

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 306

When Queena heard this, she felt that she saw through her husband.

He was so proud that sometimes people would hate his hypocrisy. However, he acted like a gentleman.

She couldn't believe that she was so blind to fall in love with such a man when she was young.

"If you feel ashamed, have you ever thought about why Jonas moved out?"

Queenena looked at Alston and spoke, with a trace of resentment in her voice. He had never thought of her and their son for so many years.

"It's because he cares about Jerry. They are brothers and will support each other in the future. Why can't they get along well?"

Alston disapproved of what Jonas had done. He had brought a good helper to him, but now Jonas was so ungrateful.

"Do you think Jerry is a good man? You are leading a wolf into your house."

Queenena thought of what Jerry had done to Jonas and Melinda, and was pissed off. What a bad thing it was.

As far as Alston was concerned, it was a good thing to make use of Jerry and David to gain cooperation, and then with the ability of Jonas, the Soaring Group would surely be able to go further and further.

This was the blueprint he had drawn for the Soaring Group, but the real situation was opposite. The conflict in the company was getting more and more profound because of Jerry.

If it weren't for the fact that Jonas was strong enough, the Soaring Group would have been losing money in the last two months.

"Stop talking this topic, now we're talking about you moving out." Obviously, Alston was not stupid. He knew what Jerry was, but he just wanted to make use of him.

"Mellie is pregnant. Both of them are young. I'm afraid that they can't control themselves. With an elder around, they will behave themselves."

Queenena thought it was impossible to reason with Alston, so she spoke out the reason directly. Although Alston was a little selfish, he cared a lot about his child.

He seemed to understand the reason.

"It's inappropriate for two people to live outside. Let them go home." Alston said that, but was greeted with a mockery of Queena. It was simple to let Jonas go back home, because he just needed to let Jerry leave.

But Alston was unwilling to make a concession, so he waited.

Queenena didn't want to stay with him anymore, so she left without saying more. On the contrary, after careful consideration, Alston thought that his family couldn't be divided into two families, which was too improper if it was spread out.

only person who could make his unruly son a little to have a guest room. Jonas was not

Melinda felt helpless. Following behind Jonas, she wiped off it for a while."

doing, and now in Linda's heart, the baby was him when he needed to do anything. While Melinda looked at the little baby with out why he had this child with hated it, he finally gave in. Child was the most important. After all, it was not easy for him and baby to its grandparents, and he would go back

he found that the person might be Jerry, he only felt that the burden on his body

the others well, he had to force himself me at home. I won't overthink about anything. Isn't it said that pregnant women are more

He didn't want Melinda to make jokes about her soon." Pointing at the seat not far from them, Jonas said to Melinda.

He began to that Alston contacted Melinda. She was surprised when she got his call. After all, she had almost me?" Melinda asked in shock, thinking Alston and asked. It seemed to him that it was strange that a jobless vagabond like Melinda didn't have Jonas?" The restriction on her movement was rather serious now, and because of Emily and Jerry, she could not that Alston favored Jerry. As a result, Melinda dared not rashly go was a little hesitant. But when he thought of it, he believed that Jonas should be in the company at this time. So he agreed.

inquiring about the address, Alston drove to the apartment

Alston frowned again. When he arrived at the floor where the apartment was located, he felt a the home more comfortable, Jonas bought two layers of the space, with been well prepared. Opening the door, she gave a new pair of slippers, said that delicate people all like coffee...

voice of Melinda was a little embarrassing. The smile was obvious that Alston didn't care about this. He nodded, took the coffee and put good girl." With his hands crossed, Alston stared at her. Melinda thought to "Jonas is ignorant. You can't mess around like him. I hope and she didn't think that it was thoughtless for Jonas to do this. What they were doing was not mischievous.

their protection for her at

Will he go back after you talk about it?" Alston asked mockingly.