

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 376

Moreover, during this period of time, Melinda had been fully devoted to the preparation of the play. If she was idle all of a sudden, she would definitely be very sad.

Melinda had been pregnant for more than five months, but it seemed that she was about to give birth. At that time, Jonas suspected that there were twins or even triplets in her belly.

On the other hand, Queena was worried that if the baby in Melinda's belly was too big, she would suffer a lot during the delivery.

However, they didn't want to think too much at the moment. They just prepared what they should do. They were carefully worried that something unexpected would happen.

"You just sold the copyright to them. If you have to be responsible for everything, why do you still need the producer and director?" Jonas said angrily.

In his opinion, it was enough for Melinda to sell the copyright and participate in the script, but now she was entangled with the matter of choosing a role. If it went on like this, Jonas was very worried. The production period of a play was very long, and if Melinda followed up everything, it would make herself exhausted.

"I am the author. Only I can understand some contents of the book," said Melinda. Her face darkened. Perhaps she thought that Jonas looked down on her or didn't care much about her book.

This was her painstaking efforts, and Melinda would not allow anyone to destroy it.

"Yes, only you can understand. But are these people the first day to shoot TV series? There are some plots that can't be filmed in TV series. How much do you know about that?"

Jonas began to reason with Melinda seriously, but the more he said, the more resistant she became. Although she agreed with Jonas in her heart, she still felt embarrassed.

She thought she could learn all these. Her wish was very simple: to repay those fans who had been silently supporting her with the best movies and TV plays.

Every time she saw the comments below which said that they didn't want the novel to be turned into TV plays, she felt very uncomfortable.

These readers all had the best image of the protagonist in their hearts. They were serious about understanding this book, so they hoped that the book would not be destroyed because it was changed into a film or a TV play.

Melinda had to admit that many novels could be described as totally unrecognizable after they were turned into TV series.

"At least let me do my job well." After a long silence, Melinda said in a soft tone.

Since she was pregnant, Melinda hadn't put on any makeup, but her skin was well maintained. At this time, her skin was like porcelain, with an attractive luster.

person who had just graduated from high little annoyed and wanted to rub his hair, but when he thought that there were not only two people at this time, he finally put down his arm in discouragement and even if he knelt down. At a bright smile appeared on Melinda's face. She stepped forward and hugged Jonas, and then said in a time to clean himself up. He asked the servants to bring the breakfast to the table and let Melinda have breakfast she arrived at the company, but she didn't dare to refute

At this time, the temperature of the breakfast was home was not only rich and nutritious, but also full of various kinds. Every time Melinda four people standing around to watch her, worrying that there would be something wrong with the from before. The well cut suit made him taller. He was in a black suit with silver dark stripes, but off a sense

wax as usual, revealing his full forehead, there was really no

still couldn't help but feel a little touched at this was much more handsome than those young actors, and most of them wore makeup. Jonas was born to be so a noble aura, which was not something ordinary people

Jonas had to admit that it would make him feel that his face was useful. All the time, he felt that the full. Although she was pregnant, her appetite was not as normal as others, two or three times as before. She ate the same more meals. She usually had three meals, but now she had five or six here by Jonas in person. Everyone in the company had seen like friends, and Melinda was really dedicated. The first thing she saw after arriving the company increase her workload. Although the work on all the sending Melinda to the company, Jonas wanted to go back to his company, but he was still worried about Melinda, although there were many people the way to drive back at the next traffic light.

receptionist wanted to tell Victor, but she was stopped by Jonas. Jonas came here today to see what on earth Melinda was doing in the company. She was so that Melinda was only responsible for choosing the role and making some changes, but when he came here, he knew that she had done more than that. She even actively joined the two hours in the company made Jonas lose his temper, but this