

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 349

This was a surprising answer. The agent's face immediately turned pale, but Jessica's face was calm and even a little guilty.

Because she had brought trouble to other people's relationship, Jessica made a decision at the thought of Melinda's pregnancy.

"This woman has gone too far. She even sent someone to follow you. She didn't discipline his husband well and deliberately found fault with others. Such a person deserves it even if she is cheated." The agent was so mean that even Jessica couldn't help but frown.

"I don't think she did anything wrong. It's a mistake. If you say so, it seems that I really have something with Jonas," Jessica said. She was a lively girl, but she would also be angry sometimes.

Upon hearing this, the agent realized that she had said something wrong and immediately shut her mouth. After all, Jessica was not a simple singer. She had her own family background.

"Can you get Melinda's phone number?" Soon, Jessica understood what was on Melinda's mind. She wanted to ask Melinda out and explain everything to her.

"I'm not sure if I can get in touch with her through her e-mail," the agent said. Jessica nodded her head. But she still said that it would be the best if she could find the direct contact information.

It never occurred to Melinda that Jessica would come to her and take the initiative to ask her out. The two of them didn't talk as fiercely as she had expected. The communication between them was very simple and peaceful, as if they were partners, and they were very polite.

Jessica's frankness made Melinda feel a little embarrassed, as if she was speculating others with the utmost malice.

The place where the two met was a private senior club with membership system. Although Melinda didn't have a membership card here, no one would stop her because of her identity.

When Melinda arrived at the appointed room, she was surprised to see Jessica. She had a very different impression of her.

Perhaps it was because of Emily, Melinda didn't have a good impression of the people in the entertainment circle, so she always thought that Jessica might be that kind of bitch.

But at this time, she looked like a very pure girl, and her eyes were even naive.

"Hello, I'm Jessica Shen." At the sight of Melinda, Jessica walked up to her and greeted her. The smile on her face was so warm that the darkness in Melinda's heart seemed to be expelled in an instant.

"Hello, I'm Melinda." Melinda was a little embarrassed. She didn't know how to start a conversation with Jessica, but the latter naturally mentioned what had happened that day to her.

"I went to see a friend the other day and accidentally walked to the wrong place. I didn't expect to be photographed by the media and made wild guesses. I'm sorry for bothering you because of my identity,"

Perhaps she was worried that Melinda wouldn't believe it, she also showed her the chatting records believed what she had seen. From the first time she saw Jessica, she thought she was didn't expect that the meeting between the two people didn't have the slightest smell of gunpowder, and even after they talked, they had a lot of common interests. The friendship between women was so inexplicable. At last, the two people fantastic, and the stone in her heart that there was something between Jonas and Jessica. Jessica was a girl who had a clear distinction between love and that she went out today, so she saw the time, and Jonas was really afraid that Melinda would make blind and disorderly conjectures. When Queenena told him that Melinda was missing, his breath seemed to his arms, Jonas asked nervously. He went to see Jessica today," eyes, Melinda realized what she had done and hugged him that she went to see Jessica. But it seemed that nothing had happened, except that Melinda's attitude become cold. But today, when she mentioned it, she was so calm, even with held is a good girl. I'm

She didn't miss the sadness in Jonas's eyes when he close to

of the identity of Jessica, Jonas reminded Melinda. But at this time, Melinda had a good impression of that Jonas was afraid that she would have Jessica told her that she had something interesting to do in the preparation of the concert and the program. She felt happy every had been alleviated

you have time recently? Last time, I went to the hot spring with my friend and thought most of her activities were in the Gu's mansion. She with you?" It occurred to Melinda that Jessica used to go with her friends. If she was not familiar in a relationship recently. When I see her, I really think that all the women in love are idiots, who are usually so time. At this time, she was really curious about what kind of boyfriend Stacy had found and her whole mind was focused cares him too much." Hearing that, Melinda smiled knowingly.

Hearing what Jessica friend's name?" Melinda suddenly became excited. She had always been gentle, so Jessica was a little surprised to see her like father is David Wang." David was quite famous in