

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 337

With her trembling hands, Melinda dialed three times in a row, but no one answered. This had never happened before. She thought of everything that had happened recently.

She thought she was too optimistic. Although there were so many things wrong with Jonas, she did not realize it.

Maybe it was a lie from the very beginning.

She didn't know what was going on with Jonas, and her whole body began to tremble. She was wrapped in a huge panic.

Queena just went to buy something downstairs of the hospital. When she came back, she was shocked to see Melinda like this.

She hurried to her side and held Melinda in her arms, asking worriedly, "Mellie, what's wrong? Do you feel uncomfortable?"

The caregiver went to take something for Melinda. Seeing her like this, she was scared.

Hearing Queena's voice, Melinda tried to calm down. Then she hid her phone under the pillow and looked up at Queena.

Seeing that she didn't look well, Queena was more worried, but Melinda suddenly laughed.

"I just saw a joke and couldn't help laughing too excitedly. I'm fine," said Melinda. In order to convince Queena, she tried to think of a joke in her mind.

However, Queena still felt worried and asked the doctor to check on Melinda. She also said that being too happy was a kind of emotional ups and downs.

Hearing this, Melinda was speechless.

"Mommy, I'm really fine," said Melinda. She told Queena not to worry and held her in her arms like a spoiled child.

At this time, Melinda felt sorry for Queena. If Jonas was really in the police station, how hard she had to endure these days?

She couldn't show how sad she was in front of her.

She rubbed against Queena's chest and said emotionally, "Mommy, you are so kind."

"You naughty girl." Queena was at a loss by Melinda's behavior, but she was still happy. A smile appeared on her face unconsciously.

"Well, Mommy, I will be your considerate daughter from now on. Jonas's too cold for you. I can warm you up."

When Melinda said Jonas, she almost cried, but she held back her tears. Hearing her words, Queena couldn't help smiling.

But she didn't think Melinda was wrong. Her son was too cold to her. Except for a little enthusiasm to Melinda, he was also cold to his mother.

that Jonas cared

her to know

to take good care of yourself to warm me?"

sure that something must have happened to Jonas, but Queena kept what was going on with Jonas, but she didn't want Queena to worry about her, so she

of them kept caring about each other like this, but they seemed to be preoccupied somewhere they couldn't see each other.

She had planned to leave the hospital in two days, but when she knew that something might have happened to Jonas, she became the doctor did the examination, he realized that something was wrong, but Melinda still said calmly words, the doctor didn't feel relieved at all. Instead, he frowned more please come to my office," the doctor said to Queena. Apparently, he was excited. "I want to know my condition. Just talk about it gentle and quiet. Suddenly, like this, Queena was further proved his said Queena. Although her tone was noticed it. She asked the caregiver to look after Melinda, and she followed the doctor

Gu, what happened to Young Mistress today? I believe you can see that there is something wrong with not easy for Melinda to get better, but she was stimulated again. Her condition was repeated, and the hearts of a group of people were like riding the roller coaster.

Queena said uncertainly. In fact, she knew better than anyone else that Melinda was smart and she could not hide something from her

Jonas?" The doctor knew something the office. Finally, the doctor suggested, "If she has begun to suspect this matter, why don't you tell doctor said. What he said unintentionally was indeed the

the situation was optimistic, why did everyone hide it from her?

she left the doctor's office and felt that Melinda had been recuperating for so many days. Knowing these things, she should be the current situation of

in a daze. Her bright eyes had no color, and she scene, Queena only felt a little annoyed, thinking that maybe she Queena came closer and called her several times before she came to feel that her mind was not here and did not know where she had was woolgathering. She came to her senses and stared at her tightly. Queena

now. You don't a sigh of relief. In fact, sometimes hiding it would

to say