of Jonas.

Emily's sharp eyes fell on Melinda as sharp as blades. Hearing her calling Jonas, she pushed her to the ground out of anger.

She stood in front of Melinda and looked at Jonas, but even so, Emily could feel that Jonas's eyes passed her over and fell on Melinda.

"Emily, I told you not to hurt Linda anymore." Finally, Jonas's eyes fell on Emily. But he was never so cold and harsh, which was a kind of cruelty that he wished he could destroy someone.

The thing he regretted the most was that he didn't let Emily be imprisoned all her life, which gave her a chance to hurt Aaron.

"Jonas, don't you think it's too late to talk about it now?" Emily wasn't scared of Jonas at all, and even became more confident because she had the trump card, Melinda.

"I'll give you a chance to release Linda. Otherwise, you won't be able to bear the consequences," Jonas threatened, but Emily remained unmoved.

She knew that her plan today was a failure when she saw Jonas. And she also knew that Jonas was definitely able to give her a hard time.

But she still daydreamed, hoping that Jonas had some feelings for her. After all, it was only a matter of time after Melinda died. But she could be with him forever.

"That's impossible," Emily said, making several people watch closely on Melinda, and the whole person presented a state of vigilance.

It was so weird that only Jonas showed up here.

"Emily, do you think you have any chance to escape when I'm here?" said Jonas, which was what Emily was most worried about.

Since Jonas showed up, there was no way back for her.

"It's not a bad idea to drag Melinda along to die with me. Jonas, you must hate me the most." Emily laughed like a lunatic, and her words were slow but frightening.

as long as he didn't take Melinda in his arms.

but he would never said as she pointed at Melinda. Melinda fell on the sand, surrounded by several black also looked at Jonas vigilantly, and they

he was afraid that if he said anything, he would irritate

"Jonas, say something."

certainly was about to go insane. But she was soon interrupted by a police her mouth and immediately understood that it was true men in black were all excited when they heard the siren. One of them quickly grabbed Melinda and were in a stalemate. Not far away from them, Carlos and his men, who had been watching the scene from far away, could not help but pat on the head of the policeman aside.

Jonas was nervous.

group of idiots! I said don't use the police he started to make the arrangement back. After a while, he finally went back to the her heart. She knew the power of Jonas.

the best hostage that could he was a little scared. If they the hostage is in our hands." Another man who looked calm and composed said in a panic.

you found us," Emily said. Looking at Jonas, a flawless plan, which eventually emerged countless sincerely convinced that she was defeated by Jonas. But chance." Seeing that the police had arrived, Melinda breathed a sigh of relief.

go, then I won't have any looked at Melinda's eyes, as if telling her you will be fine as long as you let the most poisonous vow to Jonas, but Emily was not happy to hear it. Was it a way to tell winked at the men behind her, and told them to watch Melinda afraid of now is that you can't live without a hostage, right? Release Linda and I'll be your hostage." Jonas became more Melinda was shocked by what no idea what hostages were!

back to my car. As long as I get back to a safe place, I will certainly let go of Melinda," said Emily, looking at the group of people who were getting closer and closer not far away.

room and putting herself