

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 327

The street in the evening was very bleak. With a hand around her waist, she kept walking ahead. She didn't want to go back home and be worried by her father, but where she should go.

Melinda was full of grief, but the sky seemed not to be beautiful. It began to rain, and at last it turned into a heavy rain.

Soaking wet, she walked on the street like a ghost. She didn't know where to go, nor did she know whether it was time to rain.

She walked mechanically, getting more and more tired, increasingly unable to move her feet. Finally, she fell asleep in the pavilion of the park.

She couldn't enjoy a peaceful life in her dream. All these years of strange experience floated through her mind, making her feel that she didn't belong to the world at all. She was just a time traveler in a hurry.

Seeing that Emily was in a coma, Ted and the other people left directly. Not long after they left, Emily immediately came to her sense.

In fact, she was just pretending to pass out just now. Fortunately, these people were deceived.

It could be said that except for acting, Emily's acting skills at any time were the best.

She didn't know where it was. When she was suddenly taken away, she found there was empty. It should be in the suburb.

Emily found her bag nearby and wanted to call someone to pick her up, but she gave up the idea at the moment when she saw her face.

His face was totally a disgrace.

The continuous rain made her mood worse. Emily walked out of the villa with the help of navigation, which made her more angry because of the bad signal in such weather. She didn't know how many wrong roads she had taken halfway.

The whole night was a long night for everyone. When Jonas found that Melinda was gone, the Gu's mansion was in chaos.

From the surveillance video, only the weak and unyielding figure of Melinda could be seen. As she walked out of the Gu mansion step by step, the eyes of Jonas were a little red. Although he did not know the final reason why she did so, he was clear that it must have something to do with him.

Jonas had asked all the people he could use to track down the surveillance video on the way, too. But because of the damage of surveillance video on a part of rain, it was not clear at all.

It took a lot of time to do that.

Meanwhile, in the pavilion, Melinda felt colder and colder all over her body. She couldn't help but hold her arms to warm herself in this simple way.
