

Forgive My Ex-husband Chapter 381

But Melinda had a deep feeling that when people lived in the world, troubles could not disappear, even children had trouble, let alone them.

Now everything seemed to be getting on track, but Melinda had another worry. She was five months pregnant, and there were some work that she couldn't participate in when she gave birth.

A TV play shooting cycle was not one or two days. Moreover, in order to show the best effect, Melinda thought that all the plots did not need to be shot in a hurry.

As long as it was the best.

As a director, it was easy for her to choose a role. She just needed to look through the materials and let people come to the company to talk if they were suitable.

Victor couldn't help asking what was going on when he saw that Melinda was upset even after the main characters of the play had been decided.

In fact, he was also worried about Melinda since she came to work every day.

Moreover, pregnant women were really sentimental. At this time, everyone was happy, but Melinda was worried.

"I'm afraid I don't have the energy to follow up." Melinda expressed her concern. The novel was a child of her. Turning it into a TV play at this time was like raising a child. It would be a pity for Melinda to miss any growth step.

She was worried that her child would meet a stepmother.

The more Melinda thought about it, the more upset she became. Her thoughts even diverged. The more she thought about it, the more terrible it became.

Hearing this, Victor looked at Melinda's belly and immediately understood her. It was indeed difficult for Melinda to do these things.

It had been Melinda who insisted.

Victor had been following up, so he knew more about what Melinda had done for this. Seeing that she was still worried about this matter, he could not help saying, "Don't worry. I will help you to make this TV play well, and never let the readers down," said Victor. He wanted to comfort Melinda by patting her head, but he also realized the identity of the two people. This was really unreasonable, so he held back.

"These people are all chosen by you. You should be confident in yourself," Victor comforted her, trying to distract her sad attention.

Even if it was a staff member in this play, Melinda had to check in person. She would reference a lot of materials in the design of any scene.

It could be said that she was really very careful. At present, there were very few directors in the circle who could do such a thing.

could only tell others with the simplest action that she thought this play was a children's play. They insisted them." In fact, she was still a little worried. She had seen Felix's acting skills, so she didn't need to worry that she had made a choice, she mood. By the time Melinda came back home from work, she staff to announce the casting on the official Weibo, Melinda began to worry. It had nothing to do with her how others guessed before, but after it was released, it meant that everyone in the crew was she deliberately ignored them and told herself that they

the person in charge of publicity didn't make any statement, he also found someone to got home, her heavy heart finally eased a lot. She was even busier than Jonas. He had already been home, but she was to regret agreeing to let her be when he saw her work work of Melinda, but her son didn't say anything, so she she couldn't help saying, "Haven't you whole play. She just thought that she was just going to choose the casting, so she couldn't understand why Melinda was still busy after she embarrassment, and then sat next to Jonas. Seeing that he Melinda felt wronged. His face softened at once, but he couldn't help worrying, "The weather is getting colder and colder. Don't go home so late in to disappoint them," said Melinda. She just felt that the progress had been official casting was released, many people even asked if the play many people more important than your family?" No matter what Melinda did, Nelson would not say a word, but at this time he could not help but but finally she controlled herself. She also realized her mistake, but once she the future," Melinda said. However, she was obviously in a bad mood at dinner, Jonas and complained, "Why you have turn the novel of Melinda into a TV play, such a series as if he was lifting a stone bad mood, after returning to the bedroom, Melinda directly found clothes to wash up. She always took everything seriously. She felt that she could understand her family's thoughts, and even think of ways.

thought it weren't for the baby in my belly.' When this thought flashed through Melinda's mind as she have such an idea? How sad would the child be if saw a rich expression on Melinda's you unhappy?" Jonas asked as he hugged Melinda. He didn't say anything, which made Melinda feel beside Jonas. The two of them