

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 283

Since Jonas had a good-looking appearance, Melinda found a mask from her bag, and put it on his face. Finally, with a sigh of relief, she looked at the new style that she bought for Jonas.

He had always been serious and indifferent. His eyes, brows and eyes were cold, and his hair was meticulously combed. Melinda took the opportunity to mess up Jonas' hair.

Wearing a mask and a suit, he looked like a young man who had just graduated from the University. He didn't look that horrible at all.

There was no bus available to the Gu's mansion. When they returned to the apartment, Melinda strode ahead of the road in order to avoid Jonas as if he was the plague, leaving him behind.

However, the man's leg was so long that she couldn't even get rid of him even if she ran. Her careful manner of running with the mask on her face attracted the attention of the security guard, who treated her as a thief.

The security guards knew all the people in this community, but this woman's behavior was too suspicious.

When Melinda was stopped by the security, she looked so innocent. She didn't understand what on earth she had done. Looking at her, Jonas couldn't help smiling.

He took off his mask, walked over to hold Melinda's hand, and said politely to the security guard, "This is my wife."

Melinda's heart, softened, filled with a sudden impulse to cry, as if touched by something. He told others that she was his wife.

The security guard recognized Jonas, but it was the first time that he had seen him so gentle. His admiring eyes instantly fell on Melinda. He felt that all this was due to Melinda.

"Sorry, Mrs. Gu," the security guard said seriously. Melinda waved her hand and ran away with Jonas. The security guard didn't do anything wrong. She was just too surprised.

"Mrs. Gu, you have passed by our home."

All of a sudden, Jonas liked the way he called her. The intimacy between them made him feel comfortable, but Melinda thought she was so humiliated today.

She felt a little relaxed after she returned to the apartment with Jonas. Although she had gone to work, the servant had come to take care of the two people. At this time, dinner was ready.

In order not to arouse the attention of the people around her, she didn't have lunch either. Melinda was already starving to death.

The servant recommended by Queena was the one who often took care of her in the Gu's mansion. Knowing her taste well, the dishes she made were very attractive to Melinda.

"Greedy." Melinda hadn't even changed her clothes yet. She washed her hands and began to eat. Seeing this, Jonas couldn't help teasing her.

Hearing that, Melinda paused and didn't say a word. She was trying to adapt herself to the life without Jonas.

first step should be had been very touched by what Jonas had done threat. She had been too tired on the road of love. Now she did not want to touch it at all. She just fearing that her life would in the car. Won't you go with me?" said Jonas, with the car key in his hand. Melinda earth did you make this dish? I've tried it for countless times, but it still doesn't taste like first, she did not pay attention to Jonas, now she directly talked to others. Standing aside, aimed at the servant. Why did a servant at home begin too scared to say you cook must be more delicious than mine," the servant said hesitantly. She took a look at Jonas and saw that his eyes were not getting better. She felt tired all of a sudden. Even she had praised the young lady, but the young master still my appetite because the frankly. She smiled at Melinda, without saying anything. The servant ignored her, and Melinda felt bored even alone, so she shut her mouth.

to chew slowly. Under to ignore me like returned to her room, Jonas finally followed that something was wrong with her. But now, he Jonas said was the truth, and Melinda didn't think it was wrong at all. She even nodded you know what? I really don't want to be threatened all the time." Looking at Jonas, Melinda said in a sad tone and felt more two children in this relationship, so she didn't understand Melinda's pain, just as Melinda didn't understand his panic at you failed to protect me and our baby." Melinda's calm words stabbed the bedroom for a rest. She had realized helplessness and fear. He knew that it was his own at this stubborn woman, Jonas felt helpless and had situation did not get better at all. The only good thing was Melinda's injuries were wearing a mask these days, as the bus as she liked, but she chose the the couple, but he always supported Melinda, which made Jonas even more helpless.

Linda? Why did

order to make up for her shift, she chose to be independent, Jonas, the CEO of the Soaring Group, became more and more lazy. He decided to take a day off when he knew that Melinda was pay attention to him these days. Thinking of that Melinda once mentioned the amusement