

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 302

Jerry and Emily doubted and used each other and maintained a very strange relationship.

It made Emily more excited to cooperate with Jerry, and she felt that she had been emboldened.

The difference was that before, it was Jerry who begged her to help him, and now, she had to rely on Jerry to do something.

The two had confirmed the cooperation, but did not make any further plans. They were both waiting quietly, but Emily's patience was obviously limited.

She could not wait to do something that would shock and terrify Melinda.

Melinda lost two children in a row, which made her attach huge importance on the child she was carrying now. She had thought that she should have a career before, but now she had gradually learned to let it go.

Instead, she liked staying at home more and more. She went for a walk every evening and then went to the market nearby.

The relationship between Jonas and Alston was still stiff, but the marriage of Jerry and Stacy had not been mentioned recently.

Melinda had asked Jonas, who told her that he didn't know what was going on, but he thought that David would find a way to stop him.

"I just can't get used to the peaceful life these days," Melinda murmured in Jonas's arms, her hand caressing her belly.

Thinking of all the things she had experienced along the way, Melinda felt like she was in a dream. She could not help but rub herself in the arms of Jonas, feeling the real existence of him.

"Everything will be fine."

He would shield her from any wind and rain, protect her from these hurts and darkness.

His Linda should be happy.

The two of them chatted casually. There weren't many topics, but neither of them would stop talking. A sense of warmth filled in their hearts. Although Jonas was very busy, he still spared some time to keep Melinda's company.

He took a look at his watch and found that it was time for the dinner. He was going to take Melinda with him, but considering her health, he finally decided to let her wait for him at home.

At the same time, Melinda was also keeping herself away from the electronic products. She found that there were a lot of novels and poems in her study, which were bought by Jonas for her to read when she felt bored.

On the contrary, his financial and economics books were put in the corner.

Melinda randomly picked up a book she liked, and as soon as she opened the first page, her phone rang.

It was a strange number in A City. Melinda was suspicious, but she still picked it up.

"Hello?" Melinda greeted politely and asked in a low voice. She didn't know who it was.
