

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 322

After Stacy went out, she headed directly to the place where she had made an appointment with Jerry. She was almost crazy after being locked up at home for a long time.

During the meal, she didn't pay much attention to what David had said. All she wanted to do was to take advantage of this chance to get herself out of the home.

The place she and Jerry made an appointment that was actually their home, but David arranged a driver to her, in order not to be discovered, Stacy specially let the driver get out of the car in a nearby park.

Jerry's men waited nearby to stop the driver.

The plan was perfect, and David believed that Stacy had understood what he said, so he didn't send anyone to follow them, which gave the two men a chance to meet.

"Are you all right?" As soon as Jerry saw Stacy, he asked her with the greatest concern. He seemed to be so depressed that his eyebrows were uncomfortably knitted. Stubble even grew on his chin.

This made Stacy more sure that she was not the only one who had suffered a lot during this time, and she knew Jerry absolutely loved her.

"I'm fine. Take me our home. I don't want to go home now." Stacy said with excitement as she held Jerry's hand. If she returned home, she would still be grounded by her father. This was not what she wanted at all. At this moment, what she wanted most was to stay with Jerry all the time.

"Okay, let's go home." Jerry held Stacy's hand and said in a serious and affectionate tone. Not far away, the driver felt that they didn't look like they were breaking up. He felt strange and was about to go forward, but a group of people suddenly appeared out of nowhere.

These people, one by one, were fierce and vicious. They circled him without saying anything. He could only watch Stacy and Jerry leave.

Today was just weekend, so after receiving a phone call from David, Jonas told the news directly to Melinda. Queena was also there at that time, and when they heard that Jerry was going to break up with Stacy, they all were very happy.

Especially Queena.

"Now, Jerry can't be too arrogant, and everything will return to what it was like before. I will personally cook a dinner to celebrate tonight."

Queena said happily. It was fortunate that Alston was not there at this time, or they would have a quarrel again.

However, after they broke up, Jerry was no longer useful. Queena didn't believe that the Alston would protect Jerry like he did in the past.

"Okay, I'll help Mommy." Melinda was also very happy, but she was relatively reserved, with a child like brilliance on her gentle smile.

Seeing this, Jonas was happy.
